JUDICIARY ACT

I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1

This Act regulates the organisation, competence and jurisdiction of courts, their internal organisation, the conditions for the appointment and removal of judges, jurors and Presidents of the courts as well as their rights and responsibilities, special arrangements regarding the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, the protection of persons and the property of judicial bodies, the conditions and procedures for the appointment of official court interpreters, expert witnesses and appraisers, court and judicial administration, conditions for the employment of officials and employees, confidential official information and the provision of funds for the work of courts.

Article 2

Courts are state organs which exercise judicial power autonomously and independently within the limits of their lawful competences and jurisdiction.

Article 3

Courts shall protect the legal order of the Republic of Croatia as established by the Constitution and acts of legislature, and provide for the uniform application of laws and equal protection before the law.

Courts shall decide cases on the fundamental rights and duties of man and citizen, on the rights and duties of the Republic of Croatia, local self-government and administration, shall pronounce sanctions and other measures to the perpetrators of crimes, misdemeanours and petty offences specified by law, review the legality of individual acts of public administration and persons vested with public authority, decide disputes on personal relations, labour cases, commercial, property and other civil cases, and deliberate on other legal cases which may be provided for by law.

Article 4

Everyone is entitled to have his civic rights and obligations or his criminal liability fairly and publicly argued, within reasonable time, and for these to be decided upon by an independent and impartial court established by law.

Parties may agree to assign legal cases falling within judicial jurisdiction to arbitral tribunals, in accordance with law.

Everyone shall have the privilege to address petitions in respect of the operation of a court or work of a judge, unnecessary delays of procedure where a party has legal interest, or in respect of the professional behaviour of a judge or other judicial employee, and shall have the right to receive an answer.

Article 5

Courts shall administer justice in compliance with the Constitution and acts of the legislature.

Courts shall administer justice in compliance with international treaties which are a part of the legal order of the Republic of Croatia.

Courts shall apply other regulations which are adopted in accordance with the Constitution, an international treaty or a law of the Republic of Croatia.

Article 6

Any interference with the administration of justice, and, particularly, any use of public authority, the media, and, in general, public presentations, in order to interfere with the judicial process and its outcome, is forbidden.

A judicial decision may be reviewed and set aside only by a competent court and with respect to the due process of law.

Everyone in the Republic of Croatia shall respect and comply with a final and enforceable judicial decision.

Article 7

Cases falling within judicial jurisdiction shall in the first instance be decided by an individual judge. A panel of judges shall decide cases in the first instance in cases stipulated by law.

Courts of appeal shall deliberate in panels, and, in cases provided for by law, in Convention.

Jurors shall participate in judicial deliberations in accordance with law.

Article 8

Judges shall be appointed to and removed from their office under the conditions and according to a procedure which guarantees the professional work, independence and dignity of the judiciary.

Article 9

A judge or a juror shall not be held responsible, taken into custody or punished for a given opinion or a vote cast in the course of judicial deliberation.

Judges shall have immunities in accordance with this Act.

A judge shall not be taken into custody, or be subject to criminal procedure, without permission of the High Judiciary Council.

A judge may be taken into custody without permission of the High Judiciary Council, only if he committed a crime for which the law provides imprisonment of five years or more and was apprehended at the scene of the crime which was in progress. The President of the High Judiciary Council shall be informed of such an act.

When the High Judiciary Council is not in session, permission to arrest a judge or to conduct a criminal proceeding against a judge or to make a decision on his/her immunity shall be given by the President of the High Judiciary Council. The decision of the President of the High Judiciary Council must be confirmed by the High Judiciary Council within eight days.

Judges have the privilege not to testify on the content of deliberations or on any other circumstances they must keep as an official secret.

Article 10

Cases shall be assigned to judges and panels according to a schedule which is determined in advance on an annual basis. A case which, according to such a schedule, should be assigned to a particular judge or panel, may be assigned to another judge or a panel only if the original judge or panel is not able to perform their task.

President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia may determine, based on the prior opinion obtained from the Convention of the Supreme Court, that another court having subject matter jurisdiction is to proceed in a certain type of matters, i.e. an individual legal matter, if the court having geographical and subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to the law may not try these cases and reach a decision within a reasonable period, due to a large number of cases pending before this court.

The President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall issue a decree on the cases to be tried by another court having subject matter jurisdiction, bearing in mind that these cases are primarily the ones in which none procedural actions have been undertaken or in which only the initial actions have been undertaken, such as a response to the action, statement of defence and alike.

The Court which gives up a case to another court shall notify thereof in writing the parties or their respective attorneys or representatives.

In case from paragraph 1 of this Article, clients and their proxies are entitled to a compensation of public transportation costs. Attorneys are entitled to compensation of costs for their absence from the office during the travel and compensation of transportation costs set by the Tariff on Attorney's Awards and Compensation of Costs. These costs shall be paid out from the State Budget, if such costs exceed the ones that the clients would have incurred had the procedure taken place before the court of geographical jurisdiction.«

Article 11

In the performance of judicial power, courts shall provide for mutual legal assistance.

State bodies and legal persons shall cooperate with courts in the performance of their judicial power.

Croatian courts shall render legal assistance to foreign courts in accordance with law.

Courts shall render legal assistance to arbitral tribunals if their request for assistance is grounded on law, if the requested action is legal, and if the court has jurisdiction. Legal assistance to foreign courts shall be rendered in accordance with the rules regulating legal assistance to foreign courts.

Article 12

Courts shall have a rubber stamp containing the name of the court, and the name and the coat of arms of the Republic of Croatia.

Court buildings shall bear the name of the court and the coat of arms and shall fly the flag of the Republic of Croatia.

