REGISTRAR OF PATENTS

3. (1) There shall be a Registrar of Patents, appointed by the President, with an office to be called the Registry of Patents; the President may from time to time appoint such number of Assistant Registrars as may be required, who shall act under the control of the Registrar and have all the powers and duties of the Registrar.

(2) The Minister shall, by notice in the Gazette, prescribe a seal for use by the Registrar and the impressions of such seal shall be judicially noticed.

REGISTER

4. (1) The Registrar shall keep at the Registry a book to be known as the Register of Patents in which entries shall be made by or under the direction of the Registrar of the names and addresses of persons to whom certificates of registration are issued under this Act and of such other particulars as the Registrar deems necessary or is required by law to record.

(2) The Register shall be prima face evidence of all matters entered therein.

WHO MAY APPLY FOR REGISTRATION

5. (1) Any person who has made application to, and filed a complete specification in support thereof with, the appropriate authority in the Commonwealth of Australia, the United Kingdom or the United States of America for the grant of a patent may, provided that such application has not been withdrawn by such person or the grant of the patent refused by the appropriate authority of that country, apply to the Registrar for the registration of such application in Nauru.

(2) The patentee of a patent may, within three years from the date of the grant of the patent in the country of principal registration, apply to the Registrar to have such patent registered in Nauru:

Provided that, during the twelve months next following the commencement of this Act, application may be made for the registration of a patent notwithstanding that more than three years may have elapsed since the grant of such patent in the country of principal registration.

METHOD OF APPLYING

6. (1) An application for registration of a patent, or of an application for a patent, under this Act shall be made to the Registrar in the prescribed manner and shall be accompanied by the prescribed fees, two certified copies of the specification or specifications, including drawings, if any, lodged in the country of principal registration and-

(a) in the case of an application made pursuant to subsection (1) of section 5 of this Act, a certified copy of the application; or

(b) in the case of an application made pursuant to subsection (2) of section 5 of this Act, a certificate of the grant.

(2) In this section a "certified copy" and "certificate" respectively mean a copy certified and a certificate issued by the appropriate authority in the country of principal registration.

OPPOSITION

7. (1) Upon application for registration of a patent or of an application for a patent being received together with the fees and the documents mentioned in section 6 the Registrar shall publish in the Patents Gazette such details of the application as may be prescribed and any person may at any time within three months from the date of such advertisement give notice to the Registrar of opposition to the registration. Such notice shall be in the prescribed form.

(2) The registration of a patent may be opposed on one or both of the following grounds -

- (a) publication or use of the invention in Nauru before the priority date;
- (b) prior registration of a patent for the invention or of an application for a patent for the invention under this Act.

(3) The registration of an application for a patent may be opposed on any one or more of the following grounds-

- (a) publication or use of the invention in Nauru before the priority date;
- (b) prior registration of a patent for the invention or of an application for a patent for the invention under this Act;
- (c) prior grant of a patent for the invention by the appropriate authority in the United Kingdom, the Commonwealth of Australia or the United States of America;
- (d) prior filing of a complete specification in support of an application for a patent for the invention with the appropriate authority in the United Kingdom, the Commonwealth of Australia or the United States of America:

Provided that the registration shall not be opposed on ground (c) or ground (d) unless, before notice of opposition is given, application has been made under this Act for the registration of the patent or the application for a patent, as the case may be, which is the subject-matter of that ground:

And provided further that, where registration is refused on either of those grounds and on no other ground, such refusal shall be conditional upon the patent or the application for a patent which is the subject-matter of that ground being registered under this Act and, where any such application for a patent is so registered, upon any patent granted in respect thereof also being so registered: and, if any such condition is not complied with, the Registrar shall, subject to the provisions of subsection (1) of section 8, register the application.

(4) Where notice of opposition is given within the prescribed time the Registrar shall transmit a copy of the notice to the applicant and, after hearing both parties if they wish to be heard and considering any submissions which they may make in writing, shall decide whether or not to register the application or the patent, as the case may be.

REGISTRATION AND ISSUE OF CERTIFICATE OF REGISTRATION

8. (1) If there is no opposition and the Registrar is satisfied from the documents lodged with the application that it is in order and, in the case of opposition, if the Registrar considers that there are no good grounds for such opposition, he shall, if the application is accompanied by the prescribed fees and the required documents -

(a) in the case of an application made pursuant to subsection (1) of section 5, register the application and issue to the applicant a certificate of registration of the application; and

(b) in the case of an application made pursuant to subsection (2) of section 5, register the patent and issue to the applicant a certificate of registration of the patent:

and every such certificate shall be in the prescribed form and under his hand and seal.

(2) Upon registration of a patent, the registration in respect of the application for that patent shall lapse.

(3) The holder of a certificate of registration of an application may lodge with the Registrar any amended or additional documents, specifications or drawings lodged in the country of principal registration accompanied by a certificate of the grant and the prescribed fees: if he does so, the provisions of section 7 shall apply as though there were a new application for registration. If there is no opposition or, in the case of opposition, if the Registrar considers that there are no good grounds for not doing so, he shall amend the original registration and issue a certificate of registration in the prescribed form under his hand and seal in substitution for the certificate previously issued, which shall be surrendered.

