    - (i) the period that the CFC is a party to the financial arrangement;
    - (ii) a period predictable in advance during which the CFC is a party to the financial arrangement.

EX 20D Adjustment of cost fraction for excessively debt funded CFC

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of the item (the cost fraction) in section EX 20C(11) to a CFC that is excessively debt funded under subsection (2) in relation to a person (the interest holder) with an income interest in the CFC.

Excessive debt funding

- (2) A CFC is excessively debt funded under this section if—

- (a) the amount (the CFC's debt-asset ratio) calculated using the formula in subsection (4) is more than 0.75; and
- (b) the amount (the CFC's relative debt-asset ratio) given by section EX 20E is more than 1.10.

Calculations for CFC

- (3) For the purposes of subsections (4) to (8), the debts and assets of the CFC are determined under sections FE 8 to FE 11 (which contain rules for determining the apportionment of interest) as if the CFC were—
  - (a) an excess debt outbound company; and
  - (b) the only member of the CFC's New Zealand group.

Formula for debt-asset ratio of CFC

- (4) The formula for the CFC's debt-asset ratio referred to in subsection (2)(a) is—

$$\frac{\text{total CFC's debts} - \text{group funding}}{\text{total CFC's assets} - \text{group funding}}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) The items in the formula in subsection (4) are defined in subsections (6) to (8).

Total CFC's debts

- (6) Total CFC's debts is the total amount for the CFC and the accounting period, determined under generally accepted accounting practice, of the outstanding balances of—
  - (a) financial arrangements entered by the CFC, each of which—
    - (i) provides funds to the CFC; and
    - (ii) gives rise to an amount for which the CFC would have a deduction:
  - (b) fixed-rate foreign equity that is issued by the CFC and held by a company that is a New Zealand resident, a CFC, or a FIF for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method:
  - (c) shares issued by the CFC in relation to which the CFC makes deductible foreign equity distributions to a company that is a New Zealand resident, a CFC, or a FIF for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method.

Group funding

- (7) Group funding is—
- (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply, zero; or
  - (b) if the interest holder chooses to rely on this paragraph and the item total CFC's assets is greater than the item total CFC's debts, the lesser of the item total CFC's debts and the total amount of outstanding balances for financial arrangements—
    - (i) under which the CFC provides funds to another CFC that is associated with the CFC under section YB 2 (Two companies) or to a FIF for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method and that is associated with the CFC under section YB 2; and
    - (ii) which produce for the CFC an amount included in the item arrangement under section EX 20B(4).

Total CFC's assets

- (8) Total CFC's assets is the total value of the CFC's assets determined under generally accepted accounting practice.

Cost fraction for excessively debt funded CFC

- (9) For a CFC that is excessively debt funded, the item cost fraction for the purposes of this section is the amount calculated using the formula in subsection (10) and determining the debts and assets of a CFC under sections FE 8 to FE 11 as if the CFC were—
- (a) an excess debt outbound company; and
  - (b) the only member of the CFC's New Zealand group.

Formula for cost fraction

- (10) The formula for the CFC's cost fraction is—
- $$\frac{\text{attributable foreign company assets}}{\text{total foreign company assets.}}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (11) The items in the formula in subsection (10) are defined in subsections (12) and (13).

Attributable foreign company assets

- (12) Attributable foreign company assets is the total value of assets, consolidated under generally accepted accounting practice for the accounting period, of all the interest holder's CFCs and of all the FIFs for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method, to the extent to which each asset is—
- (a) used for the purpose of deriving an attributable CFC amount or an amount that is included in net attributable FIF income or loss; and
  - (b) not used for the purpose of deriving an amount other than an amount referred to in paragraph (a).

Total foreign company assets

- (13) Total foreign company assets is the total value of assets, consolidated under generally accepted accounting practice for the accounting period, of all the interest holder's CFCs and of all the FIFs for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method.

EX 21 Attributable CFC amount and net attributable CFC income or loss: calculation rules

Calculation rules for CFC

- (1) The rules in this section apply for the purposes of—
- (a) calculating the attributable CFC amount for a CFC under section EX 20B;
  - (b) calculating the net attributable CFC income or loss for a CFC under section EX 20C;
  - (c) determining under section EX 21D whether a CFC is a non-attributing active CFC.

Calculation rules for test group of CFCs

- (1B) For the purpose of determining under section EX 21D whether a member of a group of CFCs is a non-attributing active CFC,—
- (a) the consolidated annual gross income of the group is calculated under the rules in this section; and
  - (b) the consolidated attributable CFC amount of the group is calculated under the rules in this section.

CFC treated as New Zealand resident

- (2) The rules in this Act are applied as if the CFC were always a New Zealand resident.

Modifications to rules

- (3) However, the rules in the Act are modified for the purposes of the calculation by the following subsections.

Conversion to New Zealand dollars

- (4) The taxpayer must choose—
- (a) for all the calculations to be done in New Zealand dollars; or
  - (b) for all the calculations to be done in the currency of the CFC's financial accounts; and if the CFC has no financial accounts, the currency used is that of the CFC's country of residence, the result being then converted into New Zealand dollars at the average of the close of trading spot exchange rates for the 15th day of each complete month that falls in the period.

Consent for change of currency

- (5) Having chosen a currency, the taxpayer must use the same currency for calculating attributable CFC amount and net attributable CFC income or loss attributable to the CFC for each later consecutive accounting period, unless the Commissioner allows the taxpayer to choose again.

Change for commercial purpose

- (6) The Commissioner may consent to a change under subsection (5) only if satisfied that—
- (a) the taxpayer's main purpose in changing is a commercial one, and for this purpose, the reducing of tax is not a commercial purpose; and
  - (b) the change does not have an effect of defeating the intent and application of subpart CQ (Attributed income from foreign equity) or DN (Attributed losses from foreign equity) or this subpart.

New Zealand currency for financial arrangements

- (7) Despite subsections (4) to (6), New Zealand currency calculations must be used to calculate that part of the attributable CFC amount and net attributable CFC income or loss arising from financial arrangements if—
- (a) the total value of financial arrangements to which the CFC is a party is more than $1,000,000 at any time during the relevant accounting period, applying section EW 17(2)(b) (Straight-line method) to measure the values; or

- (b) the CFC's total net foreign exchange loss attributable to financial arrangements, calculated under subsections (4) to (6) for the accounting period, is more than $100,000.

Limit to subsection (7)

- (8) Subsection (7) does not apply to a financial arrangement if—
  - (a) it is a variable principal debt instrument; and
  - (b) all the rights and obligations of all the parties to the financial arrangement are expressed in the currency chosen under subsection (4)(b); and
  - (c) no other party to the financial arrangement is associated with the CFC; and
  - (d) no person enters into the financial arrangement under an arrangement that has a purpose of defeating the application of subsection (7).

Opening cost base: tangible assets: first period

- (9) If the taxpayer had no attributed CFC income or loss from the CFC for the previous accounting period, the taxpayer must choose whether to measure the cost base at the start of an accounting period of premises, plant, machinery, equipment, and trading stock of the CFC at—
  - (a) historical cost minus any accumulated amounts of depreciation loss, or another value used by the CFC as the starting value for the period for income tax calculations in the country in which the CFC is resident, but only if the value is below market value; or
  - (b) the starting value that would be used under this Act if the CFC had always been a New Zealand resident.

Opening cost base: tangible assets: later periods

- (10) If the taxpayer had attributed CFC income or loss from the CFC for the previous period, the cost base at the start of an accounting period of premises, plant, machinery, equipment, and trading stock of the CFC is the closing value at the end of the previous period used to calculate the income or loss.

Opening cost base: financial arrangements: first period

- (11) If the taxpayer had no attributed CFC income or loss from the CFC for the previous accounting period, the taxpayer must choose to calculate the consideration under the financial arrangements rules for a financial arrangement at the start of an accounting period, at—
- (a) the market value of the financial arrangement; or
  - (b) the absolute value calculated using the formula—consideration paid to the CFC + expenditure – consideration paid by the CFC – income.

Definition of items in formula

- (12) In the formula,—
- (a) consideration paid to the CFC is the consideration paid to the CFC for all periods before the accounting period:
  - (b) expenditure is expenditure that would have been incurred under the financial arrangements rules for all periods before the accounting period if the CFC had been resident in New Zealand:
  - (c) consideration paid by the CFC is the consideration paid by the CFC for all periods before the accounting period:
  - (d) income is income that would have been derived under the financial arrangements rules for all periods before the accounting period if the CFC had been resident in New Zealand.

- (13) The following provisions do not apply:
- (a) the consolidation rules:
  - (b) section CB 27 (Income equalisation schemes) and subparts DQ (Income equalisation schemes and environmental restoration accounts schemes) and EH (Income equalisation schemes):
  - (c) sections CD 45 to CD 52 (which relate to the CFC attributed repatriation calculation rules) or subpart CQ (Attributed income from foreign equity) or DN (Attributed losses from foreign equity) or this subpart to the extent to which any of the sections or subparts would result in attributed CFC income, attributed CFC loss, or attributed repatriation for the CFC:

  - (d) the definitions in subpart YA (General definitions) that specifically apply for the purposes of those sections.

Transfer pricing rules

- (15) Sections GC 6 to GC 14 (which relate to transfer pricing arrangements between associated persons) apply only to a transaction that has a purpose or effect of defeating any of the jurisdictional ring-fencing rules for CFC losses and tax credits in—

- (a) section DN 4 (Ring-fencing cap on deduction):
- (b) section IQ 2 (Ring-fencing cap on attributed CFC net losses):

Benefits from money advanced

- (18) When section CC 7 (Consideration other than in money) is applied, the borrower is treated as if it carries on a business in New Zealand.

No tainting by association

- (19) Sections CB 9 to CB 13 (which relate to the disposal of land) and CV 1 (Group companies) do not apply to treat an amount derived by the CFC as income merely because of the activities of a person associated with the CFC if the associate is a non-resident.

Crown acquisition of land

- (20) The reference in section EI 8(1) (Disposal of land to the Crown) to the Crown includes any relevant government outside New Zealand.

Amount of depreciation loss recovered

- (21) When sections EE 48 to EE 52 (which relate to disposals and similar events) are applied, the CFC is treated as having had a deduction for an amount of depreciation loss, and to have an adjusted tax value accordingly, if an amount of depreciation loss has been deducted when calculating the CFC's branch equivalent income or loss for any period and the attributed CFC income or loss of any person.

GST and value-added taxes

- (22) When sections CX 1 (Goods and services tax), DB 2 (Goods and services tax), EE 45 (Consideration for purposes of section EE 44), EE 54 (Cost: GST), and EZ 17 (Additional amount of depreciation loss: between 16 December 1991 and 1 April 1994) are applied, references to output tax, input tax, or goods and services tax (GST) payable include a reference to the equivalent item arising under the value-added tax or other tax rules of a country or territory outside New Zealand if the rules have a similar intent and application to the New Zealand GST rules.

Government grants to businesses

- (23) When section DF 1 (Government grants to businesses) is applied, a reference to the New Zealand government includes a government outside New Zealand but, to the extent to which section DF 1 still does not apply to a grant or subsidy to the CFC from a government, the grant or subsidy is income of the CFC.

Subvention payments

- (24) If an amount is paid as consideration for the transfer of tax losses,—
- (a) it is income if derived by the CFC; and
  - (b) it is a deduction if—
    - (i) paid by the CFC to a person who is resident in the same country as the CFC and not a non-attributing active CFC; and
    - (ii) deductible under the taxation law of that country.

Life insurers

- (25) Subsection (26) applies if—
- (a) the CFC itself carries on the business of providing life insurance; or
  - (b) shares in the CFC are held, directly or indirectly, by a foreign company (the parent company, in subsection (26)) that carries on the business of providing life insurance and those shares have to be taken into account under sections EX 8 to EX 13 to calculate the taxpayer's income interest in the CFC.

Policyholders

- (26) If the test in subsection (25) is met, the life insurance rules do not apply and the net attributable CFC income or loss of the CFC is the amount actuarially determined to be the part of the CFC's net attributable CFC income or loss to which shareholders, and not policyholders in either the CFC or the parent company, are entitled.

When subsection (26) does not apply

- (27) Despite subsection (25), subsection (26) does not apply if the Commissioner—
- (a) considers that the amount calculated is not a reasonable reflection of the part attributable to shareholders; or
  - (b) has requested and not received sufficient information to enable the actuarial calculation to be reviewed.

Mineral mining activities

- (28) Sections CU 1 to CU 9, DU 1 to DU 12, IS 1, and IS 2 (which relate to mineral mining) apply, with any necessary modifications, if the CFC carries on activities outside New Zealand that are substantially the same as the mineral mining activities to which those sections apply.

Petroleum mining activities

- (29) Sections CT 1 to CT 3, CT 5, CX 42, CX 43, CZ 8, DT 1 to DT 15, DT 17 to DT 19, and IS 5 (which relate to petroleum mining) apply, with any necessary modifications, if the CFC carries on petroleum mining activities outside New Zealand that are substantially the same as the petroleum mining activities to which those sections apply.

Finance leases and specified leases

- (30) A lease entered into by the CFC before the start of the first accounting period in which the CFC is a CFC is neither a finance lease (subject to the financial arrangements rules and sections FA 6 to FA 11, which relate to finance leases), nor a specified lease (subject to sections FZ 2 to FZ 4, which relate to leases).

When subsection (30) does not apply

- (31) Subsection (30) does not apply if another party to the lease is a New Zealand resident, a CFC, or a FIF for which the taxpayer uses the attributable FIF income method.

Taxable distributions from non-complying trust

- (32) If the CFC gets a taxable distribution from a non-complying trust—
- (a) section HC 22 (Use of tax losses to reduce taxable distributions from non-complying trusts) does not apply; and
  - (b) the taxable distribution is not taken into account in calculating the CFC's net attributable CFC income or loss; and
  - (c) section EX 19 applies.

CFCs with interest in FIFs

- (33) If the CFC has rights in a FIF,—
- (a) the rights are not prevented from being an attributing interest of the CFC in a FIF merely because the notional New Zealand residence of the CFC under subsection (2) causes section EX 34 to apply; and
  - (b) the CFC's FIF income or loss is not taken into account in calculating the net attributable CFC income; and

  - (a) the amounts required to be included in the items are—
    - (i) amounts recognised in profit and loss under the equity method under whichever is appropriate of NZIAS 28, NZIAS 31, an equivalent IFRSE, and an equivalent standard or principle in the generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America:

- (ii) amounts recognised in profit or loss under proportionate consolidation under whichever is appropriate of NZIAS 31, an equivalent IFRSE, and an equivalent standard or principle in the generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America;

Application of CFC rules tax credit rules

- (8) The rules in sections LK 1 to LK 7 (which relate to tax credits for attributed CFC income) apply to allow the person to claim foreign tax credits but on the basis of the assumptions made in subsection (9). The rules in those sections allow foreign tax credits relating to attributed CFC income but apply a jurisdictional ring-fencing approach to the use of tax credits.

Assumptions in reading tax credit rules

- (9) Sections LK 1 to LK 7 are applied as if—
- (a) the FIF were a CFC; and
  - (b) the FIF income of the person from the FIF were attributed CFC income; and
  - (c) the person's income interest, calculated under subsection (4) were their relevant income interest for the purposes of those sections; and
  - (d) any relevant person's FIF income calculated under the attributable FIF income method from a FIF that is resident in the relevant country were attributed CFC income.

Reduction in FIF loss to economic loss

- (10) In the cases described in subsections (11) and (12), the amount of any FIF loss calculated under subsections (1) and (6) is reduced to be equal to the person's corresponding economic loss, if any.

Application of subsection (10): no economic loss

- (11) Subsection (10) applies if the person suffers no, or substantially no, economic loss corresponding to the FIF loss, whether because of a call option, a put option, or any other reason.

Application of subsection (10): FIF loss excessive

- (12) Subsection (10) also applies if the amount of FIF loss is more than any corresponding economic loss suffered by the person, whether because of the application of the rules for calculating the person's income interest or any other reason.

EX 51 Comparative value method

Formula

- (1) If a person is using the comparative value method to calculate FIF income or loss from an attributing interest in a FIF, the

FIF income or loss from that interest for the relevant income year is calculated using the formula—

(closing value + gains) – (opening value + costs).