PREVIOUSLY NOS. 4, 5, 6, 8 - DELETED

Article 23

A higher court shall give objections to inferior courts concerning the shortcomings in their decisions which have been detected in the course of deciding on the legal remedy in the second instance review, or in any other way.

Higher courts shall request inferior courts to provide information regarding the application of legislation, problems which arise during trials, problems related to monitoring trials and in analysing judicial practice and other information, and may also directly look into the work of these courts, or arrange common meetings with a view to discussing the aforementioned issues.

A higher court, in exercising the powers referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article, shall not in any way interfere with the independence and freedom of an inferior court to deliver a decision in an individual case.

ARTICLE 24 DELETED

III. INTERNAL ORGANISATION OF COURTS

1. JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION

Article 25

Judicial administration includes providing the conditions for the proper operation of courts, and in particular: the organisation of the internal work of courts, care for the regular and timely operation of courts, the enforcement of criminal sanctions, procedures with persons in custody, the convening and assigning of jurors, procedures regarding permanent judicial assessors, court interpreters and expert witnesses, the certification of documents to be used abroad, dealing with submissions and complaints of parties regarding the operation of courts, specialist work related to the rights and duties of judicial officials and employees, taking care of the professional development of judges, judicial advisers, judicial trainees and other judicial officials or employees, statistics, the financial operations of courts and other activities which may be stipulated by law or by the rules of procedure on the internal operation of courts (hereinafter: Rules of Procedure).

Article 26

The President of a court shall administer it in accordance with the law and Rules of Procedure.

Where the President of a court is absent or is not able to perform his duty, judicial administration shall be the responsibility of a judge specified in a schedule of duties determined on an annual basis.

The President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall, in performing the duties of judicial administration, be assisted by the presidents of the departments of the Court and the Court

Clerk. Presidents of other courts shall be assisted by the presidents of the departments of the respective courts, court clerks or any other official determined by the President of a court.

2. JUDICIAL DEPARTMENTS

Article 27

In courts in which there is more than one panel or more than one individual judge that hears cases in matters falling within several related legal areas, judicial departments shall be formed, composed of all the judges who decide in these matters.

The Minister of Justice is authorised to establish a department or a separate panel within a court for particular classes of cases or matters.

Each department shall be headed by a president appointed by the President of a court on the basis of an annual schedule of duties, upon a preliminary obtained opinion of the judges of the respective department.

Article 28

At their meetings, judicial departments shall discuss issues important for the operation of the department, and in particular: the organisation of internal operations, the operation of the department, disputable questions of law, the unification of judicial practice, the promotion of the method of work and professional development of judges, judicial advisers and judicial trainees who work in the department.

At their meetings, judicial departments of county courts, of the High Petty Offence Tribunal and the High Commercial Court of the Republic of Croatia shall discuss issues of common interest for the inferior courts in their respective territories, and issues relevant for application of regulations of certain legal areas falling within court's jurisdiction.

At their meetings, judicial departments of the Administrative Court of the Republic of Croatia shall discuss issues important for the application of legal rules related to particular areas of public administration, and draft laws regarding issues falling within the competence of that court.

At their meetings, judicial departments of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall discuss issues of common interest for some or all courts from the territory of the Republic of Croatia, and shall discuss and give opinions on draft regulations from a particular area of law.

PARAGRAPH 5 DELETED

Article 29

Meetings of judicial departments shall be convened and chaired by the president of a department, or the President of a court. When the president takes part in the work of the meeting of a judicial department, he chairs it and participates in the decision-making process.

The conventions of all judges of a court shall be convened upon the request of any judicial department or one quarter of all judges of that court.

A decision at a convention of judges or a judicial department shall be adopted by a majority of the votes of all judges of the court or department.

The President of a court, or a department, may invite outstanding scientists and experts in particular legal areas to participate in the Convention.

Article 30

Meetings of a department or of judges shall be convened when it is established that differences in understanding of the application of law exist among individual panels or judges, or when a particular panel or a judge departs from a previously adopted interpretation of law.

When, in a particular case, a panel or a judge delivers a decision which is incompatible with the interpretation of any other panel or judge, the president of the department or the President of the court may decide to suspend the transcription of the decision in order to discuss the divergent interpretation at the meeting of the department. If, in such a case, the department adopts an interpretation different from the one delivered by a panel or a judge, the panel or the judge in question shall reconsider their opinion.

Legal interpretation adopted at the meeting of the judicial department of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, Administrative Court of the Republic of Croatia, High Petty Offences Court of the Republic of Croatia, High Commercial Court of the Republic of Croatia and the county court shall be binding for all second-instance panels of the same department.

Binding character of the opinion of the lower-rank courts shall be in force until the department of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia adopts a different opinion.

Article 31

Judicial divisions or services may be established to follow and study judicial practice.

Such divisions or services shall be presided over by a judge.

3. JUDICIAL COUNCILS

Article 31 a

A judicial council shall be established at a county court for the county courts and municipal courts from the territory of that particular county court.

A judicial council shall be established at the High Commercial Court of the Republic of Croatia for commercial courts, and for petty offence tribunals, at the High Petty Offence Tribunal.

The duties of the judicial council for the Administrative Court and Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall be performed by the convention of all judges of each of these courts.

Article 31 b

A judicial council shall:

- assess the judges' performance,
- give an opinion on the candidates for judges at the courts within its scope
- propose candidates for Presidents of courts,
- pursue other duties laid down by this Act and Rules of Procedure.

Judicial councils shall submit reports on their work to the judges of the courts which have established them at least once a year, and if necessary, they shall also inform them in other ways about the performance of duties from within their jurisdiction.