(4) The holder of a certificate of registration of a patent shall pay on or before the anniversary in each year of the date on which the patent is registered such annual fee as may be prescribed in respect thereof and, if he fails to pay any such fee by the due date, the Registrar shall forthwith cancel the registration and publish in the Patents Gazette a notice of the cancellation: and the certificate of registration shall thereupon be deemed to have been cancelled and shall cease to be valid thereafter.

(5) Where a certificate of registration has been cancelled under the last preceding subsection, the Registrar may, upon the application of the holder of the certificate made within six months of the cancellation and upon payment of the annual fee and such penalty as may be prescribed, if he is satisfied that no person's proper interests will be prejudiced thereby, renew the registration and publish a notice to that effect in the Patents Gazette: and the certificate of registration shall be valid again with effect from the date of such renewal:

Provided that the Registrar shall, before renewing any registration under this section, give notice in the Patents Gazette that application for such renewal has been made and he shall not renew the registration until after the expiration of a period of twenty-one days from the date of the publication of that notice:

And provided further that, for the purposes of subsection (4), the date in each year on which the annual fee is payable, shall be the date on which the patent was originally registered under subsection (1).

(6) A certificate of registration of an application issued under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) shall be valid until -

(a) where the application is rejected, one month after the date of its final rejection;

(b) where a patent is granted on the application, six months after such grant.

In this subsection an application is deemed not to have been finally rejected if an appeal against its rejection permitted by the laws of the country concerned has been commenced and has not been determined.

(7) Subject to subsections (4) and (5), a certificate of registration of a patent issued under paragraph (b) of subsection (1) shall be valid from the date of its issue, or, where a certificate of registration of an application for the patent has been issued under paragraph (a) of subsection (1), from the date of issue of that certificate, until the date which is the sixteenth anniversary of the date from which the term of the patent commenced in the country of principal registration or, if such patent lapses or is revoked in that country, to the date of such lapse or revocation:

Provided that, where a patent has lapsed in the country of principal registration but has subsequently been restored in that country, it shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed not to have suffered that lapse if notice of the restoration is given to the Registrar under section 19, save that no action shall lie against any person for making, using or exercising the invention between the date of the lapse and the date on which notice of the restoration is given to the Registrar.

(8) Where an application for the registration of an application or of a patent, for the issue of a new certificate under subsection (3) or for the renewal of registration under subsection (5) is refused, the applicant may appeal within 28 days to the Supreme Court. The decision of the Supreme Court shall be final and no further appeal shall lie to any other court or tribunal.

PRIVILEGES AND RIGHTS CONFERRED BY REGISTRATION

9. (1) Where a certificate of registration of an application for a patent has been issued under section 8 of this Act, the person to whom it is issued, his executors, administrators and assigns shall, subject to the other provisions of this Act, have the sole right to obtain a certificate of registration of any patent relating to the invention concerned which is issued in the country of principal registration as the result of that application.

(2) Where a certificate of registration of a patent has been issued under section 8 of this Act, the person to whom it is issued, his executors, administrators, assigns and licensees, themselves or by their deputies, servants and agents, shall have the sole licence, power, privilege and authority to make, use, exercise and sell in Nauru the invention in respect of which the patent was granted in the country of principal registration. Such licence, power, privilege and authority shall be held, exercised and enjoyed for such time as the certificate of registration is valid.

CO-OWNERSHIP OF PATENT RIGHTS

10. (1) Where a certificate of registration of a patent is granted to two or more persons, each of those persons shall, unless an agreement to the contrary is in force, be entitled to an equal undivided share in the privileges and rights conferred by the registration.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this and the next following section, where two or more persons are registered as grantees of a certificate of registration of a patent, then unless an agreement to the contrary is in force, each of those persons shall be entitled, by himself or his agents, to make use, exercise and vend the invention to which the certificate relates for his own benefit without accounting to the other or others.

(3) Subject to the provisions of the next following section and to any agreement for the time being in force, a licence under a certificate of registration of a patent shall not be granted, and a share in the privileges and rights conferred by the registration of a patent shall not be assigned, except with the consent of all persons, other than the licensor or assignor, who are registered as grantees of the certificate of registration.

(4) Where an article is sold by one of two or more persons registered as grantees of a certificate of registration of a patent, the purchaser and any person claiming through him shall be entitled to deal with it in the same manner as if the article had been sold by a sole grantee of such certificate.

(5) Subject to the provisions of this section, the rules of law applicable to the ownership and devolution of personal property generally shall apply in relation to patents as they apply in relation to other choses in action; and nothing in subsection (1) or subsection (2) of this section shall affect the mutual rights or obligations of trustees or of the personal representatives of a deceased person, or their rights or obligations as such.

POWER OF REGISTRAR TO GIVE DIRECTIONS TO CO-OWNERS

11. (1) Where two or more persons are registered as grantees of a certificate of registration of a patent, the Registrar may, upon application made to him in the prescribed manner by any of those persons, give such directions in accordance with the application as to the sale or lease of the privileges and rights conferred by the registration or any of them, the grant of licences under the certificate of registration, or the exercise of any right under the last preceding section in relation thereto, as he thinks fit.