Definition of items in formula

- (2) The items in the formula are defined in subsections (3) to (6).

Closing value

- (3) Closing value is the market value of the person's interest in the FIF at the end of the income year. The value is zero if the person has disposed of the interest or is then applying another calculation method to it.

Gains

- (4) Gains is the total of all amounts that the person derives during the income year from holding or disposing of the interest. The amounts include any foreign withholding tax or other amount that the person is allowed as a credit under section LE 1 (Tax credits for imputation credits) or LJ 2 (Tax credits for foreign income tax).

Opening value

- (5) Opening value is the market value of the person's interest in the FIF at the end of the previous income year, calculated using the exchange rate applying under section EX 57 for that previous year. The value is zero if the person did not hold the interest then or was then applying another calculation method to it.

Costs

- (6) Costs is the total for the income year of—
- (a) all expenditure, if any, that the person incurs in acquiring or increasing the interest:
  - (b) income tax on the income of the FIF—
    - (i) for which the person is liable under the laws of a country or territory outside New Zealand; and
    - (ii) paid by the person in the income year.

Losses from some attributing interests not subject to rule

- (7) Subsection (8) applies to a person who calculates under subsection (1) an amount of FIF loss for an attributing interest in a FIF (the affected interest) that is not a non-ordinary share described in section EX 46(10).

No total FIF loss from other attributing interests

- (8) If, in the absence of this subsection, the person would have under subsection (1) a total FIF loss for the income year from all the person's affected interests, the FIF loss for the income year for the person from each affected interest is reduced to the extent necessary for the total FIF loss from the affected interests to be zero.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributing interest, calculation method, comparative value method, FIF, FIF income, FIF loss, foreign company, foreign withholding tax, income year, loss, market value, pay, tax

EX 52 Fair dividend rate method: usual method

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when a person—
- (a) calculates FIF income from an attributing interest in a FIF for an income year under the fair dividend rate method; and
  - (b) is neither—
    - (i) a unit-valuing fund that is subject to section EX 53; nor

- (ii) another person that determines the market value of the attributing interest for each period of a day in the income year and that chooses to apply the method in section EX 53.

FIF income

- (2) The person's total FIF income for the income year from the attributing interests in FIFs (the FDR interests) for which the person uses the fair dividend rate method is calculated using the formula in subsection (3).

FIF income formula

- (3) The formula is—
  - (0.05 × opening value) + quick sale adjustment.

Definition of items in FIF income formula

- (4) The items in the FIF income formula in subsection (3) are defined in subsections (5) to (7).

Opening value

- (5) Opening value is the total of the market values of the FDR interests that—
  - (a) the person holds at the start of the income year; and
  - (b) are not, at the beginning of the income year, included in a direct income interest of 10% or more in a FIF that, at the beginning of the year,—
    - (i) meets the requirements of section EX 35(b)(i) to (iii); and
    - (ii) does not have its liability for income tax reduced by an exemption, allowance, or relief referred to in section EX 35(c)(i) or (ii).

Exclusion for certain managed funds

- (5B) Subsection (5)(b) does not apply if—
  - (a) the person is a portfolio investment entity, an entity eligible to be a portfolio investment entity, or a life insurance company; and
  - (b) the FIF is a foreign PIE equivalent.

When quick sale adjustment required

- (6) The quick sale adjustment is required, and is not zero, only if the person, in the income year,—

- (a) acquires or increases an FDR interest to which this section applies; and
- (b) later disposes of or reduces the FDR interest.

Quick sale adjustment

- (7) Quick sale adjustment is the lesser of—
- (a) the total of the amounts (the peak holding method amount) calculated for each FDR interest using the formula in subsection (8):
  - (b) the total of the amounts (the quick sale gain amount) calculated for each FDR interest using the formula in subsection (12), treating a negative total as being zero.

Peak holding method amount formula

- (8) The formula is—
- $$0.05 \times \text{peak holding differential} \times \text{average cost.}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (9) The items in the formula in subsection (8) are defined in subsections (10) and (11).

Peak holding differential

- (10) Peak holding differential is,—
- (a) if no share reorganisation occurs in the income year, the lesser of—
    - (i) the difference between the greatest shareholding in the year and the shareholding at the start of the year;
    - (ii) the difference between the greatest shareholding in the year and the shareholding at the end of the year; or
  - (b) if a share reorganisation occurs in the income year, the amount calculated under section EX 54 for the year.

Average cost

- (11) Average cost is—
- (a) if no share reorganisation occurs in the income year, the total amount of expenditure that the person incurs in acquiring or increasing during the income year the attributing interest in the FIF divided by the total for the year of the shareholding increase in the attributing interest in the FIF for each acquisition or increase; or

- (b) if a share reorganisation occurs in the income year, the amount calculated under section EX 54 for the year.

Quick sale gain amount formula

- (12) The formula, for each acquisition or increase in the attributing interest that is disposed of or reduced in the income year, is—gain – (interest × average cost).

- (13) In the formula in subsection (12),—
- (a) gain is the total amount that the person derives from holding or disposing of the acquisition or increase:
- (b) interest is the amount of the shareholding acquisition or increase:
- (c) average cost is,—
- (i) if no share reorganisation occurs in the income year, the total amount of expenditure that the person incurs in acquiring or increasing the attributing interest in the FIF divided by the total for the income year of the shareholding increase in the interest for each acquisition or increase; or
- (ii) if a share reorganisation occurs in the income year, the amount calculated under section EX 54 for the year.

LIFO for identifying attributing interests disposed of

- (14) For the purposes of subsection (12), attributing interests in a FIF are treated as being disposed of in the reverse order of their acquisition (last in-first out).

Treatment of transaction under section EX 63 or EX 67

- (14B) For the purposes of subsection (7), if the person is treated as disposing of or acquiring an attributing interest in an income year under section EX 63(5) or EX 67, the disposal or acquisition is ignored.

Treatment of attributing interests subject to returning share transfer

- (14C) If an attributing interest in a FIF is an original share subject to a returning share transfer, for the purposes of a person using the fair dividend rate method to calculate FIF income, the attributing interest is treated as held by the share supplier.

Meaning of shareholding

- (15) In this section, shareholding means the number of shares or units in an attributing interest.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributing interest, direct income interest, fair dividend rate method, FIF, FIF income, foreign PIE equivalent, income year, investor, life insurance, market value, original share, portfolio investment entity, returning share transfer, share, shareholding, share reorganisation, share supplier

EX 53 Fair dividend rate method for unit-valuing funds and others by choice

When this section applies: first case

- (1) This section applies when a person—
- (a) calculates FIF income from an attributing interest in a FIF for an income year under the fair dividend rate method; and
  - (b) is a unit trust or other entity (the fund) that—
    - (i) makes investments for the benefits of other persons (the investors); and
    - (ii) assigns each investor an interest (the unit) in a proportion of the net returns from the investments; and
    - (iii) determines the value of the investor's units for each of a number of periods (the unit valuation periods) making up the income year.

When this section applies: second case

- (1B) This section applies also when a person—
- (a) calculates FIF income from an attributing interest in a FIF for an income year under the fair dividend rate method; and
  - (b) the person is not subject to subsection (1); and
  - (c) the person—
    - (i) determines the market value of the attributing interest for each period of a day (the unit valuation period) in the income year; and
    - (ii) chooses that this section applies.

FIF income

- (2) The total FIF income for the income year of the fund or person (the interest holder) from the attributing interests in FIFs (the FDR interests) for which the fund or person uses the fair dividend rate method is the total of the amounts calculated using the formula in subsection (3) for each unit valuation period.

Formula

(3) The formula is—

$$(0.05 \times \text{opening value} \times \frac{\text{period}}{\text{year}}) + \text{quick sale adjustment.}$$

Definition of items in formula

(4) The items in the formula in subsection (3) are defined in subsections (5) to (15).

Opening value

(5) Opening value is the total of the market values of the FDR interests that—

- (a) the interest holder holds at the start of the unit valuation period; and
- (b) are not, at the beginning of the income year, included in a direct income interest of 10% or more in a FIF that, at the beginning of the year,—
  - (i) meets the requirements of section EX 35(b)(i) to (iii); and
  - (ii) does not have its liability for income tax reduced by an exemption, allowance, or relief referred to in section EX 35(c)(i) or (ii).

Exclusion for certain managed funds

(5B) Subsection (5)(b) does not apply if—

- (a) the interest holder is a portfolio investment entity, an entity eligible to be a portfolio investment entity, or a life insurance company; and
- (b) the FIF is a foreign PIE equivalent.

Period

(6) Period is the number of days in the unit valuation period.

Year

(7) Year is the number of days in the income year.

When quick sale adjustment required

(8) The quick sale adjustment is required, and is not zero, only if the interest holder has a unit valuation period of more than 1 day and, in the unit valuation period,—

- (a) acquires or increases an FDR interest to which this section applies; and
- (b) later disposes of or reduces the FDR interest.

- (9) Quick sale adjustment is the lesser of—
  - (a) the total of the amounts (the peak holding method amount) calculated for each FDR interest using the formula in subsection (10):
  - (b) the total of the amounts (the quick sale gain amount) calculated for each FDR interest using the formula in subsection (14), treating a negative total as being zero.

Peak holding method amount formula

- (10) The formula is—
$$0.05 \times \text{peak holding differential} \times \text{average cost}.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (11) The items in the formula in subsection (10) are defined in subsections (12) and (13).

Peak holding differential

- (12) Peak holding differential is,—
  - (a) if no share reorganisation occurs in the unit valuation period, the lesser of—
    - (i) the difference between the greatest shareholding in the period and the shareholding at the start of the period:
    - (ii) the difference between the greatest shareholding in the period and the shareholding at the end of the period; or
  - (b) if a share reorganisation occurs in the period, the amount calculated under section EX 54 for the period.

- (13) Average cost is—
  - (a) if no share reorganisation occurs in the unit valuation period, the total amount of expenditure that the interest holder incurs in acquiring or increasing during the period the attributing interest in the FIF divided by the total for the period of the shareholding increase in the attributing interest in the FIF for each acquisition or increase; or

- (b) if a share reorganisation occurs in the period, the amount calculated under section EX 54 for the period.

Quick sale gain amount formula

- (14) The formula, for each acquisition or increase in the attributing interest that is disposed of or reduced in the unit valuation period, is—

$$\text{gain} - (\text{interest} \times \text{average cost}).$$

- (15) In the formula in subsection (14),—
- (a) gain is the total amount that the interest holder derives from holding or disposing of the acquisition or increase:
  - (b) interest is the amount of the shareholding acquisition or increase:
  - (c) average cost is the total amount of expenditure that the interest holder incurs in acquiring or increasing the attributing interest in the FIF divided by the total for the period of the shareholding increase in the interest for each acquisition or increase.

LIFO for identifying attributing interests disposed of

- (16) For the purposes of subsection (14), attributing interests in a FIF are treated as being disposed of in the reverse order of their acquisition (last in-first out).

Deemed transaction under section EX 67 ignored

- (16B) For the purposes of subsection (9), if the person is treated as disposing of or acquiring an attributing interest in an income year under section EX 67, the disposal or acquisition is ignored.

Treatment of attributing interests subject to returning share transfer

- (16C) If an attributing interest in a FIF is an original share subject to a returning share transfer, for the purposes of a person using the fair dividend rate method to calculate FIF income, the attributing interest is treated as held by the share supplier.

Meaning of shareholding

- (17) In this section, shareholding means the number of shares or units in an attributing interest.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributing interest, direct income interest, fair dividend rate method, FIF, FIF income, foreign PIE equivalent, income year, investor, life insurance, market value, New Zealand, original share, portfolio investment entity, returning share transfer, share, share reorganisation, share supplier unit valuation period

EX 54 Fair dividend rate method and cost method: when periods affected by share reorganisations

Relevant items and formulas

- (1) This section provides for the calculation, for an income year or unit valuation period (the affected period) in which a share reorganisation occurs, of the following:
  - (a) the item peak holding differential for the purposes of the formulas in sections EX 52(8), EX 53(10), and EX 56(15):
  - (b) the item average cost for the purposes of the formulas in sections EX 52(8), EX 52(12), EX 53(10) and EX 56(5) and (15):
  - (c) the item increase for the purposes of the formula in section EX 56(5).

Identifying reorganisation periods

- (2) For the purposes of calculating the items for an affected period under this section,—
  - (a) the affected period is treated as consisting of periods (the reorganisation periods) that do not overlap:
  - (b) a reorganisation period—
    - (i) begins with the start of the affected period and immediately before each share reorganisation in the affected period; and

- (ii) ends immediately before each share reorganisation in the affected period and at the end of the affected period.

Identifying equivalent shareholdings

- (3) For the purposes of calculating the items for an affected period under this section,—
  - (a) the amount of the attributing interest in the FIF held by the person at any time (the comparison time) in a reorganisation period, is treated as being the amount (the equivalent shareholding) of the attributing interest in the FIF that the person would hold at the end of the affected period if, after the comparison time, the person did not increase or reduce the attributing interest in the FIF except under share reorganisations occurring in the affected period:
  - (b) the amount of an acquisition or increase (the acquired shareholding) by the person of the attributing interest in the FIF other than under a share reorganisation is treated as being the amount (the equivalent acquired shareholding) equal to the difference between—
    - (i) the equivalent shareholding for the time of the acquisition or increase; and
    - (ii) the amount that would be the equivalent shareholding for the time of the acquisition or increase if the person were not to have the acquired shareholding.

Peak holding differential

- (4) The item peak holding differential, for a person and an affected period, is the lesser of the following:
  - (a) the difference between the equivalent shareholding that is the greatest for the affected period and the equivalent shareholding at the start of the affected period:
  - (b) the difference between the equivalent shareholding that is the greatest for the affected period and the equivalent shareholding at the end of the affected period.

Average cost

- (5) The item average cost, for a person and an affected period, is the total amount of expenditure that the person incurs during the affected period in acquiring or increasing the attributing interest in the FIF divided by the total for the affected period of the equivalent acquired shareholding for each acquisition or increase.

Increase

- (6) The item increase, for a person and an affected period, is the difference between the equivalent shareholding at the start of the affected period and the equivalent shareholding at the start of the period before the affected period.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributing interest, FIF, income year, share re-organisation unit valuation period

Compare: 2004 No 35 s EX 44E

Section EX 54(1)(b): amended (with effect on 1 April 2008), on 29 August 2011 (applying for income years beginning on or after 1 April 2008), by section 41(1) of the Taxation (Tax Administration and Remedial Matters) Act 2011 (2011 No 63).

EX 55 Deemed rate of return method

Formula changes if interest changes

- (1) If a person is using the deemed rate of return method to calculate FIF income or loss from an attributing interest in a FIF for an income year, the FIF income or loss is calculated—
- by the formula in subsection (3) (the standard formula) if the person has held the interest unchanged throughout the income year; and
  - by totalling the amounts calculated by the formula in subsection (5) (the part-year formula) for each part of the income year during which the interest is unchanged, in any other case.

When interest changes

- (2) A person's attributing interest in a FIF changes during an income year if the person—
- acquires or increases the interest; or
  - disposes of or reduces the interest, but merely receiving an annuity payment from the interest is not a disposal or reduction.

Standard formula

- (3) The standard formula is—opening book value × deemed rate.

Definition of items in standard formula

- (4) In the standard formula,—
- (a) opening book value is the book value of the interest at the end of the previous income year, calculated under subsection (7):
  - (b) deemed rate is the rate set by the Governor-General by Order in Council for this section for the relevant income year.

Part-year formula

- (5) The part-year formula is—

$$(\text{opening book value} + \text{costs}) \times (\text{deemed rate} \times \frac{\text{days}}{365})$$

Definition of items in part-year formula

- (6) In the part-year formula,—
- (a) opening book value is the book value, if any, of the interest at the end of the period before the part of the income year, calculated under subsection (7):
  - (b) costs is the total for the part of the income year of—
    - (i) all expenditure, if any, that the person incurs in acquiring or increasing the interest:
    - (ii) income tax on the income of the FIF for which the person is liable under the laws of a country or territory outside New Zealand and which is paid by the person in the part of the income year:
  - (c) deemed rate is the rate set by the Governor-General by Order in Council for this section for the relevant income year:
  - (d) days is the number of days in the part of the income year; and for this purpose, an acquisition or increase is treated as occurring at the start of a day, and a disposition or reduction is treated as occurring at the end of a day.