Article 31 c

The Judicial Council of a county court shall consist of 15 members, of which 9 members shall be from among judges of the county court, and 6 from among the judges of the municipal courts in the respective territory.

If the county court, together with all municipal courts in that territory, has fewer than 50 judges, the Judicial Council shall have 9 members, of which 6 shall be from among the judges of the county court, and 3 from among the judges of the municipal courts in the respective territory.

If fewer than 6 judges work at a county court, they shall all be members of the judicial council, and 3 members from among the judges from the municipal courts in the respective territory.

The Judicial Council of commercial courts shall have 15 members, of which 9 shall be from among the judges of the High Commercial Court of the Republic of Croatia, and 6 from among the judges of commercial courts.

The Judicial Council of petty offence tribunals shall have 15 members, of which 9 members shall be from among the judges of the High Petty Offence Tribunal of the Republic of Croatia, and 6 from among the judges of petty offence tribunals.

First instance courts with more than 50 judges shall elect 6 of their judges to become members of a judicial council, who, together with the members elected from a higher court, shall constitute a Judicial Council of a particular first instance court.

Article 31 d

The members of judicial councils shall be elected for a period of 4 years by secret ballot.

Article 31 e

The members of judicial councils elected from among the judges of county courts shall be elected by county court judges, and the members of judicial councils elected from among the judges of municipal courts shall be elected by all judges of the municipal courts from the territory of a particular county court.

The members of the judicial council of commercial courts shall be elected from among the judges of the High Commercial Court of the Republic of Croatia or the High Petty Offence Tribunal of the Republic of Croatia by the judges of these courts, and the members from among the judges of commercial or petty offence tribunals, shall be elected by the judges of these courts.

Article 31 f

Participation in the work of a judicial council shall be the right and the responsibility of every judge.

Unless otherwise prescribed by this Act, candidates to act as members of judicial councils may be all the judges of the courts electing them who are performing the duty of judge on the day of the elections for judicial councils.

A judge against whom a disciplinary measure has been pronounced in the previous four years cannot become a member of a judicial council.

Presidents of courts cannot be members or Presidents of judicial councils, but may participate in their work without having a voting right when assessing the work of a judge or when giving an opinion on the candidates for judges of the courts in which they are presidents.

Article 31g

By no later than 1 December of the year in which the mandate of a judicial council expires, the President of the Judicial Council shall develop a separate list of candidates for each type of court. The data necessary for the list shall be provided by the Ministry of Justice and by the Presidents of the courts in which the judicial councils are established. The lists shall be made in alphabetical order, containing the number, the name of the candidate and a full or an abbreviated name of the court at which the judge works.

A list of candidates shall be displayed on the notice boards of the courts for which the judicial council is established not later than eight days prior to the election.

An objection may be raised to the electoral commission regarding the list within three days from the day of its being displayed on the notice board.

Article 31h

The electoral commission shall be responsible for the election, the supervision of the nomination of candidates, the voting and counting of the results of voting, and it consists of the president and two members.

Judicial council shall appoint the electoral commission prior to expiry of the deadline for determining the list of candidates.

The members of the judicial council and the candidates from the established list of candidates cannot at the same time be members of the electoral commission at the court at which the election is held.

Article 31i

The election shall take place not later than 15 days before the expiry of the mandate of the judicial council. Judicial council sets the date and venue for the election, making sure that all judges may vote freely.

PARAGRAPH 2 DELETED

The election shall be held in a way that every judge shall circle only as many candidates on the list given to him/her by the electoral commission, as there are members to be elected to the judicial council.

On the basis of the election and within two days, the electoral commission shall establish a list of candidates based on the number of votes received, and announce the names of the candidates who are elected members of judicial councils. The results shall be displayed on the notice boards of the courts for which a judicial council is elected.

The candidates who receive the largest number of votes shall be elected members of the judicial council. The candidates, who receive the next largest number of votes to the votes received by the elected members of the council, shall be considered their deputies.

If two or more candidates receive the same number of votes, the candidate who has more years of service as a judge of the court for which the elections are held shall be elected. If both candidates have the same number of years of service, seniority shall prevail.

Article 31j

A complaint against the announced list of candidates, the way the election was held and the results may be lodged within three days from the announcement and shall be decided in the first instance by the electoral commission. An appeal against the decision of the electoral commission may be lodged within two days and it will be decided by the judicial council.

The final results of the election for judicial councils shall be established by the judicial council ten days after the election. The judicial council shall inform the Presidents of the courts in the respective territory and the Ministry of Justice of the election results without delay.

Article 31k

A judicial council shall have a president and a deputy president elected by a majority vote of the members of the judicial council.

Article 31l

A judicial council shall decide at a session by a majority vote of all its members.

When deciding on the duties of the judicial council concerning the judges of county courts, of the High Petty Offence Tribunal of the Republic of Croatia and of the High Commercial Court of the Republic of Croatia, only the members of the judicial council who are judges of these courts shall participate.

A session of the judicial council shall be convened by its President by means of a written notice delivered to its members at least 8 days before the day it is to be held.

Minutes shall be made of the session of a judicial council.

Article 31 m

On the request of a judicial council, Presidents of courts shall provide data or perform any duty from within the competence of a judicial council and provide the venue and the conditions necessary for the work of the judicial council.

Article 31n

A member of the judicial council shall cease to perform his/her duty prior to the expiry of his/her mandate in the following cases:

- if he/she so requests,
- if he/she ceases to perform the duty of a judge or is appointed as a judge at a court outside the territory for which a particular judicial council is competent, or if he/she is appointed President of a court,
- if he/she is elected as a member of the High Judiciary Council,
- if there is a final decision as a result of a disciplinary proceeding against him/her.