(2) If any person registered as grantee of the certificate of registration of the patent fails to execute any instrument or to do any other thing required for the carrying out of any direction given under this section within 28 days after being requested in writing so to do by any of the other persons so registered, the Registrar may, upon application made to him in the prescribed manner by any such other person, give directions empowering any person to execute that instrument or to do that thing in the name and on behalf of the person in default.

(3) Before giving directions in pursuance of an application under this section, the Registrar shall give an opportunity to be heard-

(a) in the case of an application under subsection (1) of this section, to the other person or persons registered as grantee of the certificate of registration of the patent;

(b) in the case of an application under subsection (2) of this section, to the person in default.

(4) An appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court within 28 days from any decision or direction of the Registrar under this section. The decision of the Supreme Court shall be final and no further appeal shall lie to any other court or tribunal.

(5) No directions shall be given under this section so as to affect the mutual rights or obligations of trustees or of the personal representatives of a deceased person, or their rights or obligations as such.

ORDER FOR AN ACCOUNT IN ACTION FOR INFRINGEMENT

12. In an action for infringement of privileges or rights conferred by a certificate of registration of a patent the plaintiff shall be entitled, at his option, to an account of profits in lieu of damages.

COUNTERCLAIM FOR REVOCATION IN ACTION FOR INFRINGEMENT

13. A defendant in an action for infringement of a patent may, without presenting a petition, apply in accordance with rules of court by way of counterclaim in the action for revocation of the patent.

PROCEEDINGS FOR INFRINGEMENT BY EXCLUSIVE LICENSEE

14. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the holder of an exclusive licence under a certificate of registration of a patent shall have the like right as the grantee thereof to take proceedings in respect of any infringement of the privileges or rights conferred thereby committed after the date of the licence and, in awarding damages or granting any other relief in any such proceedings, the Court shall take into consideration any loss suffered or likely to be suffered by the exclusive licensee as such or, as the case maybe, the profits earned by means of the infringement so far as it constitutes an infringement of the rights of the exclusive licensee as such.

(2) In any proceedings taken by the holder of an exclusive licence by virtue of this section, the grantee of the certificate of registration of the patent shall, unless he is joined as plaintiff in the proceedings, be added as defendant:

Provided that a grantee so added as defendant shall not be liable for any costs unless he enters an appearance and takes part in the proceedings.

REMEDY FOR GROUNDLESS THREATS OF INFRINGEMENT PROCEEDINGS

15. (1) Where any person, whether entitled to or interested in the registration of a patent or of an application for a patent or not, by circulars, advertisements or otherwise threatens any other person with proceedings for infringement of the privileges or rights conferred by the registration of a patent, any person aggrieved thereby may bring an action against him for any such relief as is mentioned in the next following subsection.

(2) Unless in any action brought by virtue of this section the defendant proves that the acts in respect of which proceedings were threatened constitute or, if done, would constitute an infringement of the privileges or rights conferred by the registration of a patent, the plaintiff shall be entitled to the following relief, that is to say-

- (a) a declaration to the effect that the threats are unjustifiable;
- (b) an injunction against the continuance of the threats; and
- (c) such damages, if any, as he has sustained thereby.

(3) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that a mere notification of the existence of a certificate of registration of a patent or of an application for a patent does not constitute a threat of proceedings within the meaning of this section.

16. (1) Where an application for a patent has been registered under section 8 of this Act and such application has been refused in the country of principal registration, the Supreme Court shall, upon application by any interested person or the Registrar revoke the registration and the registration to which it related shall be deemed to have ceased to have force and effect from the date of such refusal.

(2) The Supreme Court shall have power, upon the application of any person who alleges that his interests have been prejudicially affected by the registration of a patent or of an application for a patent, to declare on any of the grounds upon which a United Kingdom patent might be revoked under the law in force in the United Kingdom at the commencement of this Act that the exclusive licence, power, privilege and authority conferred by such registration have not been acquired and to revoke the registration:

Provided that no application may be made under this subsection on any ground on which the registration might have been opposed under section 7 of this Act;

And provided further that, where the Court considers that the applicant has been dilatory in taking proper steps to protect his interests and that the revocation of the registration is likely to cause an unreasonable loss to the person to whom the certificate of registration has been issued, it may-

- (a) refuse to exercise its powers under this subsection; or
- (b) make the exercise of its powers conditional upon the payment of compensation for such loss by the applicant to the person to whom the certificate of registration has been issued.

(3) Where any person claims to have such an interest in any patent registered under section 8 of this Act that, if it had not already been registered, he would have been entitled to apply for its registration, the Supreme Court may, upon his application, annul the certificate of registration issued upon the registration and direct the Registrar to issue a new certificate of registration jointly to the applicant and the person to whom the original certificate was issued, or his executors, administrators or assigns. A certificate issued by the Registrar pursuant to a direction of the Supreme Court under this subsection shall bear the date of the registration of the patent or the application to which it relates and shall, for all purposes, be deemed to have been issued on that date.