Closing book value formula

- (7) The book value, at the end of an income year or, in a case in which subsection (5) applies, a part of an income year, of an attributing interest of a person in a FIF under the deemed rate of return method is, unless subsection (9) applies, calculated using the formula (the closing book value formula)—

(opening book value + costs
+ deemed income + top-up amounts) – gains.

Definition of items in closing book value formula

- (8) In the closing book value formula,—
- (a) opening book value is the book value, if any, of the interest at the end of the previous income year or the part of the income year, calculated under subsection (7):
  - (b) costs is the total for the income year or part of the income year of—
    - (i) all expenditure, if any, that the person incurs in acquiring or increasing the interest:
    - (ii) income tax on the income of the FIF for which the person is liable under the laws of a country or territory outside New Zealand and which is paid by the person in the income year or part of the income year:
  - (c) deemed income is the FIF income from the interest for the year or the part of the income year calculated under subsection (3) or (5):
  - (d) top-up amounts is amounts, gains from holding or disposing of the interest, that are top-up FIF income in the year under section EX 60 or EX 61:
  - (e) gains is the total of all amounts that the person derives during the year or the part of the income year from holding or disposing of the interest; the amounts including any foreign withholding tax or other amount that the person is allowed as a credit under section LE 1 (Tax credits for imputation credits) or LJ 2 (Tax credits for foreign income tax).

Closing book value zero if changing method

- (9) The closing book value is always zero if the person is using a calculation method for the interest different from the deemed rate of return method at the end of the income year or, in a case to which subsection (5) applies, the part of the income year.

Top-up income if deemed rate inadequate

- (10) If the closing book value of a person's attributing interest in a FIF at the end of an income year or a part of an income year is below zero, the person has additional FIF income equal to the deficit for the relevant income year.

When subsection (10) does not apply

- (11) Subsection (10) does not apply if—
- (a) the person is a natural person; and
  - (b) at all times during the income year the total value of the person's attributing interests in FIFs is $250,000 or less, the value of each interest being—
    - (i) its book value, calculated under subsection (7), at the end of the previous income year, if the person held the interest then and used the deemed rate of return method to calculate FIF income for all attributing interests in the previous income year;
    - (ii) its market value, in any other case; and
  - (c) the deficit in closing book value arises only because the person disposed of some or all of the interest; and
  - (d) the gain that the person derived from disposing of the interest or part-interest is not income, or is income only to the extent to which it gives rise to FIF income.

Top-up income if gains more than deemed income

- (12) A person calculating FIF income under the deemed rate of return method can also have additional FIF income under section EX 60.

FIF income reduced on disposal if deemed rate excessive

- (13) If a person has disposed of the whole of an attributing interest in a FIF and the closing book value for the relevant income year or the part of the income year is more than zero, the excess is subtracted when the person's FIF income under the deemed rate of return method for the income year is calculated.

When subsection (13) does not apply

- (14) Subsection (13) does not apply if—
- (a) the person is a natural person; and
  - (b) at all times during the income year the total value of attributing interests in FIFs held by the person is $250,000 or less, the value of each interest being—
    - (i) its book value, calculated under subsection (7), at the end of the previous income year, if the person held the interest then and used the deemed rate

- of return method to calculate FIF income for all attributing interests in the previous income year:
- (ii) its market value, in any other case; and
  - (c) the gain that the person derived from disposing of the interest or part-interest is not income, or is income only to the extent to which it gives rise to FIF income.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributing interest, calculation method, deemed rate of return method, FIF, FIF income, foreign withholding tax, income, income year, loss, market value, pay, tax

Compare: 2004 No 35 s EX 45

Section EX 55(8)(e): amended (with effect on 1 April 2008), on 29 August 2011 (applying for the 2008–09 and later income years), by section 140(1) of the Taxation (Tax Administration and Remedial Matters) Act 2011 (2011 No 63).

EX 56 Cost method

Cost method formula

- (1) If a person is using the cost method to calculate FIF income or loss from an attributing interest in a FIF for an income year, the person's total FIF income from their attributing interests in the FIF for the income year is calculated using the formula—$(0.05 \times \text{opening value}) + \text{quick sale adjustment}$ .

Definition of items in formula

- (2) The items in the formula in subsection (1) are defined in subsections (3) to (18).

Opening value

- (3) Opening value is the total of the market values of the person's attributing interests in the FIF, being—
  - (a) zero, if the relevant income year is the year in which the person acquires an attributing interest in the FIF; or
  - (ab) the amount that is shown as the net asset value of the interest in audited financial statements of the person for the relevant income year made available to the general public, if—
    - (i) paragraph (a) does not apply; and
    - (ii) the FIF makes available to the general public audited financial statements for its accounting year ending in the relevant income year; and
    - (iii) the person chooses that this paragraph applies; or
  - (ac) the amount of the cost of the interest, if—

- (i) paragraphs (a) and (ab) do not apply; and
- (ii) the person acquires the interest in the 2005–06 or 2006–07 income year; and
- (iii) the interest was not an attributing interest for the income year before the relevant income year; or.
- (b) the amount of an independent valuation of the market value of the interest at the start of the relevant income year, if paragraphs (a), (ab) and (ac) do not apply and the person holds the interest at the start of the relevant income year, and—
  - (i) the interest was not an attributing interest for which the person has FIF income or loss for the income year before the relevant income year;
  - (ii) the person has used the cost method for the interest for a period of 4 or more income years ending before the relevant income year and has not applied this paragraph to the interest for any of those income years; or
- (c) the amount calculated using the formula in subsection (4), if paragraphs (a), (ab), (ac), and (b) do not apply and the person's shareholding (the current opening shareholding) at the start of the relevant income year is the same as the person's shareholding (the preceding opening shareholding) at the start of the preceding income year; or

  - (b) the person is using one of the following calculation methods (the relevant method) to calculate their FIF income or loss from the interest for the income year:
    - (i) the comparative value method;
    - (ii) the fair dividend rate method;
    - (iii) the deemed rate of return method;
    - (iv) the cost method.

Choosing conversion rates

- (2) The person must choose either that—
- (a) each foreign currency amount in the income year is converted into New Zealand dollars using the exchange rate on the day for which the market value is determined or on which the amount is derived or incurred; or
  - (b) all foreign currency amounts in the income year are converted into New Zealand dollars at the average of the close of trading spot exchange rates for the 15th day of each month that falls in the income year.

Election applying method-wide and for future years

- (3) The election by the person must be applied for all attributing interests for which they use the relevant method for the income year and each later income year.

  - (b) is calculating the FIF income or loss from the interest using the deemed rate of return method; and
  - (c) derives in the period, from holding or disposing of the interest, an amount that would have been income if section EX 59(2) had not applied.

Formula

- (2) The gain is FIF income to the extent to which the amount calculated using the following formula is positive:
total income gains – total FIF income.

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula,—
  - (a) total income gains is the total of amounts, including the amount in question, derived by the person until that time from holding or disposing of the interest that would have been income if section EX 59(2) had not applied:

Consequence of partial sales

- (4) If the person disposes of part of the interest, this section applies to the part disposed of and the part retained as if they were separate interests. If this means that an apportionment is necessary, it must be done on the basis of the respective market values at the time the part interest is disposed of.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributing interest, deemed rate of return method, FIF, FIF income, FIF loss, income, loss, market value

- (2) The gain is FIF income to the extent to which the amount calculated using the following formula is positive:
total income gains – total FIF income.

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula,—
  - (a) total income gains is the total of amounts, including the amount in question, that the person derived until that time from holding or disposing of the interest that would have been income if section EX 59(2) had not applied:
  - (b) total FIF income is the total of FIF income, reduced by the total of any FIF losses, that the person derived from the interest until, and including, the relevant period.

Consequence of partial sales

- (4) If the person disposes of part of the interest, this section applies to the part disposed of and the part retained as if they were separate interests. If this means that an apportionment is necessary, it must be done on the basis of the respective market values at the time the part interest is disposed of.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributing interest, comparative value method, deemed rate of return method, FIF, FIF income, FIF loss, income, market value

Changing calculation methodEX 62 Limits on changes of methodNo change unless allowed

Change on practical grounds

- (2) The person may change if it is not practical to continue with the same method because—
- (a) in the case of the accounting profits method,—
    - (i) section EX 46(2) is repealed;
    - (ii) before the date of the repeal of section EX 46(2), that section prevents its continued use or it is impossible to obtain enough information to continue to use it;

    - (ii) it is impossible to find out the end-of-year market value of the interest;
  - (d) [Repealed]
  - (e) in the case of the deemed rate of return method, the person is required by section EX 47 to use the comparative value method;
  - (f) in the case of the fair dividend rate method, it is impossible to find out the start-of-year market value of the interest except by an independent valuation;
  - (g) in the case of the cost method, section EX 46(9) prevents its continued use.

Choosing to change

- (3) The person may also change by notice to the Commissioner if—
- (a) the notice complies with subsection (4); and

- (b) either—

  - (d) in the case of a natural person relying on the $250,000 threshold test in subsection (3)(b)(i), be given before the end of the year or period that is before the one from the end of which the change takes effect.

Natural person: $250,000 threshold

- (5) A natural person may make an election under subsection (3) if the total market value of their attributing interests in FIFs is $250,000 or less at the end of the income year or accounting period before the year or period from the end of which the change takes effect.

Changing to or from the attributable FIF income method

- (6) A person may make an election under subsection (3) to change to or from the attributable FIF income method if—
  - (a) they are changing from the branch equivalent method;

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when—
- (a) a person inherited, before 1 April 2007, an interest in a FIF that was a grey list company when the interest was inherited; and
  - (b) the cost of the interest for the person is equal to zero.

Treatment as disposal and reacquisition

- (2) The person is treated as having—
- (a) disposed of the interest immediately before this section applied to the person and the interest; and
  - (b) reacquired the interest as soon as this section applied to the person and the interest; and
  - (c) received for the disposal and paid for the reacquisition an amount equal to the market value of the interest at the time of the disposal.

Cost of inherited interest for purposes of tax liability

- (3) For determining a tax liability of the person arising from the disposal, the cost of the interest for the person at the time of the inheritance is treated as being the lesser of—
- (a) the market value of the interest at the time of the inheritance;
  - (b) the market value of the interest at the time of the disposal.

Payment of tax liability arising from revaluation

- (4) A person who is liable to pay an amount of income tax (the amount of tax) because of a disposal in an income year, and related acquisition, treated as occurring under this section—
- (a) may satisfy the liability by paying to the Commissioner—
    - (i) at least one third of the amount of tax in the income year following the income year in which the disposal is treated as occurring; and

Section EX 67B: inserted, on 7 May 2012, by section 47 of the Taxation (International Investment and Remedial Matters) Act 2012 (2012 No 34).

Measurement of cost

EX 68 Measurement of cost

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when the cost of a person's attributing interest in a FIF is being measured for the purposes of—
  - (a) the natural person $50,000 threshold in sections CQ 5(1)(d) or (e) (When FIF income arises) and DN 6(1)(d) or (e) (When FIF loss arises):
  - (b) the comparative value method:
  - (c) the deemed rate of return method:
  - (d) the fair dividend rate method:
  - (e) the cost method.

FIFO cost flow identification

- (2) If sections EX 52(14) and EX 53(16) do not apply and it is not possible to specifically identify the cost of the interest because of multiple acquisitions or dispositions or both by the person, the first-in-first-out (the FIFO) method of identifying cost flows is applied.

Definition of items in formula

- [Repealed]*
- (3) [Repealed]
- Share splits or similar*
- (4) If the person acquires the interest as the result of a share split, non-taxable bonus issue, or similar event, and the acquisition is not income for the person, subsections (5) and (6) apply.
- Allocation of original cost*
- (5) The cost of the interest is a fair allocation, based on market values at the time of the split, of the cost of the original property that is split.
- Allocation replacing original cost*
- (6) For the income year in which the split occurs and later,—
- (a) the cost allocated to the interest is no longer the cost of the original property that was split; and
  - (b) the person is treated as having incurred the allocated cost amount on acquiring the interest when the original property was acquired; and
  - (c) the person is treated as not incurring any other cost on the interest merely because the original property ceases to exist.
- Non-monetary cost*
- (7) If any cost is incurred in kind and not in money, the amount of the cost is equal to the market value of the cost incurred in kind, measured as at the time incurred.
- Exclusion of term life insurance element of premiums*
- (8) If the interest is rights to benefit under a life insurance policy, the cost of the interest excludes a premium incurred in an earlier income year, or accounting period, to the extent to which the premium relates only to term life insurance for the previous period and does not increase the policy's surrender value.
- Exclusion of holding costs*
- (9) The cost of the interest does not include any expenditure under the financial arrangements rules or interest on money borrowed to acquire it, or other holding costs, incurred after its acquisition.

Transitional rule: interests acquired before 1 January 2000

- (10) Subsection (11) applies, for the purposes of the $50,000 threshold in sections CQ 5(1)(d) or (e) and DN 6(1)(d) or (e), if—
- (a) the interest was acquired before 1 January 2000; and
  - (b) the person chooses, for the income year for which the relevant paragraph is applied or an earlier income year, that subsection (11) applies to all interests acquired before 1 January 2000.

Cost treated as half 1 April 2007 value

- (11) Despite subsections (1) to (9), the cost of the interest is treated as equal to half the market value of the interest on 1 April 2007.

Optional transitional rule: interests excluded by section EX 39 until 2012–13 income year

- (12) For interests that were acquired by the person before 1 January 2005 and excluded by section EX 39 from being attributing interests until the beginning of the 2012–13 income year, the person may choose to treat the cost of every interest as being the market value of the interest at the beginning of the 2012–13 income year, for the purposes of the $50,000 threshold in sections CQ 5(1)(d) or (e) and DN 6(1)(d) or (e).

Defined in this Act: accounting period, amount, attributing interest, comparative value method, cost method, deemed rate of return method, fair dividend rate method, FIF, financial arrangements rules, income, income year, interest, life insurance, life insurance policy, market value, non-taxable bonus issue, premium, share

  - (b) calculates their FIF income or loss from the FIF using the attributable FIF income method; and
  - (c) has calculated FIF income or loss from the FIF on the basis of 1 accounting year (the old accounting year); and
  - (d) wants to change to use a different accounting year (the new accounting year) for the calculations.

Commissioner's consent

- (2) The person may make the change only if the Commissioner agrees.

Commissioner's reasons

- (3) The Commissioner may take into account any relevant factors when making the decision, including—
  - (a) whether the change is sought because ownership of the FIF has changed; and
  - (b) whether the change is sought because of taxation or other legal requirements in a country where the FIF is resident or does business; and
  - (c) whether the change would postpone liability to income tax on FIF income.

New accounting year

- (4) If the change is approved, the person may use the new accounting year.

Limit on transitional deferral

- (5) If, in order to make the transition, the transitional accounting period is more than 1 year and ends in a later income year than the old accounting year ends in, and that would result in an amount of FIF income being derived in the later income year, subsection (6) applies and section CQ 5(1)(g) (When FIF income arises) does not.

Income pro-rated over whole period

- (6) For the transitional accounting period, the FIF income is divided by the number of days in the period and the resulting amount is FIF income of the person derived on each day in the period.

Market value rulesEX 70 Market value of life policy and superannuation entitlementsWhen this section applies

Value of life insurance policy

- (2) The market value of rights to benefit under a life insurance policy is equal to their surrender value.

Limit to subsection (2)

- (a) section EX 64(4); and

EX 73 Election that CFC not non-attributing active CFC or FIF not non-attributing active FIF

Election to have elective attributing CFC

- (1) A person (the interest holder) may elect by notice to the Commissioner for each accounting period of the election, that—
  - (a) a CFC of the interest holder, in which the interest holder has an income interest of 10% or more, not be a non-attributing active CFC for the interest holder:
  - (b) a FIF of the interest holder, for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method, not be a non-attributing active FIF for the interest holder.

Exception

- (2) The interest holder must not make an election under subsection (1) for a CFC or FIF that is—
  - (a) an entity carrying on a business of banking or insurance or is directly or indirectly controlled by such an entity:
  - (b) a non-attributing Australian CFC.