If a member of a judicial council ceases to perform his/her duty prior to the expiry of his/her mandate, a judicial council shall appoint his/her substitute, respecting the order established at the election for the members of the judicial council.

The mandate of the appointed substitute as a member of the judicial council shall last until the expiry of the mandate of the judicial council.

IIIa. CODE OF JUDICIAL ETHICS

Article 31.o

Code of judicial ethics (hereinafter: the Code) determines ethical principles and rules of conduct for judges, for the purpose of maintaining dignity and reputation of judicial duty. In performance of their duties and during their free time, judges must adhere to the law and the Code.

The Council consisting of presidents of all judicial councils in the Republic of Croatia adopt the Code.

The Chairperson of the Council from paragraph 2 of this Article is the president of the Judicial Council of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

The Chairperson of the Council convenes the sessions of the Council. The Chairperson of the Council must convene a session of the Council if so requested in writing by one fourth of all presidents of judicial councils.

The Council decides in sessions by public vote, by majority vote of all its members.

Article 31.p

The Chairperson of the Council manages the work in making the draft of the Code. The draft shall be delivered to all presidents of judicial councils in order for them to provide proposals and remarks within an appropriate term. Presidents of the judicial councils are obliged to inform the judges on the draft text.

Thereafter, the Council shall determine the proposal of the Code and deliver it to judges for discussion. The judges may provide remarks and proposals to the delivered proposal of the Code within 30 days.

Draft and proposal of the Code shall be delivered to the Association of Croatian Judges, the Legislation Committee of the Croatian Parliament and the minister in charge of judicial affairs for their opinion.

The Code shall be amended and supplemented in the same procedure as for its rendering, at the proposal of the Judicial Council of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, one fourth of judicial councils in the Republic of Croatia, majority of presidents of all judicial councils or the Association of Croatian Judges.

The President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, the Legislation Committee of the Croatian Parliament, minister in charge of judicial affairs and at least ten judges may submit a proposal for amendments and supplements to the Code.

IV. SPECIAL PROVISIONS ON THE ORGANISATION OF THE SUPREME COURT

Article 32

The Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia consists of a Criminal Law Department, Civil Law Department, Department for Following, Studying and Recording Judicial Practice, Department for Education of Judges and Computerisation, President's Office and other expert and auxiliary-technical organisational units.

Civil Law Department covers the areas of civil, commercial and administrative law.

Criminal Law Department covers the areas of criminal, petty-offences, and disciplinary proceedings pursuant to the regulations on attorneys and notary publics.

Judges shall be assigned to particular departments on the basis of an annual schedule of tasks.

The President's Office performs tasks related to court administration and international cooperation of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, which also includes the protocol for the needs of this court.

Regulations on protocol of the Croatian Parliament and the Government of the Republic of Croatia apply accordingly to the protocol tasks of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia. The Supreme Court may, for the purposes of its protocol, use objects intended for the same purpose, that are at the disposal to the Croatian Parliament and the Government of the Republic of Croatia.

The internal organisation of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall be closely regulated by the Rules of Procedure of the Supreme Court and the Judicial Rules of Procedure, pursuant to the law. The President of the Supreme Court shall adopt the Rules of Procedure of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, upon obtained opinion of the Convention of Judges.«

A person may be appointed President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia if he/she meets the general and special requirements for a judge of that court.

Before assuming his/her duty, the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall take an oath before the President of the Republic of Croatia which reads:

"I swear that in performing my duty I shall abide by the Constitution and laws and protect the integrity, sovereignty and the state organisation of the Republic of Croatia as well as the freedoms and rights of man and citizen established in the Constitution and the law."

The President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia represents the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, performs the duties of judicial administration and other duties stipulated by law and the Rules of Procedure of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

If the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia is a person who, prior to the appointment, did not work as a judge in that court, the High Judiciary Council shall appoint him a judge of that court.

If the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, on the basis of the decision of the House of Representatives of the Croatian Parliament (Sabor) or at his/her own request is relieved of this function before the expiry of his/her term of office or is not re-elected to this position, he/she shall continue to work as a judge in that court.

Article 32.b

A Secretary of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall be appointed at the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

A person fulfilling requirements for senior court advisor may be appointed as the secretary.

The President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall appoint the Secretary of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, upon obtained opinion of the Convention of Judges of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

Article 32.c

Unless provided differently by this Act, regulations on rights and duties of state officials shall apply accordingly to the Secretary of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

Article 32.d

Secretary assists the President of the Court in performance of judicial administrative tasks, in particular the ones from Article 75 paragraph 3 of this Act, he/she initiates and conducts procedures related to minor breach of official duty of court officials and employees, and initiates the procedure related to serious breach of official duty, by corresponding application of Articles 80 and 81 of this Act.

Article 32.e

After the election of the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, the Secretary gives his mandate at the disposal of the new president, who decides whether to appoint the same person as the secretary within additional 30 days as of his/her entry into office.

If the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia chooses not to reappoint the secretary, the secretary is entitled to be referred to the position of a senior court advisor at the departments or sections of the court, without having to apply for the vacancy announcement.

If the secretary chooses not to accept referral from paragraph 2 of this Article, he is entitled to remuneration pursuant to the law regulating rights and obligations of state officials.

In case of dismissal during the secretary's mandate, the secretary is entitled to all rights from previous paragraph of this Article.

Article 33

The Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia consists of the President and all judges of that Court.

The Convention of Judges of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall be convened and chaired by the President of the Court. The Convention must be convened upon the request of a department or of one quarter of all judges.

