Chapter 2 Filing and Registration

Section 1 Filing

Art. 19 General requirements

<sup>1</sup> A design is considered to have been filed once an application for registration has been submitted to the Swiss Federal Institute of Intellectual Property (IPI)<sup>6</sup>. The application must contain:

- a. a request for registration;
- b. a representation of the design suitable for reproduction; if the representation does not fulfil this requirement, the IPI will set a time limit within which the applicant must remedy the defect.

<sup>2</sup> The prescribed fee for the first period of protection must also be paid within the time limit set by the IPI.

<sup>3</sup> If a two-dimensional design is filed for which a deferment of publication has been requested under Article 26, a specimen of the design may be filed in lieu of the representation. If design protection is to be maintained beyond expiry of the deferment period, a representation of the design suitable for reproduction must first be submitted to the IPI.

<sup>4</sup> On payment of a fee, a description of the design containing no more than 100 words may be included to explain the representation of the design.

Art. 20 Multiple applications

Art. 21 Effect of filing

Section 2 Priority

Art. 22 Requirements and effects of priority

<sup>1</sup> If a design is duly filed first in another Member State of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property of 20 March 1883<sup>8</sup>, or with effect in such a Member State, the applicant or successor in title may claim the date of first filing for the filing of the same design in Switzerland, provided the filing in Switzerland takes place within six months of the date of first filing.

<sup>2</sup> The first filing in a state that grants reciprocity to Switzerland has the same effect as the first filing in a Member State of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property.

Art. 23 Formal requirements

<sup>2</sup> The right to claim priority is forfeited if the time limits and formal requirements laid down by the Federal Council are not observed.

Section 3 Registration and Renewal of Protection; Electronic Administrative Communication<sup>9</sup>

Art. 24 Registration

<sup>2</sup> The IPI shall dismiss an application for registration if the formal requirements as set out in Article 19 paragraphs 1 and 2 are not fulfilled.

<sup>3</sup> It shall reject an application for registration if it is evident that an absolute ground for refusal in accordance with Article 4 letters a, d or e exists.

<sup>4</sup> All amendments concerning the validity of the design right or the right to the design shall also be entered in the Register. The Federal Council may provide for the registration of further particulars such as disposal restrictions ordered by the courts or compulsory enforcement authorities.

Art. 26 Deferment of the publication

<sup>1</sup> The applicant may request in writing that publication be deferred for up to a maximum of 30 months from the filing or priority date.

<sup>3</sup> The IPI will keep the filed design secret until expiry of the deferment period. Secrecy will be maintained indefinitely if the application is withdrawn before the expiry of the deferment period.

<sup>1</sup> The Federal Council may authorise the IPI to regulate electronic communication in accordance with the general provisions on the administration of federal justice.

<sup>4</sup> The IPI may make its database accessible, particularly online, to third parties; it may demand remuneration for this service.

<sup>5</sup> The IPI's publications may be produced in electronic form; the electronic version, however, is the authoritative version only if the data is published exclusively in electronic form.

Art. 27 Access to the Register and inspection of the files

<sup>1</sup> Any person may inspect the Register, obtain information on its contents and request extracts from it; Article 26 remains reserved.

<sup>2</sup> In addition, any person may inspect the files of a registered design. The Federal Council may restrict the right of inspection only if manufacturing or trade secrets or other overriding interests so require.

<sup>3</sup> Exceptionally, the files may be inspected prior to registration, insofar as the requirements and scope of protection (Art. 2–17) are not affected. The Federal Council shall regulate the details.

Art. 28 Cancellation of the registration

The IPI shall cancel a registration in whole or in part if:

<sup>10</sup> Inserted by Annex No 5 of the Federal Act of 19 Dec. 2003 on Electronic Signatures, in force since 1 Jan. 2005 (AS 2004 5085; BBl 2001 5679).

- b. the registration is not renewed;
- c. the prescribed fees are not paid;
- d. the registration is declared invalid in a final court decision; or
- e. the term of protection under Article 5 has expired.

Art. 29 International filing of an application

Any person who designates Switzerland in an international filing of an industrial design will thereby obtain the protection of this Act as if the filing had taken place in Switzerland. Where the provisions of the Hague Agreement of 6 November 1925<sup>11</sup> Concerning the International Deposit of Industrial Designs are more favourable than the provisions of this Act for the proprietor of the international filing, the provisions of the Agreement will take precedence.

Section 4 Fees

Art. 30

<sup>2</sup> The request must be filed within two months of receiving notice of the expiry of the time limit, and at the latest within six months of expiry of the said time limit. Within this time period, the omitted act must be carried out in full and the fee for further processing paid.

<sup>3</sup> If the IPI accepts the request for further processing, the situation is restored to that which would have resulted from carrying out the act within the time limit.

<sup>4</sup> Further processing is excluded in the case of failure to observe the time limits:

- a. for filing a request for further processing;

<sup>3</sup> If the assignment is ordered, licences or other rights granted to third parties in the intervening period lapse; however, if they have used the design commercially in Switzerland in good faith or have made special preparations to do so, these third parties are entitled to be granted a non-exclusive licence.