Period of election

- (3) An election under subsection (1) is made for all accounting periods—
  - (a) for a CFC, ending in the interest holder's income years beginning on or after 1 July 2009, if the notice—

- (i) specifies that the election is made under this paragraph or for that period; and
- (ii) meets the requirements of subsection (4); or
- (b) for a FIF, ending in the interest holder's income years beginning on or after 1 July 2011, if the notice—
  - (i) specifies that the election is made under this paragraph or for that period; and
  - (ii) meets the requirements of subsection (4); or
- (c) beginning in the interest holder's income years beginning after—
  - (i) the date on which the notice is given to the Commissioner; or
  - (ii) another date agreed by the Commissioner.

Timing of retrospective election

- (4) A notice of election for a period given by subsection (3)(a) or (b) is not effective unless given to the Commissioner by the later of—
  - (a) the end of the interest holder's income year in which this subsection receives the Royal assent;
  - (b) a date allowed by the Commissioner.

Currency of election

- (5) An election under subsection (1) remains effective until the beginning of the earliest income year—
  - (a) for which the election is revoked under subsection (6);
  - (b) in which the election ceases to be effective under subsection (7).

Revoking election

- (6) The interest holder may revoke an election under subsection (1) if—
  - (a) the interest holder gives notice of the revocation to the Commissioner before the beginning of the interest holder's first income year for which the notice is given; and
  - (b) the interest holder satisfies the Commissioner that—
    - (i) expenditure or loss of a CFC included, while the election is effective, in net attributable CFC income or loss for the interest holder is extremely unlikely to result after the revocation in

- an amount that would otherwise have been an attributable CFC amount for the CFC; and
- (ii) the revocation is not made for a purpose or effect of reducing a tax liability; and
- (c) the Commissioner agrees to the revocation.

Expiry of election

- (7) An election by the interest holder under subsection (1) ceases to be effective in an income year if the election is for—
- (a) a CFC that in the income year ceases to be a CFC in which the interest holder has an income interest of 10% or more, except if the CFC becomes at that time a FIF for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method, in which case the election becomes effective as if made for the FIF;
  - (b) a FIF that in the income year ceases to be a FIF for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method, except if the FIF becomes at that time a CFC meeting the requirements of subsection (8), in which case the election becomes effective as if made for the CFC;
  - (c) a CFC or FIF that in the income year becomes an entity carrying on a business of banking or insurance or becomes directly or indirectly controlled by such an entity;
  - (d) a CFC that becomes a non-attributing Australian CFC in the income year.

Requirements for CFC to be affected by FIF election

- (8) For a CFC to be affected under subsection (7)(b) by an election,—
- (a) the interest holder must have an income interest of 10% or more in the CFC; and
  - (b) the CFC must not be a non-attributing Australian CFC.

Effect of expiry or revocation of election

- (9) If an election under subsection (1) ceases to be effective for a CFC or FIF,—
- (a) becoming effective for a FIF under subsection (7)(a) because the CFC becomes a FIF for which the interest holder uses the attributable FIF income method, the interest holder may carry forward under section IQ 1B (Losses carried forward to tax year) attributed CFC losses of the CFC to a later tax year as if they were FIF net losses that were attributed from the FIF when the CFC losses were attributed from the CFC:

- (b) becoming effective for a CFC under subsection (7)(b) because the FIF becomes a CFC of the interest holder in which the interest holder has an income interest of 10% or more, the interest holder may carry forward under section IQ 1B the FIF net losses of the FIF as if they were attributed CFC losses that were attributed from the CFC when the FIF losses were attributed from the FIF:
- (c) other than under paragraphs (a) and (b), the interest holder must not carry forward under section IQ 1B an attributed CFC loss from an elective attributing CFC, or a FIF net loss from an elective attributing FIF, to an income year for which the election for the CFC or FIF has ceased to be effective.

Further election

- (10) The interest holder may make a further election under subsection (1) for a period given by subsection (3)(c) after an earlier election ceases to be effective, if—
  - (a) the interest holder gives notice of the election to the Commissioner before the beginning of the interest holder's first income year for which the notice is given; and
  - (b) the interest holder satisfies the Commissioner that—
    - (i) the expiry of the earlier election was due to an oversight on the part of the interest holder or the CFC or FIF; and
    - (ii) the interest holder gave notice of the further election within a reasonable time after the expiry; and
    - (iii) the further election has no purpose or effect of allowing the attribution of deductions without the attribution of corresponding income; and
  - (c) the Commissioner agrees to the election.

Further election for entity by associate of original interest holder

- (11) An interest holder may not make an election under subsection (1) for a CFC or FIF for which an earlier election by a person associated with the interest holder has ceased to be effective, unless—
- (a) the interest holder gives notice of the proposed election to the Commissioner before the beginning of the interest holder's first income year for which the election is made; and
  - (b) the interest holder satisfies the Commissioner that the proposed election has no purpose or effect of allowing the attribution of deductions without the attribution of corresponding income; and
  - (c) the Commissioner agrees to the proposed election.

Form and means of notice to Commissioner

- (12) A notice to the Commissioner under this section must be given in the form and by the means prescribed by the Commissioner.

Introductory provisionsEY 1 What this subpart doesTwo bases

- (1) This subpart provides for the taxation of life insurers on 2 separate bases, the policyholder base and the shareholder base. Sections EY 2 and EY 3 describe the general apportionment of income and deductions between the 2 bases under this Part. Section LA 8B (General rules particular to life insurers) provides some general rules for tax credits relating to the 2 bases. Parts L and O include tax credit rules and memorandum account rules specific to the 2 bases.

Schedular policyholder base income and PIE schedular income

- (2) Section EY 2 uses the assessable income in a life insurer's policyholder base income, and the life insurer's policyholder base allowable deductions, to calculate their schedular policyholder base income. A life insurer's schedular income derived by their life fund PIE that is a multi-rate PIE is excluded from their schedular policyholder base income, along with deductions for that income.

Counting once

- (3) Income and deductions must be apportioned to either the policyholder base or the shareholder base. There is no double-counting.

Defined in this Act: assessable income, deduction, income, life fund PIE, life insurance, life insurer, life reinsurance, memorandum account, multi-rate PIE, policyholder base, policyholder base income, schedular policyholder base income, shareholder base, tax credit

Section EY 1: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 185(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 2 Policyholder basePolicyholder base income*

- (1) A life insurer has policyholder base income,—
- (a) for savings product policies that are not profit participation policies, under section EY 15:
  - (b) for profit participation policies, under section EY 17:
  - (c) under section EY 27(4).

Policyholder base allowable deductions

- (2) A life insurer has policyholder base allowable deductions,—
- (a) for savings product policies that are not profit participation policies, under section EY 16:
  - (b) for profit participation policies, under section EY 18:
  - (c) under section EY 27(4):
  - (d) under section EZ 61 (Allowance for cancelled amount: spreading):
  - (e) under section LE 2B (Use of remaining credits by life insurer on policyholder base).

Schedular policyholder base income

- (3) A life insurer's schedular policyholder base income is the amount given by subtracting their policyholder base allowable deductions for an income year, and any amount carried forward to the income year under subsection (5), from the assessable income in their policyholder base income for the income year.

Cap on subtracting: ring-fencing policyholder base allowable deductions

- (4) Despite subsection (3), the total amount that is subtracted under subsection (3), including an amount carried forward to the current year under subsection (5), is no more than the amount of the assessable income in the life insurer's policyholder base income for the income year.

Excess allocations: carrying forward and re-instating next year

- (5) Any excess not able to be subtracted in the current year because of subsection (4) is carried forward to the next income year.

Exception

- (6) Despite subsections (3) to (5) a life insurer's schedular income derived by their life fund PIE that is a multi-rate PIE is excluded from their schedular policyholder base income, along with deductions for that income.

Defined in this Act: amount, assessable income, income year, life fund PIE, life insurance, life insurer, multi-rate PIE, policyholder base allowable deduction, policyholder base income, profit participation policy, savings product policy, schedular income, schedular policyholder base income

Section EY 2: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 185(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 3 Shareholder base

Shareholder base income

- (1) A life insurer has shareholder base income,—
  - (a) for policies that are not profit participation policies, under section EY 19: see also subsection (3), for reserves:
  - (b) for profit participation policies, under sections EY 21, EY 28, and EY 29:
  - (c) for annuities, under section EY 31.

Shareholder base allowable deductions

- (2) A life insurer has shareholder base allowable deductions,—
  - (a) for policies that are not profit participation policies, under section EY 20: see also subsection (3), for reserves:
  - (b) for profit participation policies, under sections EY 22 and EY 28:
  - (c) for the period and policies described in section EY 30, under that section:
  - (d) for annuities, under section EY 31.

Reserves

- (3) Under sections EY 23 to EY 27, a life insurer calculates reserving amounts for life insurance policies, other than annuities, that have a life risk component and are not profit participation policies. A reserving amount may be income included in their shareholder base income, or a deduction that is included in their shareholder base allowable deduction, as provided by the relevant sections.

Defined in this Act: deduction, life insurance, life insurance policy, life insurer, life risk, profit participation policy, shareholder base allowable deduction, shareholder base income

Section EY 3: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 185(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 4 Apportionment of income of particular source or nature, and of tax credits

Default basis

- (1) For a class of policies, income of a particular source or nature, and tax credits received, are apportioned between the policyholder base and shareholder base—
  - (a) in the same proportion as the policyholder base income relating to the particular source, nature, or credits bears to the life insurer's total gross gains relating to the particular source, nature, or credits, in the case of the policyholder base:
  - (b) in the same proportion as the shareholder base income relating to the particular source, nature, or credits bears to the life insurer's total gross gains relating to the particular source, nature, or credits, in the case of the shareholder base.

More equitable or reasonable basis

- (2) For a class of policies, the life insurer may use a basis of apportionment that is different from the basis described in subsection (1), if that basis results in an amount, actuarially determined, that is more equitable and reasonable than an amount determined using the basis described in subsection (1).

Defined in this Act: actuarially determined, amount, class of policies, income, life insurer, policyholder base, policyholder base income, shareholder base, shareholder base income, tax credit

Section EY 4: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 185(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 5 Part-year tax calculations

Part-year tax calculations

- (1) For their life insurance and for their general insurance contracts outstanding claims reserve, a life insurer does part-year tax calculations, described in subsection (2), if they do not have an early life regime application day and 1 July 2010 is not the first day of their income year.

First year part-year calculations: description

- (2) For calculating their income tax liability for the tax year that corresponds to the income year that includes 1 July 2010, where 1 July 2010 is not the first day of the income year, the life insurer treats references, in the new life insurance rules and in the rules they replace, to an income year or a tax year as if they are references to 2 separate tax years and corresponding income years (the part-years) within that first tax year, divided by 1 July 2010 (for example: a rule to calculate an amount of policyholder income for an income year under the replaced rules means the calculation is done for the relevant part-year before 1 July 2010. A rule to calculate an opening reserve amount under sections EY 23 to EY 27 at the beginning of an income year under the new rules means the calculation is done on 1 July 2010, at the beginning of the relevant part-year).

Part-year calculations: effect

- (3) The part-year calculations may give rise to income and deductions for the income year, but they do not create any part-year tax return obligations. The 2 part-year calculations compose 1 income tax liability for 1 income year.

Part-year calculations for transfers: application

- (3B) Subsections (3C) to (5) apply where a life insurer (the transferor) transfers life insurance business to another life insurer (the transferee) and sections EY 23 to EY 27 apply to either or both of the transferor and transferee.

Part-year calculations for transfers: when non-resident transferor

- (3C) If sections EY 23 to EY 27 apply to the transferee but not to the transferor, the transferee—
- (a) does the calculations that would be required under this section for the transferor if sections EY 23 to EY 27 applied to the transferor; and
  - (b) uses the results of the calculations in the way required under this section for a transferee.

Part-year calculations for transfers

- (4) A transferor to whom sections EY 23 to EY 27 apply does a part-year calculation immediately before the transfer, as described in subsection (2), for each class of policy in the transferred business, but only for their part-year ending on the day the transfer occurs. A transferee to whom sections EY 23 to

EY 27 apply also does a part-year calculation for the transferred policies, as described in subsection (2), but only for their part-year starting on the day the transfer occurs. The transferee's relevant opening part-year reserve amounts under sections EY 23 to EY 27 equal the transferor's relevant closing part-year reserve amounts immediately before the transfer, and if the life reinsurance associated with a class of policies is not assigned by the transferor to the transferee, those reserve amounts are calculated without subtracting relevant life reinsurance amounts.

Class of policies transferred to insurer

- (4B) If a class of policies (the class) is transferred by a transferor to whom sections EY 23 to EY 27 do not apply to a life insurer (the insurer) to whom sections EY 23 to EY 27 apply, the opening value of the reserve amounts for the class under sections EY 23 to EY 27 for the insurer is the closing value that the reserve amounts would have for the transferor if sections EY 23 to EY 27 applied to the transferor.

Part-year calculations for transfers: effect

- (5) Transferor's and transferee's part-year calculations may give rise to income and deductions for the income year, but they do not create any part-year tax return obligations.

Part-year calculations: end of transitional adjustments

- (6) If, for a life insurance policy, the transitional adjustment under section EY 30(7) is calculated for part of an income year, because section EY 30 ceases to apply to the policy before the end of the income year, the life insurer does part-year tax calculations for the policy for the income year, as described in subsection (2), but the income year is divided by the day that section EY 30 ceases to apply. The effect of the part-year calculations is described in subsection (3).

Treatment of de minimis life risk component amounts

- (5) An amount of income relating to a policy that, but for this subsection, is an amount related to the life risk of a premium or life reinsurance claim, is treated as not relating to the relevant life risk component for the purposes of subsection (1), if—

- (b) retained earnings average is an actuarially determined amount that is the average of the following 2 proportions:

EY 22 Shareholder base allowable deductions: profit participation policies

For an income year, a life insurer has shareholder base allowable deductions equal to the amount they would have, for profit participation policies, under the formula in section EY 21(1) if—

- (a) the life insurer is treated as having no assets other than the asset base; and
- (b) the item asset base gross income is treated as being the annual total deduction for the policies' asset base; and
- (c) the item net transfers is ignored.

Defined in this Act: amount, annual total deduction, asset base, income year, life insurer, profit participation policy, shareholder base allowable deduction

Section EY 22: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Non-participation policies: reserves

Heading: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 23 Reserving amounts for life insurers: non-participation policiesReserves*

- (1) Sections EY 24 to EY 27 apply to calculate a life insurer's reserving amounts for life insurance policies, other than annuities, that have a life risk component and that are not profit participation policies.

Actuarial determination

- (2) All reserving amounts must be actuarially determined, for each class of policies.

Positive and negative amounts: shareholder base income or shareholder base allowable deduction

- (3) If a reserving amount calculated under sections EY 24 to EY 27 is a positive amount, the life insurer has that amount as income included in their shareholder base income. If a reserving amount calculated under sections EY 24 to EY 27 is a negative amount, the life insurer has that amount as a deduction included in their shareholder base allowable deductions.

Which reserve can be used when?

- (4) For an income year, for a relevant class of policies, a life insurer has a reserving amount described in—
- (a) section EY 24, for outstanding claims reserves (the outstanding claims reserving amount):
  - (b) section EY 25, for premium smoothing reserves (the premium smoothing reserving amount) if the life insurer chooses to calculate a premium smoothing reserving amount and the PSR periods for policies in the class of policies begins, continues or ends in the income year:
  - (c) section EY 26, for unearned premium reserves (the unearned premium reserving amount), if the life insurer chooses to not calculate a premium smoothing reserving amount:

- (d) section EY 27, for capital guarantee reserves (the capital guarantee reserving amount).

Choice

- (5) Despite subsection (4)(b) and (c), a life insurer may not change between calculating a premium smoothing reserving amount and an unearned premium reserving amount for a class of policies once the premium smoothing reserving amount is used for the class of policies. If a policy in a class of policies does not meet the relevant requirements described in subsection (6), then a life insurer has an unearned premium reserving amount for that class of policy.