The President of the Court may, if necessary, invite faculty-of-law professors, outstanding scientists or experts in a particular area of law to participate in the Convention.

The adoption of valid decisions shall require the presence of not less than two thirds of all judges of the Court.

The adoption of valid decisions shall require the majority of votes of all judges of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

Article 34

The Convention of Judges of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall in particular:

- set general views in order to achieve the uniform application of law and equal protection before the law in the territory of the Republic of Croatia;
- give opinions regarding draft laws or other regulations which are intended to regulate the powers of the court or other questions important for the operation of the courts or the exercise of judicial practice;
- give guidelines to courts for the monitoring of judicial practice;
- issue reports for the Parliament (Sabor) of the Republic of Croatia;
- perform any other activities which may be stipulated by law or by the Rules of Procedure of the Court.

Article 35

The President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia may convene an Extended Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

The Extended Convention referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall consist of all judges of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia and two representatives each of the High Petty Offence Tribunal, the High Commercial Court of the Republic of Croatia, the Administrative Court of the Republic of Croatia and every county court.

The Extended Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall discuss important issues of judicial practice and shall propose a candidate to act as member of the High Judiciary Council.

Article 36

General legal interpretations adopted by the Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall be binding on all panels of that Court, and may be altered only by the Convention.

General legal interpretations shall be communicated to courts and published in the way envisaged for the publication of the judicial practice.

Once the Convention of the Supreme Court adopts a general legal interpretation, a legal interpretation dealing with the same legal issue adopted at a departmental meeting of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall no longer be binding for panels within that department.

V. JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION

Article 37

The Ministry of Justice shall have the powers of the highest body to conduct the tasks of judicial administration.

In order to perform the tasks of judicial administration, the Minister of Justice shall contact the Presidents of the respective courts.

The Minister of Justice, in carrying out the tasks of judicial administration, may annul or abolish any irregular or illegal act adopted in performing the tasks of judicial administration or only pass an act which has not been passed at all or has not been passed in a timely manner.

Article 38

Judicial administration includes activities which serve to improve the performance of judicial power, particularly drafting laws and other regulations intended to regulate the establishment, competencies, jurisdiction, composition and organisation of courts, judicial procedures, care for the education and professional specialisation of judges and other officials and employees, the financial means and facilities necessary for the operation of courts, international legal assistance, the execution of sentences delivered in respect of criminal offences, misdemeanours and petty offences, the collection of statistical and other data regarding the operation of courts, hearing the submissions and petitions of citizens in respect of the operation of courts, in particular those regarding unnecessary delays in procedure, or the conduct of judges or other employees in the course of judicial proceedings or other official acts, the supervision of the financial operations of courts, the supervision of the regular operation of courts and adherence to the Judicial Rules of Procedure, as well as other administrative tasks and duties stipulated by law.

Article 39

7. data concerning promotion,
8. data concerning disciplinary sanctions.

Personal data shall include the following: name, surname, father's name, day, month and year of birth, nationality, residence, information concerning a faculty-of-law diploma, specialist knowledge, financial status and the names of family members (spouse, children and parents).

Information included in records shall be classified.

Bodies which have the recorded data referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be obliged to forward it to the Ministry of Justice.

Article 42

The Ministry of Justice may ask the courts to produce reports and information needed for the performance of activities falling within the judicial branch of government and the tasks of judicial administration. Within the scope of its competences, it may obtain direct insight into the work of the court and request reports on the reasons for not acting in a particular case, as well as request delivery of a case to be analysed and hold a common meeting with the courts in order to consider the issues connected with the performance of judicial power and the application of new regulations.

Article 43

The Minister of Justice shall enact the Judicial Rules of Procedure.

The Judicial Rules of Procedure shall contain framework regulations for the organisation of courts and their internal operation, and in particular: rules on internal structure, rules concerning judicial records and auxiliary books, forms, file handling procedures, including filing and recording, international legal assistance procedures, public relations procedures, specific rules concerning the assignment of cases, rules concerning the convening and assigning of jurors, the operation of panels, departmental meetings and Conventions, rules concerning investigation, implementation rules concerning the handling and service of decisions which have to be translated into a language of an ethnic or national minority, daily or weekly time schedules, rules concerning seized objects and criminal procedures, rules concerning special insignia on judicial vehicles, rules concerning statistical analyses, standards for facilities and equipment, and any other matter which is important for the internal operation of courts.

The Judicial Rules of Procedure shall also regulate the organisation and operation of common services in court buildings which house more than one court.

Article 44

When in service, judges shall wear a special robe.

The Minister of Justice shall regulate the style of the robe, when it should be worn, and the time table of its gradual introduction.

Article 45

Judges and court officials shall have a special identification card. The Minister of Justice shall regulate the form of such a card, and the procedure for its distribution.

VI. JUDGES AND JURORS

1. APPOINTMENT OF JUDGES

Article 46

The Minister of Justice shall determine the number of judges for each court, in accordance with the framework standards of judicial practice.

Article 47

The framework standards shall be issued by the Minister of Justice upon the proposal of an Extended Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

Article 48

An unsatisfied judge may file a constitutional complaint against this decree to the Constitutional Court of the Republic of Croatia.

b) Evaluation of Judges

Article 53

Judicial council evaluates the judge in the procedure of appointment to some other court or when appointing him permanently to judicial duty.

The Judicial council evaluates the judge pursuant to all elements from Article 52 of this Act.

Article 53.a

When evaluating the performance of judicial duty, the judicial council takes into consideration a final decision of the president of the court from Article 52.f of this Act, as well as other documents related to the judge's work and oral discussion on the candidate.

Unless otherwise provided by this Act, provisions of the Act on General Administrative Procedure shall apply accordingly to the actions of the judicial council.

Article 53.b

Methodology of making the evaluation shall be determined by the council consisting of presidents of all judicial councils in the Republic of Croatia. The chairman of this council is the president of the judicial council of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, who convenes the sessions of this council. Sessions of the council must be convened if requested in writing by one fourth of all presidents of judicial councils in the country.

Article 53.c

The evaluation may be:

1. Unsatisfactory performance of judicial duty,
2. average and proper performance of judicial duty,
3. meets the criteria for promotion,
4. displays above-average knowledge, ability and results.

Decision on evaluation is reached by public vote.

Article 53.d

Decision on evaluation is composed of the introduction, statement of decision, statement of reasons (explanation) and legal remedy notice.

The introduction of the decision states the name of the judicial council that made the decision, date of the session when the evaluation was given and the number of council members participating in the work of the session.

The statement of decision of the decision states the evaluation from the previous article of this Act.

The statement of reasons (explanation) of the decision contains reasons for the decision.

The president of the council signs the decision on behalf of the judicial council.

Article 53.e

Decision shall be delivered to the judge that it refers to, to the president of the court in which the judge performs judicial duty and the ministry in charge of judicial affairs.

Article 53.f

A judge unsatisfied by the evaluation is entitled to file an objection within eight days as of the delivery of the decision, to a special council consisting of five judges of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia. The objection is filed through the judicial council that has reached the disputed decision.

Judicial council that has reached the disputed decision may respond to the statements from the objection within eight days as of the delivery of the objection. Thereafter, within additional three-day deadline, the judicial council must deliver the case to the council of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

Article 53.g

Council from Article 53.f paragraph 1 of this Act appoints the judicial council of the Supreme Court by majority vote of all members of the council, at same the time when determining the annual schedule of tasks at the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia for the following calendar year.

At the same time, five members are appointed, who will replace the members of the council in case of them being prevented from appearing (deputy members).

The president and deputy president of the council shall be appointed by the judicial council of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, after the appointment of the council, by two-third majority vote.

President and deputy president, members and deputy members of the council may perform their duty for two years in a row at most. After the expiry of a two-year period, they may be re-elected to the council.

Article 53.h

Council of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia may dismiss the objection as untimely or it may reject it and confirm the evaluation of the competent judicial council, or it may accept the objection and repeal this decision, and if needed return it to the competent judicial council for repeated proceedings or it may modify it.

The judicial council of the competent court or a judge to whom the evaluation relates may file a constitutional complaint with the Constitutional Court of the Republic of Croatia against the decision of the council of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

Article 53.i

A judge against whom the State Judicial Council issued a disciplinary sanction for minor breach of judicial duty must not be appointed to some other court prior to expiry of one year, counting from the day of issuing decision on disciplinary responsibility, and if proclaimed responsible for serious breach of judicial duty, he/she may not be appointed to some other court prior to expiry of three years counting as of the day of issuing such decision.

Article 54

Judicial council evaluates the judge appointed for the first time after he/she completes four years of his/her work.

In the evaluation of the judges appointed for the first time, provisions of Articles 53.a -53i. of this Act shall apply accordingly.

Six months prior to expiration of a five-year deadline from the day of appointment, the president of the court in which such a judge performs judicial duty shall notify the State Judicial Council that it is necessary to reach a decision on permanent appointment of a judge. In addition to this notice, the president of the court also delivers the evaluation of performance of judicial duty, which was given for that judge after the fourth year of work, as well as his/her opinion on whether this judge should be permanently appointed to judicial duty.

2. OBLIGATIONS AND RIGHTS OF JUDGES

a) Performance of Judicial Duty

Article 55

A judge performs his/her judicial duty independently or as a member of a panel.

Article 56

The assignment of work in a court shall be made at the beginning of each calendar year.

In courts which do not have judicial departments, cases shall be assigned according to the alphabetical order of judges, in such a way that each judge is assigned one case from each register until all cases are assigned. Care shall be taken to balance the allocation of cases during the whole period of one year. Care shall also be taken as to the type and complexity of cases to be assigned from the same register.

In courts which have judicial departments, cases shall be assigned according to the alphabetical order of judges in each particular department, following the method described in paragraph 2 of this Article. All remaining cases shall be assigned in the same way and care shall be taken to balance the allocation of cases during the whole period of one year.

Cases shall be assigned to panels which decide in the first instance in alphabetical order of Presidents of a panel. The President of a second-instance panel shall assign cases to members of that panel in alphabetical order.

Article 57

The method of assignment described in Article 56 of this Act shall also be applied in cases where a particular judge is excluded or cannot perform his/her judicial work over a longer period of time.

b) Obligations of Judges

Article 58

A judge's behaviour must not be detrimental to his/her dignity, or to the dignity of judicial power, and must not put in question his/her professional impartiality and independence or the independence of judicial power.

Article 59

A judge must not disclose information concerning parties to a dispute, their rights, obligations or legal interest, which came to his/her knowledge in the course of the performance of his/her judicial duty. A judge shall keep the confidentiality of all information which was not disclosed during a trial.

Article 60

A judge must not be a member of a political party, nor be involved in political activity.

Article 61

A judge must not use his/her judicial position or dignity in pursuance of his/her rights.

A judge must not act as an attorney or notary public, or be a member of a board of directors or a board of auditors of a corporation or any other legal person.

A judge must not perform any other service or job which may impair his/her autonomy, impartiality or independence, or diminish his/her social dignity, or which are otherwise incompatible with a judicial function.