Meaning of PSR period

- (6) PSR period means, for a policy in the relevant class of policies, a period beginning, continuing or ending in the income year for which—
- (a) premiums payable are level or substantially level, and the period is 1 or more years; or
- (b) there is a material mismatch between the incidence of life risk components and the timing of premiums payable, and the period is 1 or more years.

Defined in this Act: actuarially determined, amount, class of policies, deduction, income year, life insurance policy, life insurer, life risk, life risk component, premium, profit participation policy, PSR period, shareholder base allowable deduction, shareholder base income

Section EY 23: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 24 Outstanding claims reserving amount: non-participation policies not annuities

Calculation of reserving amount

- (1) For an income year (the current year), a life insurer has an outstanding claims reserving amount for a class of policies calculated using the formula—

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{opening outstanding claims reserve} \\ & - \text{closing outstanding claims reserve.} \end{aligned}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (2) In the formula in subsection (1),—
- (a) opening outstanding claims reserve is—

- (i) the amount of the life insurer's closing outstanding claims reserve for the class of policies, for the income year before the current year (the prior year); or
  - (ii) if the life insurer has no closing outstanding claims reserve for the prior year, the amount that would be the outstanding claims reserve for the class of policies, using subsections (3) and (4) with necessary modifications, calculated at the end of the prior year, but using a basis consistent with the one that the insurer used for tax purposes in that prior year (for example, if IBNR liability was not accounted for, for tax purposes, in the prior year, the opening balance calculation does not take into account IBNR liability):
- (b) closing outstanding claims reserve is the amount of the life insurer's outstanding claims reserve calculated under subsections (3) and (4) for the class of policies at the end of the current year.

Outstanding claims reserve calculation

- (3) A life insurer's outstanding claims reserve is calculated for the relevant policies using the formula—

$$\begin{aligned} &\text{life risk claims incurred} + \text{life risk claims reported} \\ &\quad + \text{risk margin.} \end{aligned}$$

- (4) In the formula in subsection (3),—
- (a) life risk claims incurred is the actuarially determined estimate of present values (gross) for the life risk components of claims not yet reported to the life insurer before the end of the current year, but the insured-against event has occurred. The life risk components must take into account the probability of the claims being paid, and future expenses for administering the claims, but the present value (gross) of relevant life reinsurance claims must be subtracted from the total:
  - (b) life risk claims reported is the present values (gross) of the life risk components of claims reported but not yet paid. The life risk components must take into account the probability of the claims being paid, and future expenses for administering the claims, but the present values (gross) of relevant life reinsurance claims must be subtracted from the total:

- (c) risk margin is the appropriate margin for the life risk components of claims described in paragraph (a) or (b), to the extent to which the margin is actuarially determined, reflects the uncertainty of the estimates that arise from the use of the relevant best estimate assumptions, and is not already included in the life risk components of the claims.

Defined in this Act: amount, best estimate assumptions, claim, class of policies, income year, life insurer, life reinsurance, life risk, life risk component, mortality profit, present value (gross)

Section EY 24: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Section EY 24(2)(a)(ii): amended (with effect on 1 July 2010), on 21 December 2010, by section 58(1) of the Taxation (GST and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 130).

Section EY 24(2)(a)(ii): amended (with effect on 1 July 2010), on 7 September 2010, by section 46(1) of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Trans-Tasman Savings Portability, KiwiSaver, and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 109).

EY 25 Premium smoothing reserving amount: non-participation policies not annuities

Calculation of reserving amount

- (1) For an income year (the current year), a life insurer has a premium smoothing reserving amount for a class of policies, during the policies' PSR periods, calculated using the formula—
- $$\begin{array}{l} \text{opening premium smoothing reserve} \\ - \text{closing premium smoothing reserve.} \end{array}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (2) In the formula,—
- (a) opening premium smoothing reserve is—
- (i) the amount of the life insurer's closing premium smoothing reserve for the class of policies, for the income year (the prior year) before the current year; or
  - (ii) the amount that would be the premium smoothing reserve for the class of policies, using the principles in subsection (3) with necessary modifications, calculated at the end of the prior year, if the life insurer has no closing premium smoothing reserve for the prior year:

- (b) closing premium smoothing reserve is the amount of the life insurer's premium smoothing reserve calculated under the principles in subsection (3) for the class of policies, calculated at the end of the current year.

Premium smoothing reserve calculation: principles

- (3) A premium smoothing reserve for policies in a class of policies, during their PSR periods, is calculated using the following principles:
- (a) the premium smoothing reserve must allow the calculation of a reserving amount for an income year, such that the reserving amount plus the life risk component of premiums for the policies for the income year must equal the expected life risk proportion:
- (b) the life risk component of premiums plus reserving amount recognised for tax purposes during the policies' PSR periods must equal the total life risk component of premiums recognised for financial reporting purposes during the PSR periods.

Best estimate assumptions for PSR

- (4) Closing and opening premium smoothing reserve amounts must be actuarially determined, using best estimate assumptions.

Special grouping rule for the purposes of best estimate assumptions

- (5) For the purposes of determining premium smoothing reserve amounts, life insurance policies may be grouped together if the policies have in common,—
- (a) substantially the same contractual terms and conditions, other than their PSR periods; and
- (b) substantially the same assumptions for pricing their life risk.

Meaning of expected life risk proportion

- (6) In this section, expected life risk proportion means a proportion of the total life risk and life risk renewal expenses of premiums for life insurance policies in the relevant class during their PSR periods, where that proportion fairly reflects the life risk and an amount of life risk renewal expenses expected to be borne in that income year if the policies were still existing at the earlier of—

- (a) the end of the income year:
- (b) immediately before the end of the policies' PSR period.

Defined in this Act: amount, actuarially determined, best estimate assumptions, class of policies, expected life risk proportion, income year, life insurance policy, life insurer, life risk, life risk component, premium, PSR period

Section EY 25: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Section EY 25(2)(a)(ii): amended (with effect on 1 July 2010), on 7 September 2010, by section 47(1) of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Trans-Tasman Savings Portability, KiwiSaver, and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 109).

EY 26 Unearned premium reserving amount: non-participation policies not annuities

Calculation of reserving amount

- (1) For an income year (the current year), a life insurer has an unearned premium reserving amount for a class of policies calculated using the formula—

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{opening unearned premium reserve} \\ & - \text{closing unearned premium reserve.} \end{aligned}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (2) In the formula,—
  - (a) opening unearned premium reserve is—
    - (i) the amount of the life insurer's closing unearned premium reserve for the class of policies, for the income year before the current year; or
    - (ii) the amount that would be the unearned premium reserve for the class of policies, using subsection (3) with necessary modifications, calculated at the end of the prior year, if the life insurer has no closing unearned premium reserve for the income year before the current year:
  - (b) closing unearned premium reserve is the amount of the life insurer's unearned premium reserve under subsection (3) for the class of policies, calculated at the end of the current year.

Unearned premium reserve

- (3) A life insurer's unearned premium reserve is the amount of the premium in the current year or a prior year, for the relevant policies, that relates to life risk components and relevant costs, in income years after the current year, but subtracting relevant life reinsurance premiums.

Defined in this Act: amount, class of policies, income year, life insurer, life reinsurance, life risk component

Section EY 26: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Section EY 26(2)(a)(ii): amended (with effect on 1 July 2010), on 7 September 2010, by section 48(1) of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Trans-Tasman Savings Portability, KiwiSaver, and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 109).

EY 27 Capital guarantee reserving amount: non-participation policies not annuities

Calculation of reserving amount

- (1) For an income year (the current year), a life insurer has a reserving amount for a class of policies calculated using the formula—

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{opening capital guarantee reserve} \\ & - \text{closing capital guarantee reserve.} \end{aligned}$$

- (2) In the formula,—
- (a) opening capital guarantee reserve is—
- (i) the amount of the life insurer's closing capital guarantee reserve for the class of policies, for the income year before the current year; or
  - (ii) the amount that would be the capital guarantee reserve for the class of policies, using subsection (3) with necessary modifications, calculated at the end of the income year before the current year, if the life insurer has no closing capital guarantee reserve for the income year before the current year:

- (b) closing capital guarantee reserve is the amount of the life insurer's capital guarantee reserve under subsection (3) for the class of policies, calculated at the end of the current year.

Capital guarantee reserve

- (3) A life insurer's capital guarantee reserve is the net amount of credits and debits on account of a risk-linked provision for future obligations in relation to a guarantee, for the class of policies, by the life insurer that capital invested will be returned or that a minimum return on capital will be paid.

Reflex in policyholder base

- (4) For the current year, if the reserving amount under this section is positive, the life insurer has that amount as a deduction included in their policyholder base allowable deductions. For the current year, if the reserving amount under this section is negative, the life insurer has that amount as income included in their policyholder base income.

Reflex in policyholder base: exception

- (5) Despite subsection (4), for the current year, the life insurer does not have that amount as income included in their policyholder base income to the extent to which the amount represents payment on account of lost capital in the policyholder base.

Defined in this Act: amount, class of policies, income year, life insurer, pay, policyholder base, policyholder base allowable deduction, policyholder base income

Section EY 27: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Section EY 27(2)(a)(ii): amended (with effect on 1 July 2010), on 7 September 2010, by section 49(1) of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Trans-Tasman Savings Portability, KiwiSaver, and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 109).

Shareholder base other profit: profit participation policies

Heading: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 28 Shareholder base other profit: profit participation policies that are existing businessCalculation of income*

- (1) For an income year, a life insurer has an amount, for profit participation policies that are existing business, that is calculated using the formula—

$$\text{other profit} \times \frac{\text{gate}}{(1 + \text{gate})}.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (2) In the formula in subsection (1),—
- (a) other profit is the amount calculated for the income year under subsection (4):
- (b) gate is the proportion of a policyholder's share of profits from the asset base that is used in the formula that calculates a transfer to the benefit of the life insurer's shareholders from the profits of the asset base, as described in paragraph (a)(iii) of the definition of profit participation policy.

Formula: negative amounts and positive amounts

- (3) If, for an income year, the formula in subsection (1) calculates a positive amount, that amount is included as income in the life insurer's shareholder base income. If it is a negative amount, then that amount is included as a deduction in the life insurer's shareholder base allowable deductions.

Other profit

- (4) For the purposes of the item other profit in subsection (2), an amount is calculated, for the income year (the current year) for profit participation policies that are existing business, using the following formula:

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula in subsection (4),—
- (a) premiums is the amount of premiums for policies for the current year, but subtracting relevant life reinsurance premiums:

- (b) premiums estimate is the actuarially determined total amount of premiums that the life insurer expected, using best estimate assumptions, to receive in the current year for policies that were in force at the start of the current year or are first entered into in the current year, after subtracting the present value (net) of relevant life reinsurance premiums:
- (c) claims is the amount of claims for the current year, after subtracting relevant life reinsurance claims:
- (d) claims estimate is the actuarially determined total amount of claims that the life insurer expected, using best estimate assumptions, to receive in the current year for policies that were in force at the start of the current year or are first entered into in the current year, after subtracting the present value (net) of relevant life reinsurance claims:
- (e) closing policy liabilities is the total amount of policy liabilities for policies determined at the end of the current year for vested benefits after the previous year's bonus declaration:
- (f) estimated closing policy liabilities is the total estimated policy liabilities at the end of the current year for policies in force at the start of the current year and expected to be in force at the end of the current year, taking into account vested benefits after the previous year's bonus. The estimated policy liabilities must not take into account any future bonus declarations, and must use best estimate assumptions.

Meaning of policy liabilities

- (6) For the purposes of subsection (5), policy liabilities means, for a policy, an actuarially determined amount that is the present value (net) of future claims, plus the present value (net) of future expenditure or loss, plus the present value (net) of future tax payments, less the present value (net) of future premiums. Relevant life reinsurance premiums and claims must be subtracted.

Basis of best estimate assumptions in actuarially determining items

- (7) The same best estimate assumptions must be used for actuarially determining the items premiums estimate, claims estimate, and policy liabilities in this section. The assumptions may be appropriate for the start of the year, or for the end of the year, but once the choice is made between start of the year and end of the year, that basis may not be changed.

Meaning of existing business

- (8) For the purposes of this section and section EY 29, existing business means, for a policy, that it is—
- (a) issued on or before 30 June 2009:
  - (b) issued after 30 June 2009, if—
    - (i) issued on the same substantial and material terms, conditions, and bonus entitlements as profit participation policies that the life insurer issued on or before 30 June 2009, ignoring any annual increase in life insurance cover that is less than 10% or less than annual percentage change in the consumer price index:
    - (ii) issued as the result of conversion rights in a policy issued on or before 30 June 2009:
  - (c) the replacement of another policy (the replaced policy) caused by a life insurer being sold, or selling or transferring its rights and obligations under the replaced policy, and—
    - (i) the replaced policy was existing business under this subsection; and
    - (ii) the replaced policy and the policy have the same substantial and material terms, conditions, and bonus entitlements ignoring any annual increase in life insurance cover that is less than 10% or is less than the annual percentage change in the consumer price index.

Defined in this Act: actuarially determined, amount, best estimate assumptions, claim, existing business, income year, life insurance, life insurance policy, life insurer, life reinsurance, premium, present value (net), profit participation policy

Section EY 28(8) existing business paragraph (c): inserted (with effect on 1 July 2010), on 2 November 2012, by section 54(2) of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Returns Filing, and Remedial Matters) Act 2012 (2012 No 88).

EY 29 Shareholder base other profit: profit participation policies that are new business

Calculation of income

- (1) For an income year, a life insurer has an amount, for profit participation policies that are new business, that is calculated using the formula—

$$\text{other profit} \times \frac{\text{gate}}{(1 + \text{gate})} - \text{previous negative amount.}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (2) In the formula in subsection (1),—
- (a) other profit is the amount calculated for the income year under subsections (5) to (9):
  - (b) gate is the proportion of a policyholder's share of profits from the asset base that is used in the formula that calculates a transfer to the benefit of the life insurer's shareholders from the profits of the asset base, as described in paragraph (a)(iii) of the definition of profit participation policy:
  - (c) previous negative amount is the amount from the previous year described in subsections (3) and (4).

Formula: negative amounts and positive amounts

- (3) If, for an income year, the formula in subsection (1) calculates a positive amount, that amount is included as income in the life insurer's shareholder base income. If it is a negative amount, then that amount is not included as a deduction in the life insurer's shareholder base allowable deductions, but see subsection (4).

Negative amounts: carry forward

- (4) The amount by which the amount calculated using the formula in subsection (1) is less than zero is carried forward to the next income year, to be used under this section in the formula as the item previous negative amount in that next year.

Other profit

- (5) For the purposes of the item other profit in subsection (2), an amount is calculated, for the income year (the current year) for profit participation policies that are new business, using the following formula:

Definition of items in formula

- (6) In the formula in subsection (5),—
- (a) premiums is the amount of premiums for policies for the current year, but subtracting relevant life reinsurance premiums:
  - (b) premiums estimate is the amount of valuation premiums that the life insurer expected, using best estimate assumptions, to receive in the current year for policies that are in force at the start of the current year, or are first entered into in the current year, after subtracting the present value (net) of relevant life reinsurance premiums:
  - (c) claims is the amount of claims for the current year, after subtracting relevant life reinsurance claims:
  - (d) claims estimate is the actuarially determined amount of claims that the life insurer expected, using best estimate assumptions, to receive in the current year for policies that are in force at the start of the current year, or are first entered into in the current year, ignoring surrenders and after subtracting the present value (net) of relevant life reinsurance claims:
  - (e) closing policy liabilities is the amount of policy liabilities for policies determined at the end of the current year for vested benefits after the previous year's bonus declaration:

- (f) estimated closing policy liabilities is the estimated policy liabilities at the end of the current year for policies in force at the start of the current year and expected to be in force at the end of the current year, taking into account vested benefits after the previous year's bonus. The estimated policy liabilities must not take into account any future bonus declarations, and must use best estimate assumptions.

Meaning of valuation premiums

- (7) In this section, valuation premiums means the amount of premiums payable for a policy, actuarially determined by reference to the premium formula used when the policy was first entered into, or, if the premium formula is unavailable, by reference to mortality, expense, and other assumptions applicable to premiums for similar policies at the beginning of the income year in which the policy was first entered into. The valuation premiums must not include any allowance for future bonus declarations or future shareholder profits. The amount of the valuation premium for a policy must not change, unless significant changes to the policy justify changing the valuation premium.