Article 62

A judge must always develop professionally and participate in the programmes of professional education and development.

A judge may publish expert and scientific papers, may publish the contents of his/her delivered judicial decisions, take part in the work of expert or scientific conferences and commissions and in drafting legislation.

Article 63

A judge shall have the obligation to inform in writing the President of a court about any work he has accepted, save that specified in Article 62 of this Act. The President of a court shall deliver that information to the President of the immediately superior court.

The President of a court shall make decisions regarding the incompatibility of a certain service or employment with the judicial function. The President of a superior court shall make such decisions in respect of Presidents of inferior courts. The Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall make such decisions in respect of the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia.

A judge who is not satisfied with a decision regarding the incompatibility of a certain service or work with the judicial function may appeal to the Minister of Justice.

c) Rights of Judges

Article 64

Judges shall have the right to:

- a salary established for such a position;

- bonus to the salary when a judge has been transferred to work at some other court,
- compensation, instead of a salary, when he/she is not able to perform his judicial function;
- a pension, disability and health insurance, and all rights pertaining thereto according to general regulations;
- vacations and days off which pertain to judicial staff and an annual vacation of 30 working days;
- compensation for living expenses when away from his/her place of residence, and travelling expenses to and from the place of his/her family's residence on weekends and national holidays;
- compensation for business travel and expenses related to the performance of judicial duty;
- continuing education and specialisation, with funds which are allocated for that purpose.

The Government of the Republic of Croatia determines in its decree the amount of bonus to the salary for a judge transferred to work at some other court.

d) Transfers

Article 65

In cases of the abolishment or reorganisation of a court, the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia shall transfer judges to other courts of the same level.

A judge may appeal against a transfer decision to the Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia within three days.

Judges may, with their consent, be transferred to other courts of the same or different level at the request of the President of the court to which they are transferred.

A decision on a temporary transfer to another court shall be made by the president of the mutually immediately higher court who shall inform thereof the High Judiciary Council.

A decision on the return of a temporarily transferred judge to the court to which he was appointed shall be made by the President of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia who shall inform thereof the High Judiciary Council.

Article 65.a

A judge may, upon his/her approval, be transferred temporarily to work at a court of higher rank.

President of the higher court shall entrust him with tasks in making draft decisions from the competence of this particular court or some other corresponding tasks.

A judge transferred to some other court pursuant to Article 65 of the Judiciary Act ("Narodne novine", Nos. 3/94, 100/96, 115/97, 131/97, 129/00 and 67/01), i.e. paragraph 1 of this Article, is entitled to remuneration of costs due to special working conditions (lodging, use of personal car for official purposes etc.).

Special working conditions from paragraph 3 of this Article and the amount of remuneration of costs due to such conditions are determined by the Ordinance of the minister in charge of judicial affairs.

Article 66

If a judge is appointed Minister of Justice, or State Secretary, or any other official of the Ministry of Justice, his/her judicial function shall be suspended for as long as he performs the executive function to which he/she is appointed.

A judge may, with his/her consent, be transferred to other positions in the Ministry of Justice, but not for longer than two years. His/her judicial function shall be suspended in that period.

In the cases specified in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article, a judge shall be entitled to decide which of the two salaries he/she wants to receive.

The Minister of Justice, acting with the consent of the President of a court where the respective judge performs his/her function, shall make the decision about the transfer referred to in paragraph 2 of this Article.

e) Liability for Damages Article 67

The Republic of Croatia shall be liable for damages caused to natural or legal persons, if those are caused by judicial malpractice.

The Republic of Croatia may recover the amount paid for damages from a judge, only if the latter has caused the damage intentionally or as a result of gross negligence.

The claim to recover the amount paid for damages from a judge referred to in paragraph 2 of this Article shall be limited to one year beginning from the day when the damages were actually paid to an injured person.

f) Termination of a Judicial Function Article 67a

The judicial function of a judge shall be terminated if he/she is dismissed from it by the High Judiciary Council in accordance with the Constitution and law.

A judge shall be dismissed from the judicial function in the court to which he/she was appointed by virtue of the law in the following cases:

- death;
- ~~— if he/she has reached 70 years of age; *~~

(This part of Article 67 a has been repealed by the decision of the Constitutional court from December 19, 2001, published in Official Gazette no. 5/2002. It was ruled that it is against the Constitution for the Court president to reach a decision regarding the 70 years of age of the judge since the Constitution states that it is only the High Judiciary Council who can make such a decision. Also, in the given case the right of a judge to appeal to the High Judiciary Council is impaired. Therefore, the decision has been based on the Article 122, paragraph 3, sub-paragraph 5 and the paragraph 4 in relation to the Article 123, paragraph 1 of the Constitution.)*

- on the day he/she started working at another court, or at another judicial or state body.

A decision establishing the circumstance referred to in paragraph 2 of this Article shall be made by the President of the court where the judge served and it shall be submitted to the High Judiciary Council and the Ministry of Justice.

3. JURORS

Article 68

Any citizens of the Republic of Croatia who has reached the age of eighteen and who is worthy of performing the function of juror may be appointed a juror.

The provisions of this Act concerning judges shall be applicable to jurors, unless otherwise established by law.

Article 69

Jurors shall be appointed for a period of four years, and may be re-appointed.

Article 70

Jurors of municipal courts, commercial courts and county courts shall be appointed by the County Council and the City Assembly of the City of Zagreb on the basis of nominations by municipal councils, city councils, trade unions, Employers' Associations and the Chamber of Commerce.

Jurors of other courts shall be appointed by the House of Representatives of the Parliament ("Sabor") of the Republic of Croatia on the basis of nominations proposed by the Minister of Justice in such a way that the proportional representation of all counties shall be provided for.