Meaning of policy liabilities

- (8) In this section, policy liabilities means, for a policy, an actuarially determined amount that is the present value (net) of future mortality and maturity claims, plus the present value (net) of future expenditure or loss, plus the present value (net) of future tax payments, less the present value (net) of future valuation premiums. The amount of policy liabilities must not include any allowance for surrenders or the payment of surrender values and relevant life reinsurance premiums and claims must be subtracted. The minimum amount of policy liabilities for a policy is the current surrender value of the policy.

Basis of best estimate assumptions in actuarially determining items

- (9) The same best estimate assumptions must be used for actuarially determining the items premiums estimate, claims estimate, and policy liabilities in this section. The assumptions may be appropriate for the start of the year, or for the end of the year, but once the choice is made between start of the year and end of the year, the assumptions must not be changed.

Meaning of new business

- (10) For the purposes of this section, new business means, for a policy, that it is not existing business under section EY 28.

Defined in this Act: actuarially determined, amount, best estimate assumptions, claim, existing business, income year, life insurance policy, life insurer, life reinsurance, new business, premium, present value (net), profit participation policy, valuation premiums

Section EY 29: substituted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Transitional adjustments and annuities

Heading: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 190(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EY 30 Transitional adjustments: life risk

When this section applies: treatment of old and new policies

- (1) This section applies to life insurance policies described in subsections (2) to (4). For the purposes of this section, a policy (the new policy) is treated as being issued at the same time as another policy (the old policy) that the new policy replaces, if the replacement is caused by—
- (a) reinstating the old policy after either a lapse in premium payments or cancellation by the insured, if the new policy comes into force within 90 days of the lapse or cancellation, and the life insurer treats the new policy and old policy the same; or
  - (b) the life insurer being sold, or the life insurer selling or transferring its rights and obligations under the old policy.

Separation of products into separate policies for purposes of transitional adjustment

- (1B) If a life insurance policy is comprised of 2 or more life insurance product types that are capable of being sold separately, and the life insurance cover amounts for each product type are separately identified in the policy, then each of the product types may be treated as a separate life insurance policy for the purposes of this section.

Life insurance policies

- (2) This section applies to a life insurance policy, excluding an annuity, a multiple life policy through which the life insurer can look to the individual lives covered, credit card repayment insurance, and a workplace group policy, if the policy is issued by the life insurer before the grandparenting start day or if the life insurer receives an application and a deposit in money before the grandparenting start day for the policy which is issued after that day, and—
- (a) the life insurer has no policyholder base income or policyholder base allowable deduction for the policy; and
  - (b) the policy meets the relevant requirements for the relevant period described in subsection (5)(a) to (c); and
  - (c) the amount of life insurance cover at the finish of a cover review period, or at the finish of any shorter period, if the life insurer chooses to measure within the cover review period, has not increased by more than the greater of 10% and the percentage change in the consumer price index for the relevant period, as compared to the amount of life insurance cover at the beginning of the relevant cover review period; and
  - (d) no new or replacement individual life is covered for a period beginning after the grandparenting start day.

Multiple life policies

- (3) This section applies to a multiple life policy through which the life insurer can look to either the individual lives covered or a relevant underlying life insurance policy, if the multiple life policy (the policy) is issued by the life insurer before the grandparenting start day or if the life insurer receives an application and a deposit in money before the grandparenting start day for the policy which is issued after that day, and—
- (a) the life insurer has no policyholder base income or policyholder base allowable deduction for the policy; and
  - (b) the policy meets the requirements for the period described in subsection (5)(c), or, looking through to the individual lives covered or relevant underlying life insurance policy, to the extent to which the policy meets

- the requirements for the period described in subsection (5)(a), (b), or (c); and
- (c) to the extent to which, looking through to and in relation to the individual lives covered or relevant underlying policy,—
    - (i) the cover was first in place before the grandparenting start day;
    - (ii) the multiple life policy is a life reinsurance policy that was first in place before the grandparenting start day; and
  - (d) the substantial and material terms and conditions of the policy do not change on or after the grandparenting start day; and
  - (e) either—
    - (i) to the extent to which, looking through to the individual lives covered, the amount of life insurance cover at the finish of a cover review period, or at the finish of any shorter period if the life insurer chooses to measure within the cover review period, has not increased by more than the greater of 10% and the percentage change in the consumer price index for the relevant period, as compared to the amount of life insurance cover at the beginning of the relevant cover review period; or
    - (ii) in the case of a policy that is life reinsurance, to the extent to which a relevant underlying life insurance policy is, or would be ignoring section EY 10(2), one that this subsection or subsection (2) applies to.

Credit card repayment insurance and workplace group policies

- (4) This section applies to a credit card repayment insurance and to a workplace group policy, if the policy is issued by the life insurer before the grandparenting start day or if the life insurer receives an application and a deposit in money before the grandparenting start day, and—
  - (a) the life insurer has no policyholder base income or policyholder base allowable deduction for the policy; and

- (b) the policy, if it is a credit card repayment insurance, meets the requirements for the period described in subsection (5)(c), or, if it is a workplace group policy, meets the requirements for the period described in subsection (5)(d); and
- (c) [Repealed]
- (d) the substantial and material terms and conditions of the policy do not change on or after the grandparenting start day.

Requirements and periods for which this section applies

- (5) The following are the requirements and periods for the purposes of subsections (2)(b), (3)(b), and (4)(b), for a policy:
  - (a) for a life insurance policy for which only 1 premium is ever payable, or for which the amount of each premium is the same, the period that—
    - (i) starts on the grandparenting start day; and
    - (ii) finishes on the day that the policy ceases to be in force:
  - (b) for a life insurance policy for which the premium is set for a continuous period beginning before the grandparenting start day and for which the premium does not go up in that period (the continuous rate period) ignoring any increase directly linked to the percentage change in the consumer price index if that increase was the subject of agreement before the grandparenting start day, the period that starts on the grandparenting start day and ends on the later of the following:
    - (i) the day that is the last day of the continuous rate period:
    - (ii) whichever day described in paragraph (c)(i) and (ii) is earlier:
  - (c) for a life insurance policy for which the premium may vary each year, the period that starts on the grandparenting start day and ends on the earlier of the following:
    - (i) the day that the policy expires:
    - (ii) the day that is before the 5 years anniversary of the grandparenting start day:

- (d) for a life insurance policy for which the premium may vary each year, the period that starts on the grandparenting start day and ends on the earlier of the following:
- (i) the day that the policy expires:
  - (ii) the day that is before the 3 years anniversary of the grandparenting start day.

When this section does not apply: life insurance cover increase for whole cover review period

- (5B) This section does not apply for a policy for the whole of an income year if a cover review period finishes in the year and, for that cover review period, there has been an increase in the amount of life insurance cover as described in subsection (2)(c) or (3)(e) and the life insurer has not made an election for measuring within the cover review period under those subsections.

When this section does not apply: continuity

- (5C) This section does not apply for a policy for any period after this section has ceased to apply for the policy.

When this section does not apply: once-only opt out

- (6) This section does not apply to a class of policies after the life insurer irrevocably chooses in a notice received by the Commissioner that this section does not apply for the class.

Adjustment

- (7) A life insurer has an amount of shareholder base allowable deduction for a policy calculated using the following formula, to the extent to which this section applies for the relevant income year for the policy—

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{premiums} - \text{total net reserving amounts} \\ & \quad - (1.2 \times \text{expected death strain}). \end{aligned}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (8) In the formula,—
- (a) premiums is the life insurer's total premiums for the income year or part of the income year, as applicable, for the policy, but subtracting relevant life reinsurance premiums:
  - (b) total net reserving amounts is the total of reserving amounts for the income year or part of the income year, as applicable, for the policy, under section EY 25 or

EY 26 (as applicable), but treating amounts that are shareholder base income as negative amounts, and amounts that are shareholder base allowable deductions as positive amounts:

- (c) expected death strain is the amount calculated under the expected death strain formula (life) in accordance with sections EZ 53 to EZ 60 (which relate to the transitional adjustment for expected death strain) for the income year or part of the income year, as applicable, for the policy.

Negative amounts

- (9) If subsection (7) gives a negative amount for a policy, it is ignored for that policy.

Meaning of cover review period

- (10) Cover review period means—
- (a) the relevant income year, if the life insurer has not chosen a different period under paragraph (b):
  - (b) a period of a year that has a starting and anniversary date that the life insurer irrevocably chooses, for a class of policies, in a return of income for the tax year corresponding to the income year in which the grandparenting start day is included.

Meaning of credit card repayment insurance

- (11) Credit card repayment insurance means a life insurance policy, if the benefits of the cover are for the repayment of an outstanding debt balance of a credit card, or life reinsurance to the extent to which it reinsures such a life insurance policy.

Meaning of employer sponsored group policies

[Repealed]

- (12) [Repealed]

Meaning of grandparenting start day

- (13) Grandparenting start day means—
- (a) 1 July 2010, if paragraph (b) does not apply:

Meaning of multiple life policy

- (14) Multiple life policy—

- (a) means a life insurance policy with multiple individuals' life insurance cover grouped under it, if the group of individuals is identified in the policy:
- (b) does not include—
  - (i) a workplace group policy:
  - (ii) credit card repayment insurance:
  - (iii) life reinsurance to the extent to which it reinsures a workplace group policy or credit card repayment insurance.

Meaning of workplace group policy

- (15) Workplace group policy means a life insurance policy with multiple individuals' life insurance cover grouped under it, or life reinsurance to the extent to which it reinsures such a life insurance policy, if—
- (a) the individuals under the policy are—

    - (ii) members of a union registered under the Employment Relations Act 2000 or members of an industry association, and the union or association is the sponsor of the policy:

    - (i) the employer is required to offer an employee who is a member of the relevant class the opportunity to join the life insurance policy; and
    - (ii) the life insurer and the employer have entered an agreement about who pays the premium.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, cover review period, credit card repayment insurance, class of policies, early life regime application day, grandparenting start day, group life master policy, income year, life insurance, life insurer, life reinsurance, pay, policyholder base allowable deduction, policyholder base income, shareholder base allowable deduction, shareholder base income, workplace group policy

Procedure for setting economic rate

- (3) To set the diminishing value rate for a kind of item of depreciable property, the Commissioner—
- (a) gets a figure by applying the formula in subsection (4) to items of that kind; and

- (b) rounds the figure up or down to the nearest rate specified in schedule 12, column 1 (Old banded rates of depreciation); and
- (c) sets the same rate for some or all of the kinds of items of depreciable property that are similar to one another, if the Commissioner thinks it is appropriate to do so having regard to—
  - (i) the rate calculated for each kind; and
  - (ii) the reduction in compliance costs that is likely to be achieved.

Formula

- (4) The formula is—

$$1 - \left( \left( \frac{\text{residual value}}{\text{cost}} \right) \frac{1}{\text{estimated useful life}} \right).$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula,—

- (a) residual value is the greater of—
  - (i) estimated residual market value, which is defined in section EE 67 (Other definitions):
  - (ii) 13.5% of cost:
- (b) cost is the cost of items of the kind to which the formula is applied:
- (c) estimated useful life is defined in section EE 63 (Meaning of estimated useful life).

Defined in this Act: Commissioner, depreciable property, diminishing value rate, economic rate, estimated residual market value, estimated useful life, excluded depreciable property, fixed life intangible property

EZ 23B Property acquired after depreciable property affected by Canterbury earthquakes

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for a person and an income year (the current year) before the 2019–20 income year when the person,—
  - (a) in or before the current year, receives insurance or compensation (the earthquake compensation) for items of

- depreciable property (the affected property), each of which is—
- (i) not depreciable intangible property; and
  - (ii) included in 1 of the categories (an affected class) of the person's depreciable property referred to in subsection (10)(b); and
  - (iii) included in an affected class that is not linked with a replacement interest under section EZ 23BB; and
- (b) is entitled to the earthquake compensation because each item of the affected property, as a result of a Canterbury earthquake as that term is defined in section 4 of the Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Act 2011, is affected by—
- (i) damage meeting the requirements of section EE 47(4) (Events for purposes of section EE 44); or
  - (ii) a disposal and reacquisition under section EZ 23C or EZ 70; and
- (c) would have, in the absence of this section, from the earthquake compensation for the affected property in the affected class, depreciation recovery income under section EE 48 (Effect of disposal or event) in or before the current year; and
- (d) has a total amount of depreciation loss under section EE 48 for the affected property in the affected class that, treated as a positive amount, is less than the total amount of depreciation recovery income referred to in paragraph (c) by an amount (the excess recovery); and
- (e) plans in the current year to acquire depreciable property (the replacement property) meeting the requirements of subsection (7); and
- (f) gives written notice to the Commissioner under subsection (9)—
- (i) specifying the affected property and affected class; and
  - (ii) linking, for the purposes of this section, each item of acquired replacement property with an affected class.

Suspended recovery income

- (2) For an affected class, the amount that may be depreciation recovery income of the person in or after the current year (the suspended recovery income) is the excess recovery that remains at the beginning of the current year after—
- (a) adjustment under subsections (3) and (6) for an earlier income year; and
  - (b) attribution to an earlier income year by subsection (8).

Depreciation recovery income

- (2B) The person has an amount of depreciation recovery income for the current year equal to the amount of suspended recovery income that is attributed to the current year by subsection (8).

Effect of acquiring item of replacement property if suspended recovery income from affected property not in pool

- (3) If the person acquires an item of replacement property (the replacement item) and links the replacement item with an affected class of affected property for which the person does not use the pool method, the amount given by subsection (4)—
- (a) is treated as not being included in the amount of the person's expenditure on the replacement item, for the purposes of determining—
    - (i) under section EE 16(4) (Amount resulting from standard calculation) the item value or cost for the replacement item, if the person uses the diminishing value method or straight-line method for the replacement item; or
    - (ii) under section EE 22 (Cases affecting pool) the cost of the replacement item, if the person uses the pool method for the replacement item; and
  - (b) is a reduction in the amount of the suspended recovery income for the affected class.

Amount of reduction: expenditure on replacement item and suspended recovery income

- (4) The amount of the reduction under subsection (3)(a) or (b) for a replacement item and an affected class of affected property for which the person does not use the pool method is—
- (a) zero, if the cost of the affected class equals or is less than the person's total expenditure in acquiring, before

- the replacement item, other replacement property linked with the affected class; or
- (b) the amount calculated using the formula—
- $$\frac{\text{limited replacement cost} \times \text{excess}}{\text{affected cost.}}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula,—
- (a) limited replacement cost is the lesser of the following:
- (i) the amount by which the cost of the affected class exceeds the total expenditure in acquiring, before the replacement item, other replacement property linked with the affected class;
  - (ii) the amount of the expenditure on the replacement item;
- (b) excess is the excess recovery for the affected property;
- (c) affected cost is the total cost for the person of the affected property.

Effect of acquiring item of replacement property if suspended recovery income from affected property in pool

- (6) If the person acquires an item of replacement property (the replacement item) and links the replacement item with an affected class of affected property for which the person uses the pool method,—
- (a) the amount of the person's expenditure on the replacement item is treated as being reduced, by the amount equal to the lesser of the amount of expenditure on the replacement item and the amount of suspended recovery income for the affected property after the acquisition of other replacement property before the replacement item, for the purposes of determining—
- (i) the adjusted tax value of the replacement item, if subparagraphs (ii) or (iii) do not apply; or
  - (ii) the cost of the replacement item for the straight-line method, if that method is used to determine depreciation loss for the replacement item; or
  - (iii) the adjusted tax value of the pool of the replacement item, if the person uses the pool method for the replacement item; and

- (b) the amount of the suspended recovery income for the affected class is reduced by the amount of the treated reduction under paragraph (a).

Requirements for replacement property

- (7) An item of replacement property for a person must—
  - (a) [Repealed]
  - (b) [Repealed]
  - (c) be included in the same category under subsection (10)(b) as the affected class with which the person links the item, if the affected class is described in subsection (10)(b)(i) or (ii); and
  - (d) be located in greater Christchurch as that term is defined in section 4 of the Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Act 2011, if the item is a building, grandparented structure, or commercial fit-out.