Regarding the nominees for jurors, the opinion of the President of a respective court shall be obtained before the appointment is made.

Article 71

Before assuming their function, jurors shall give the following solemn oath:

"I swear by my honour to perform the duty of a juror in accordance with the Constitution and laws of the Republic of Croatia, and to perform the juror's duty conscientiously and impartially."

Jurors of municipal courts, commercial courts and county courts shall give the oath in front of the President of the County Assembly of the City of Zagreb. Jurors of other courts shall give the oath in front of the President of the House of Representative of the Parliament ("Sabor") of the Republic of Croatia, or in front of a representative of that House who may be designated by the President.

Article 72

The President of a court shall not use the services of a juror who has been indicted or if a procedure for his/her removal from juror's duty has been initiated, for as long as these procedures have not been finally settled.

Article 73

Jurors shall be entitled to have their expenses covered, to compensation for lost income or salary, and to an award.

The conditions and the amount of compensation and awards referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be determined by a Book of Rules of the Minister of Justice.

VIa. PRESIDENT OF THE COURT

Article 73a

The President of a court shall be a judge who, along with this duty, also performs the work of judicial administration.

In courts with more than 20 judges, the President of a court may perform only the work of judicial administration.

The President of a court shall be appointed by the Minister of Justice from among the candidates nominated by the judicial council.

The President of a court shall be appointed for four years and may be re-appointed.

The President of a court who is not re-appointed shall continue to perform his/her judicial function in the court in which he/she was appointed as judge.

Article 73b

The procedure for the appointment of the President of a court shall be initiated by the Minister of Justice or the judicial council not later than three months before the expiry of the term of office of the President of a court or not later than 30 days after the termination of the duty of the President of a court for some other reasons established by law.

Article 73c

The Minister of Justice shall publish an advertisement in the official gazette "Narodne novine" and in a daily newspaper to invite candidates to apply for the vacancy of the President of a court within 30 days.

A candidate may be a judge who satisfies the requirements for a judge of that court ~~PART TWO OF THE SENTENCE DELETED. PARAGRAPH 3 ALSO DELETED.~~

The President of the Judicial Council shall request from the Minister of Justice an evaluation of the judicial performance and other data from the register of judges which are important for the establishment of the professional ability of the candidate for the President of a court.

The President of the Judicial Council may ask another judicial council for an opinion on the candidate.

Article 73d

On the basis of the data and the opinion referred to in Article 73c of this Act, the Judicial Council shall make a list of candidates who satisfy the requirement for the President of a court and propose to the Minister of Justice to appoint one of them President of the court.

The nomination of the Judicial Council must contain an explanation for each candidate and contain an evaluation of the judicial performance referred to in Article 54 of this Act.

Article 73e

The Minister of Justice shall make a decision on appointment within 30 days of receipt of the nomination.

If there are no applications in response to the advertisement, and the Minister of Justice does not appoint any of the candidates nominated by the Judicial Council as the President of a court, the procedure referred to in Article 73c of this Act shall be repeated.

In the repeated procedure, the Minister of Justice shall request an opinion of the Convention of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia on the candidates nominated for the position of President of a court.

If the opinion referred to in the previous paragraph is positive for one or more candidates, the Minister of Justice shall appoint the President of a court from among the candidates nominated by the Judicial Council.

Article 73f

The President of a court shall appoint his/her deputy on the basis of an annual schedule of duties on the basis of a previously obtained opinion of the Judicial Council.

Article 73g

A judge may be dismissed from the position of President of a court when, in the supervision procedure of the tasks of judicial administration, it is established:

1. that the President of a court does not perform the tasks of judicial administration in accordance with the regulations or does not perform them in a timely fashion;
2. that the President of a court fails to perform supervision or directly violates the regulations concerning the assignment of cases;
3. that by violating the regulations or in some other way the President of a court has infringed the principle of judicial independence in trying cases;
4. that the President of a court has not been submitting requests to initiate disciplinary proceedings in cases stipulated by law;

The President of a court may alone ask to be relieved of the position of President of a court.

The dismissal of the President of a court for the reasons specified in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article shall not have an impact on the obligations and rights that the dismissed President has as a judge.

Article 73h

When, in exercising the right of supervision, a higher court establishes unlawfulness and irregularity in the performance of the tasks of judicial administration, it must inform thereof the Minister of Justice and propose the necessary measures for the lawful and regular performance of the tasks of judicial administration.

The body of the Ministry of Justice responsible for the supervision of the tasks of judicial administration shall act in the same manner.

The President of a court shall have the right to appeal against the report on the performed supervision and may request a repeated supervision of the tasks of judicial administration by the Supreme Court of the Republic of Croatia, which shall develop a written report on such repeated supervision.

Article 73i

If, on the basis of a report on the performed supervision, and after a written declaration of the President of a court and an obtained opinion of the Judicial Council, it is clear that the acts of unlawfulness and irregularity in performing the tasks of judicial administration are harmful to the regular and proper performance of tasks and the operation of a court, the Minister of Justice shall dismiss the President of a court, who shall continue to work as a judge.

The dismissal of the President of a court by the Minister of Justice shall be in writing and shall contain an appropriate explanation.

Article 73j

If, for any reason, the President of a court ceases to perform his/her duty before the expiry of his/her term of office, the Minister of Justice shall authorise a judge from the same or another court to perform the tasks of judicial administration for a period not longer than six months until a new President shall be appointed.

In courts undergoing the process of establishment, the Minister of Justice shall authorise a judge of the same or another court to perform the tasks of judicial administration until the court starts to operate.