*Attribution of suspended recovery income to income year:
other events*

- (8) The person has, in the current year, an amount of depreciation recovery income for an affected class equal to the amount of suspended recovery income for the affected class—
  - (a) at the end of the current year, if that year is the 2018–19 income year and neither of paragraphs (b) and (c) apply earlier; or
  - (b) when in the current year the person decides not to acquire more replacement property, if neither of paragraphs (a) and (c) apply earlier; or
  - (c) when in the current year the person goes into liquidation or becomes bankrupt, if neither of paragraphs (a) and (b) apply earlier.

Notice of election for affected property

- (9) A person choosing to rely on this section to suspend in a current year the recognition of suspended recovery income from the insurance or compensation for affected property must give written notice to the Commissioner—
  - (a) for the earliest income year (the estimate year) in which the amount of the insurance or compensation for the affected property can be reasonably estimated, by the

- later of 31 January 2012 and the date on which the return of income is filed for the estimate year; and
- (b) if the current year is after the estimate year,—
    - (i) for each income year between the estimate year and the current year, by the date on which the return of income is filed for that income year; and
    - (ii) for the current year, by the date on which the return of income is filed for the current year.

Contents of notice of election

- (10) A notice under subsection (9) must—
  - (a) describe the items of affected property; and
  - (b) indicate in which of the following categories each item of affected property is included:
    - (i) a building or grandparented structure not referred to in subparagraph (iii);
    - (ii) commercial fit-out not referred to in subparagraph (iii);
    - (iii) depreciable property for which the person uses the pool method;
    - (iv) depreciable property not referred to in subparagraphs (i) to (iii); and
  - (c) give details of each item of replacement property acquired in the current year and the affected class to which the person is linking the item; and
  - (d) give the amount of the expenditure on the replacement item and the reduction under subsection (3) or (6) of that expenditure for the purposes of determining adjusted tax value or depreciation loss; and
  - (e) give the amount, for the affected class, of the suspended recovery income at the end of the current year.

Disposal of replacement property: reduction in cost treated as depreciation loss

- (11) For the purposes of section EE 48, the amount by which a person's expenditure on a replacement item is treated as being reduced under subsection (3) or (6) is an amount of depreciation loss for the item for which the person has been allowed a deduction.

Removal of link by election under section EZ 23BB

- (11B) If a person in the current year has an amount of suspended recovery income for an affected class of buildings or grandparented structures and has made an election under this section to link replacement property (the linked property) to the affected class and has not incurred expenditure in acquiring the linked property,—
- (a) the person may choose to make an election under section EZ 23BB linking the affected class with replacement property, which may include linked property:
  - (b) a consequence of an election referred to in paragraph (a) is that the affected class and the linked property are treated as not being linked under this section for the current year.

Order of acquisition for items acquired at same time

- (11C) If items of replacement property are acquired at the same time and the effect of this section depends on the order in which the items are acquired, the items are treated as being acquired in the order chosen by the person in the first return of income for which the order of acquisition is taken into account.

Relationship to subpart EE

- (12) This section overrides subpart EE (Depreciation).

EZ 23BB Interest in property acquired after depreciable property affected by Canterbury earthquakes

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for a person and an income year (the current year) before the 2019–20 income year when the person,—
  - (a) in or before the current year, receives insurance or compensation (the earthquake compensation) for items of depreciable property (the affected property), each of which is—
    - (i) not depreciable intangible property; and
    - (ii) not property for which the person uses the pool method; and
    - (iii) included in 1 of the categories (an affected class) of the person's depreciable property referred to in subsection (11)(b); and
    - (iv) not linked with replacement property under section EZ 23B or has a link with replacement property that may be removed under section EZ 23B(11B); and
  - (b) is entitled to the earthquake compensation because each item of the affected property, as a result of a Canterbury earthquake as that term is defined in section 4 of the Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Act 2011, is affected by—
    - (i) damage meeting the requirements of section EE 47(4) (Events for purposes of section EE 44); or

- (ii) a disposal and reacquisition under section EZ 23C or EZ 70; and
- (c) would have, in the absence of this section, from the earthquake compensation for the affected class, depreciation recovery income under section EE 48 (Effect of disposal or event) in or before the current year; and
- (d) has a total amount of depreciation loss under section EE 48 for the affected class that, treated as a positive amount, is less than the total amount of depreciation recovery income referred to in paragraph (c) by an amount (the excess recovery); and
- (e) has in the current year an interest (a replacement interest) in a voting interest in a company (the owning company) having the purpose of acquiring depreciable property (the replacement property) meeting the requirements of subsection (6); and
- (f) holds the voting interest in the owning company or is the settlor of a trust of which the trustee holds the voting interest; and
- (g) gives written notice to the Commissioner under subsection (10).

Suspended recovery income

- (2) For a replacement interest, the amount that may be depreciation recovery income of the person in or after the current year (the suspended recovery income) is the excess recovery, for the affected property with which the replacement interest is linked under subsections (10) and (11), that remains at the beginning of the current year after—
  - (a) adjustment under subsections (3), (8), and (9) for an earlier income year; and
  - (b) attribution to an earlier income year by subsections (8) to (10).

Effect of acquiring interest in replacement property if suspended recovery income from affected class

- (3) If the person acquires a replacement interest and links the replacement interest with an affected class, the amount calculated using the formula in subsection (4)—
  - (a) is an amount of suspended recovery income for the replacement interest; and

- (b) is a reduction in the amount of the depreciation recovery income for the affected class.

Suspended recovery income for replacement interest and reduction of suspended recovery income for affected class

- (4) The amount under subsection (3)(a) and (b) for a replacement interest and affected class is—

- (a) zero, if the cost of the affected property in the affected class equals or is less than the total of the fractional interest values for other replacement interests acquired by the person before the replacement interest; or
- (b) the amount calculated using the formula—

$$\frac{\text{limited replacement cost} \times \text{excess}}{\text{affected cost.}}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula,—

- (a) limited replacement cost is the lesser of—
  - (i) the fractional interest value of the replacement interest;
  - (ii) the amount by which the total cost for the person of the affected property in the affected class exceeds the total amount of the fractional interest values of other replacement interests acquired by the person before the replacement interest;
- (b) excess is the excess recovery for the affected class;
- (c) affected cost is the total cost for the person of the affected property in the affected class.

Requirements for replacement property

- (6) An item of replacement property for a person or owning company must—
  - (a) be included in the same category under subsection (11)(b) as the affected class with which the person links the item, if the affected class is described in subsection (11)(b)(i) or (ii); and
  - (b) be located in greater Christchurch as that term is defined in section 4 of the Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Act 2011, if the item is a building or commercial fit-out.

Depreciation recovery income and suspended recovery income

- (7) The amount of suspended recovery income for a person's replacement interest is not depreciation recovery income for the person arising from the replacement interest unless it is attributed to an income year by subsections (8) and (9).

Depreciation recovery income: disposal of replacement property by owning company

- (8) If the owning company in which a person has a replacement interest disposes of the replacement property in an income year, and subsection (9) does not apply earlier,—
- (a) the person has, in the income year for the replacement interest, an amount of depreciation recovery income equal to the fractional interest value of the replacement interest calculated under subsection (12); and
  - (b) the suspended recovery income for the replacement interest is reduced by the amount referred to in paragraph (a).

Depreciation recovery income: other events

- (9) The person has, in an income year, an amount of depreciation recovery income equal to the suspended recovery income for a replacement interest and affected property, and the suspended recovery income for the replacement interest and affected property is reduced to zero,—
- (a) at the end of the income year, if—
    - (i) the income year is the 2018–19 income year; and
    - (ii) the owning company does not acquire the replacement property relating to the replacement interest and the affected property before the end of the income year; and
    - (iii) neither of paragraphs (b) and (c) apply earlier; or
  - (b) when in the income year the person disposes of the replacement interest, if neither of paragraphs (a) and (c) apply earlier; or
  - (c) when in the income year the person goes into liquidation or becomes bankrupt, if neither of paragraphs (a) and (b) apply earlier.

Notice of election for affected property

- (10) A person choosing to rely on this section to suspend in a current year the recognition of suspended recovery income from earthquake compensation must give written notice under this section, or under section EZ 23B for years before the current year, to the Commissioner—
- (a) for the earliest income year (the estimate year) in which the amount of the earthquake compensation for the affected property can be reasonably estimated, by the later of 31 January 2012 and the date on which the return of income is filed for the estimate year; and
  - (b) if the current year is after the estimate year,—
    - (i) for each income year between the estimate year and the current year, by the date on which the return of income is filed for that income year; and
    - (ii) for the current year, by the date on which the return of income is filed for the current year.

Contents of notice of election

- (11) A notice under subsection (10) for the current year must—
- (a) describe the affected property; and
  - (b) indicate in which of the following categories each item of affected property is included:
    - (i) a building or grandparented structure;
    - (ii) commercial fit-out;
    - (iii) depreciable property not referred to in subparagraphs (i) and (ii); and
  - (c) indicate which items of affected property were linked with replacement property under section EZ 23B before the current year; and
  - (d) give details of each item of replacement property in which a replacement interest is held in the current year, and the affected class to which the person is linking the replacement interest; and
  - (e) for each replacement interest held in the current year, give the amount of the expenditure by the owning company on the replacement property, the shareholding of the person's holding entity in the owning company, and the shareholding of the person in, or the fraction of the

- trust corpus that has been settled by the person on, the person's holding entity; and
- (f) for each category of replacement property, give the amount of the suspended recovery income at the end of the current year; and
  - (g) for each category of replacement property, give the amount of depreciation recovery income for the current year.

Formula for calculating fractional interest value

- (12) For a person with a replacement interest in replacement property, the fractional interest value of the replacement interest for the purposes of this section is the value calculated using the formula—person's fractional interest × replacement expenditure.

Definition of items in formula

- (13) In the formula,—
- (a) person's fractional interest is—
    - (i) the voting interest of the person in the owning company; or
    - (ii) the fraction calculated by multiplying the voting interest in the owning company held by the trustee of a trust of which the person is a settlor by the fraction of the trust corpus that has been settled by the person:
  - (b) replacement expenditure is the amount of the expenditure by the owning company on the replacement property.

Order of acquisition for items acquired at same time

- (14) If items of replacement property are acquired at the same time and the effect of this section depends on the order in which the items are acquired, the items are treated as being acquired in the order chosen by the person in the first return of income for which the order of acquisition is taken into account.

Relationship to subpart EE

- (15) This section overrides subpart EE (Depreciation).

  - (a) the item is damaged by a Canterbury earthquake as that term is defined in section 4 of the Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Act 2011; and
  - (b) the person is entitled to an amount of insurance or compensation for the damage to the item; and
  - (c) the item is assessed by the payer of the insurance or compensation (the insurer) as uneconomic to repair; and
  - (d) the damage does not meet the requirements of section EE 47(4) (Events for purposes of section EE 44).

Deemed sale and repurchase of item

- (2) The person is treated as, on the date of the Canterbury earthquake,—
  - (a) disposing of the item for the amount of insurance or compensation; and
  - (b) reacquiring the item for zero consideration.

Relationship with section EE 52

- (3) This section overrides section EE 52 (Amount of depreciation recovery income when compensation received).

  - (d) section EZ 23C does not apply for the item.

Limit on depreciation recovery income under section EE 52

- (2) If the person would derive depreciation recovery income under section EE 52 (Amount of depreciation recovery income when compensation received) in an income year for the item in the absence of this section, the person derives in the income year an amount of depreciation recovery income equal to the lesser of—
  - (a) the amount of depreciation recovery income under section EE 52 that the person would derive in the income year for the item in the absence of this section;

EZ 35 Accruals in relation to income and expenditure in respect of financial arrangements

- (1) For the purpose of calculating the amount deemed to be income or expenditure of any person under subsections (2) to (7), regard must be had to,—
  - (a) if the person is a holder in relation to the financial arrangement,—
    - (i) the amount of all consideration paid and to be paid to the person in relation to the financial arrangement; and
    - (ii) any amount remitted and to be remitted by the person in relation to the financial arrangement; and
    - (iii) the acquisition price of the financial arrangement in relation to the person; and
  - (b) if the person is an issuer in relation to the financial arrangement,—
    - (i) the amount of all consideration paid and to be paid by the person in relation to the financial arrangement; and
    - (ii) the acquisition price of the financial arrangement in relation to the person.
- (2) Subject to this section, where any person is a holder or an issuer of a financial arrangement, the amount that is deemed to be income or expenditure of that person in respect of the financial arrangement in any income year is an amount calculated using the yield to maturity method so as to result in the allocation to each income year of an amount that is fair and reasonable, and such amount so allocated to each income year is income deemed to be derived by or expenditure deemed to be incurred by the person in respect of the financial arrangement in the income year:

provided that the Commissioner must accept an alternative method to the yield to maturity method, that has regard to the principles of accrual accounting, and—

- (a) conforms with commercially acceptable practice; and
  - (b) except to the extent that the Commissioner may otherwise allow under subsection (8), is adopted by the person and is or will be consistently applied in respect of all such financial arrangements for financial reporting purposes; and
  - (c) results in the allocation to each income year of amounts that are not materially different from amounts that would be calculated but for this proviso.
- (3) Notwithstanding subsection (2), but subject to the other provisions of this section, where in any income year the total value of all financial arrangements of which a person is a holder or an issuer has on no day within that income year exceeded $1,500,000 or such greater amount as the Governor-General may by Order in Council declare for the purposes of this section,—
- (a) the person may calculate income or expenditure for that income year in respect of those financial arrangements by using the straight-line method so as to result in the allocation to that income year and subsequent income years of amounts that are fair and reasonable in respect of those arrangements; and
  - (b) where the straight-line method is used under paragraph (a), that method must be used by the person in respect of all financial arrangements of which the person was the holder or issuer during that income year; and
  - (c) where the person has in accordance with this subsection calculated income or expenditure using the straight-line method in respect of a financial arrangement for any income year, the person must, unless otherwise authorised in writing by the Commissioner, continue to use that method in respect of that financial arrangement for any subsequent income year, until the maturity, remittance, sale, or other transfer of the arrangement, notwithstanding that the total value of all financial arrangements of which the person is holder or issuer may at any time in any such subsequent income year exceed $1,500,000 or such other amount as may be declared for the purposes of this section,— and any amount calculated in respect of a financial arrangement in accordance with this subsection is income deemed to be derived by or expenditure deemed to be incurred by the person in respect of the financial arrangement for the relevant income year.

- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), a person must take into account financial arrangements to which subpart EW applies.
- (5) For the purposes of subsection (3),—
- (a) the value of any financial arrangement to be taken into account in determining whether the total value of all financial arrangements of which a person is the holder or issuer on any day exceeds $1,500,000 or such other amount as may be declared for the purposes of this section is,—
- (i) in the case of a fixed principal financial arrangement, the nominal or face value of the arrangement; and
- (ii) in the case of a variable principal debt instrument, the amount owing by or to the person under the arrangement on the relevant day; and
- (iii) in the case of a financial arrangement to which subpart EW applies, the value determined under that subpart; and
- (b) in the first income year for which income or expenditure is calculated under subsection (3) in respect of a financial arrangement that—
- (i) was acquired or issued by the person in a previous income year; and
- (ii) continues to be held or issued by the person at the end of the first income year for which income or expenditure is calculated under subsection (3),—
- the amount of income or expenditure of the person in respect of that financial arrangement for that first income year is an amount calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$a - b - c + d$$

where—

- a is the sum of all amounts that would have been income derived by the person in respect of the financial arrangement if the straight-line method referred to in subsection (3) had been applied to the financial arrangement from the date it was acquired or issued by the person until the end of that first income year
- b is the sum of all amounts that would have been expenditure incurred by the person in respect of the financial arrangement if the straight-line method referred to in subsection (3) had been applied to the financial arrangement from the date it was acquired or issued by the person until the end of that first income year
- c is the sum of all amounts of income deemed to have been derived by the person in respect of the financial arrangement before the commencement of that first income year
- d is the sum of all amounts deemed to have been expenditure incurred by the person in respect of the financial arrangement before the commencement of that first income year;—

and any amount so calculated is, if a positive amount, deemed to be income derived by the person in that first income year and, if a negative amount, deemed to be expenditure incurred by the person in that first income year.

- (6) Where it is not possible to calculate an amount to be deemed to be income or expenditure in respect of a financial arrangement using the yield to maturity method as provided for in subsection (2) or (in a case to which subsection (3) applies) the straight-line method as provided for in subsection (3), the amount that is deemed to be income or expenditure of the person in any income year is an amount calculated by the person—
  - (a) using the method, if any, prescribed by the Commissioner for the financial arrangement in a determination made under section 90(1)(c) of the Tax Administration Act 1994:

provided that the Commissioner must accept an alternative method to the method prescribed in any such determination that has regard to the principles of accrual accounting, and—

- (i) conforms with commercially acceptable practice; and
  - (ii) except to the extent that the Commissioner may otherwise allow under subsection (8), is adopted by the person and is or will be consistently applied in respect of all such financial arrangements for financial reporting purposes; and
  - (iii) results in the allocation to each income year of amounts that are not materially different from the amounts that would be calculated, but for this proviso; and
- (b) in the absence of any such determination, by applying a method that meets the requirements of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of the proviso to paragraph (a) and that results in the allocation to each income year of an amount that, having regard to the tenor of subsection (2), is fair and reasonable;—

and such amount of income or expenditure so allocated to each income year is income deemed to be derived or, as the case may be, expenditure deemed to be incurred by the person in the income year.

- (7) Notwithstanding subsections (2) and (6), the Commissioner must accept an alternative method for calculating the amount to be deemed to be income or expenditure of the person, in respect of a financial arrangement, to the methods provided for under subsections (2) and (6), if the alternative method has regard to market valuation, and—
- (a) conforms with commercially acceptable practice; and
  - (b) except to the extent that the Commissioner may otherwise allow under subsection (8), is adopted by the person and is or will be consistently applied in respect of all such financial arrangements for financial reporting purposes; and

- (c) either—
  - (i) the business of the person comprises dealing in such financial arrangements; or
  - (ii) the financial arrangement is a forward or future contract for foreign exchange, or a futures contract; and
- (d) the market, the method, and the source of the information used to determine the market values have been approved by the Commissioner under a determination issued under section 90(1)(e) of the Tax Administration Act 1994; and
- (e) the person and any other person who is a holder (where the person is an issuer) or an issuer (where the person is a holder) of the financial arrangement are not associated persons;—

and such amount of income or expenditure so calculated is income deemed to be derived or, as the case may be, expenditure deemed to be incurred by the person in respect of the financial arrangement in the income year:

provided that where income or expenditure in respect of a financial arrangement has been calculated by a person under this subsection, income or expenditure in respect of that financial arrangement must, except as otherwise allowed under subsection (8), continue to be calculated on that basis by that person until the maturity, remittance, sale, or other transfer of the arrangement.

- (8) Where a method of calculating income or expenditure in respect of a financial arrangement fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of the proviso to subsection (2) or subparagraph (ii) of the proviso to subsection (6)(a) or (7)(b) by virtue of the fact that the method is not or will not be consistently applied by a person in respect of all such financial arrangements for financial reporting purposes, that method is nevertheless deemed to meet the relevant one of those provisions where the method—
  - (a) appropriately reflects the dominant purpose for which the person acquired or issued the financial arrangement (or each such arrangement); and

- (b) has been and will be consistently applied by the person in respect of the particular financial arrangement (or each such financial arrangement) for the purposes of the old financial arrangements rules for every income year during its term (except to the extent that the Commissioner approves or may approve a change in method under the circumstances or conditions specified in a determination under section 90(1)(f) of the Tax Administration Act 1994); and
  - (c) is not adopted for purposes that include the purpose of tax avoidance; and
  - (d) has been approved by the Commissioner for adoption in the circumstances applicable to the taxpayer either by notice to the taxpayer or in a determination issued under section 90 of the Tax Administration Act 1994.
- (9) Subsections (2) to (7) do not apply—
  - (a) to a cash basis holder; or
  - (b) in relation to a financial arrangement and a person, in any income year where section EZ 38 applies to that person and to that financial arrangement; or
  - (c) in relation to a financial arrangement where—
    - (i) the financial arrangement is held by a trustee upon trust for the management of compensation paid for personal injury where that compensation is paid under the Workers Compensation Act 1956 or the Accident Compensation Act 1972 or the Accident Compensation Act 1982 or the Accident Rehabilitation and Compensation Insurance Act 1992 or the Accident Compensation Act 2001 or an order of court; and
    - (ii) the trustee is, or if it were a natural person would be, a cash basis holder in respect of the financial arrangement.
- (10) For the purposes of this section, the Commissioner may determine whether and to what extent any issuer or class of issuers is not required to comply with this section in relation to expenditure incurred or income derived in respect of any class of financial arrangements, having regard to—

- (a) the nature and amount of the expenditure incurred or income derived by the issuer or class of issuers in respect of financial arrangements of that class; and
  - (b) the costs of the issuer or class of issuers in complying with this section in relation to the class of financial arrangements; and
  - (c) whether, in respect of that issuer or class of issuers and that class of financial arrangements, the application of the discretion given to the Commissioner under this subsection would result in a material difference in the amount of deductions or income allocated to any income year, in relation to the amount that would have been allocated had the discretion not been exercised.
- (11) The Commissioner may at any time cancel any determination made in respect of any person or class of persons under subsection (10).

EZ 37 Cash basis holder

- (1) Subject to this section, a natural person is a cash basis holder in respect of financial arrangements held by that person in any income year, where—

    - (i) the income derived by that person in that income year in respect of those financial arrangements, calculated in accordance with subpart EW or section EZ 35 or EZ 38, as the case may be, does

- not exceed $70,000 (or such greater amount as the Governor-General may by Order in Council declare); or
- (ii) the total value of financial arrangements held by the person in the income year does not exceed at any time in the income year $600,000 (or such greater amount as the Governor-General may by Order in Council declare), the value in respect of each financial arrangement being,—

    - (B) in the case of a variable principal debt instrument, the amount of money owing to the person according to the arrangement; and

      - (A) using, at the option of the person, either the yield to maturity method or the straight-line method referred to in section EZ 35(3) (regardless of whether or not the person is entitled or has opted to use that method) or in accordance with subpart EW, as the case may be, or, where it is not possible to calculate an amount of income or expenditure in respect of the financial arrangements by using either of those methods, an alternative method approved by the Commissioner; and
      - (B) under either section EW 31 or EZ 38—

- in respect of financial arrangements held by the person at the end of the income year; and

- (3) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (1), the Commissioner may,—
- (a) where the Commissioner is satisfied, having regard to the tenor of section EZ 35(2), that treatment of a class of financial arrangements other than under section EZ 35 results in a fair and reasonable allocation of income or expenditure among income years, deem natural persons to be cash basis holders in respect of such financial arrangements; and
- (b) where the Commissioner is satisfied that a class of financial arrangements has been structured and promoted with the objective of postponing any liability to income tax which would have arisen had those financial arrangements not been so structured, deem natural persons not to be cash basis holders in respect of such financial arrangements.
- (4) In any income year where a person who was a cash basis holder in the previous income year ceases to be a cash basis holder, the person must take into account, in calculating income or deductions for the income year, an accruals basis adjustment, in respect of every financial arrangement (other than arrangements that are already dealt with according to section EZ 35 or in respect of which the Commissioner has exercised the discretion given under subsection (3)(a)) acquired in a previous income year and held by the person at the end of the income year equal to an amount calculated in accordance with the following formula:

and the person must not take into account in the income year any other amount in respect of any such financial arrangement except those calculated under the accruals basis adjustment.

- (5) In any income year where a person who was not a cash basis holder in the previous income year becomes a cash basis holder, that person may take into account, in calculating income or deductions for the income year, a cash basis adjustment, in respect of every financial arrangement (other than arrangements already treated on a cash basis) acquired in a previous income year and held by the person at the end of the income year, equal to an amount calculated in accordance with the following formula:

where—

- a is the sum of all amounts which would have been income derived by the person in respect of the financial arrangement from the date it was acquired to the end of the income year if the person had been a cash basis holder in respect of the financial arrangement for the whole of that period and, where the cash basis adjustment has been taken into account, the person must not take into account any other amount in respect of any such financial arrangement in the income year except those calculated under the cash basis adjustment:

provided that the person is deemed not to be a cash basis holder in relation to any financial arrangement in respect of which the person does not take into account a cash basis adjustment.
- (6) The amount of the accruals basis adjustment or the cash basis adjustment in respect of any financial arrangement and any income year is,—

- (7) For the purposes of subsection (1), but subject to subsections (8) and (9),—
- (a) all income in respect of financial arrangements that is trustee income or beneficiary income under the trust rules is disregarded, as is the value of all such financial arrangements producing such income; and
  - (b) no person who holds such financial arrangements is a cash basis holder in relation to such financial arrangements.
- (8) Subsection (7) does not apply to financial arrangements held on a bare trust, or to income in respect of such financial arrangements, and the financial arrangements held and the income derived by the trustees is treated as being held or, as the case may be, derived by a beneficiary of the trust to the extent of the beneficiary's share of the beneficial interest in the financial arrangement.

(9) Where a deceased person was at the time of his or her death a cash basis holder,—

(a) nothing in subsection (7) or in any requirement under this section that a cash basis holder be a natural person, in respect of the income year in which the death occurred and in each of the 4 immediately succeeding income years, applies to prevent the trustee of the estate of the deceased person from being a cash basis holder for the purposes of this Act in respect of financial arrangements issued or held by the estate, where the estate would otherwise qualify as a cash basis holder under this section; but

(b) if at any time during those income years the estate ceases to so otherwise qualify as a cash basis holder, it does not again qualify to become a cash basis holder by operation of paragraph (a);—

and for the purposes of subsections (4) and (5), any trustee of an estate who is a cash basis holder under this subsection is deemed to be the same person as the deceased cash basis holder.

EZ 49 Determination of core acquisition price where consideration for property denominated in foreign currency

- (1) For the purposes of paragraph (c) of the definition of core acquisition price in section EZ 48, if the consideration payable under the relevant financial arrangement for the specified property is denominated in a foreign currency, the lowest price referred to in that paragraph must be the lowest price the parties would have agreed upon in that foreign currency converted into New Zealand dollars using, at the option of the taxpayer,—
- (a) the rate, on the day on which the financial arrangement was entered into (in this section referred to as the contract date), available to the taxpayer from a New Zealand registered bank for the exchange of New Zealand dollars for that foreign currency on the day on which the first right in the specified property is to be transferred (in this section referred to as the rights date); or

EZ 50 Rules for non-market transactions

- (1) Where the Commissioner, having regard to any connection between the parties to the issue or transfer of a financial arrangement and to any other relevant circumstances, is satisfied that the parties were dealing with each other in relation to the issue or transfer in a manner that has the effect of defeating the intent and application of the old financial arrangements rules, the Commissioner may, under section EZ 35 or EZ 37 or EZ 38 or EZ 42, deem the consideration for the issue or transfer to be equal to the consideration that might reasonably be expected for the issue or transfer if the parties to the issue or transfer were independent parties dealing at arm's length with each other in relation to the issue or transfer.
- (2) If at any time a person not resident in New Zealand—
  - (a) commences to hold, whether temporarily or otherwise, a financial arrangement, for the purposes of a business carried on through a fixed establishment in New Zealand, the person is deemed to have acquired the financial arrangement at that time; or

- (3) A financial arrangement is treated as having been sold and purchased or transferred and realised at its market value on the date of its sale or transfer if the sale or transfer, including a transfer by way of distribution to shareholders, is not for consideration in money or is for a consideration that is less than the market value of the financial arrangement.

EZ 51 Transitional adjustment when changing to financial arrangements rules

- (1) A person may elect to apply the financial arrangements rules to a financial arrangement to which the old financial arrangements rules apply.
- (2) A person who makes an election must apply the financial arrangements rules to all financial arrangements to which the person is a holder or an issuer.
- (3) Despite subsections (1) and (2), a person must apply section EZ 38 if that section applies to a financial arrangement in the income year in which the election is made.
- (4) Once an election is made, the financial arrangement is subject to the financial arrangements rules and is treated in the same way as a financial arrangement that was entered into on or after 20 May 1999.

- (5) A person who makes an election must calculate a transitional adjustment for the income year of election and return the resulting income or expenditure.
- (6) The transitional adjustment is calculated using the formula—
- $$\begin{aligned} & \text{income (financial arrangements rules)} \\ & - \text{expenditure (financial arrangements rules)} \\ & - \text{income (old financial arrangements rules)} \\ & + \text{expenditure (old financial arrangements rules)} \end{aligned}$$

where—

income (financial arrangements rules) is the total amount of income that would be derived by the person from the financial arrangement if the financial arrangements rules were applied to the financial arrangement for the period beginning on the date the person acquires the arrangement and ending on the last day of the income year in which this calculation is made expenditure (financial arrangements rules) is the total amount of expenditure that would be incurred by the person under the financial arrangement if the financial arrangements rules were applied to the financial arrangement for the period beginning on the date the person acquires the arrangement and ending on the last day of the income year in which this calculation is made income (old financial arrangements rules) is the total amount of income of the person from the financial arrangement in all income years before the income year in which this calculation is made expenditure (old financial arrangements rules) is the total amount of expenditure incurred by the person under the financial arrangement in all income years before the income year in which this calculation is made.

- (7) The result of the transitional adjustment is,—
- (a) if a positive amount, income derived by the person in the income year; and
- (b) if a negative amount, expenditure incurred by the person in the income year.

- (8) In the income year in which the transitional adjustment is made to a financial arrangement, a person must take into account only the income derived or the expenditure incurred as a result of the adjustment for the financial arrangement.
- (9) Despite subsections (2) to (8), a person is treated as transferring a financial arrangement at market value at the end of the income year of election and must calculate a base price adjustment under section EZ 38 if—
  - (a) the financial arrangement is an arrangement to which the old financial arrangements rules apply; and
  - (b) the financial arrangement were entered into on or after 20 May 1999 and would not have been subject to the financial arrangements rules; and
  - (c) the person elects to apply the financial arrangements rules to a financial arrangement to which the old financial arrangements rules apply.

Compare: 2004 No 35 s EZ 48

EZ 52 References to new rules include old rules

- (1) Subsection (2) applies if—
  - (a) the old financial arrangement rules apply to a financial arrangement (old financial arrangement); and
  - (b) a taxation law in this Act (rewritten law) refers only to, or applies only to, a financial arrangement to which the financial arrangements rules apply; and
  - (c) the rewritten law is in neither subpart EW nor sections EZ 33 to EZ 51; and
  - (d) the rewritten law corresponds to and replaces, with or without amendments, a taxation law that applied to the old financial arrangement before 20 May 1999.
- (2) The rewritten law applies to the old financial arrangement as if the rewritten law referred to, or applied to, a financial arrangement to which the old financial arrangements rules apply.
- (3) Subsection (2) does not apply to—
  - (a) a definition, or parts of a definition, in section YA 1 if that definition or part refers to section EZ 48; or
  - (b) section GB 21, because the former taxation law to which it corresponds has been re-enacted as section EZ 50.

- (4) Section FM 8(3)(b)(ii) applies to a financial arrangement to which the old financial arrangements rules apply as if—
- (a) the reference to section EW 31 were to section EZ 38; and
  - (b) the words “financial arrangements rules” read “old financial arrangements rules”.

EZ 52B Consistency of use of IFRS method: Determination G3 change allowed

When this section applies

Exception modified

- (2) For the purposes of the exception in section EW 25B(2) (Consistency of use of IFRS method), the person may change a method for IFRS for the financial arrangement if—
- (a) the method they change to or from is Determination G3 under section EW 15E(2)(aa) (Determination alternatives) or an alternative to Determination G3 under section EW 15E(2)(e) (What is included when spreading methods used); and

(b) that method is available to them to use.

It does not alter or affect the Commissioner's assessment of, or litigation of, that tax position. It applies after Determination G22 has applied for a person's financial arrangement, and only if, for the financial arrangement,—

- (a) Determination G22A: Optional convertible notes denominated in New Zealand dollars did not apply while Determination G22 applied, because of the application of section 90AE of the Tax Administration Act 1994, or the application of Determination G22A, clause 3(1)(b); and
- (b) Determination G22A starts applying immediately after—
  - (i) section 90AE of the Tax Administration Act 1994 stops applying; or
  - (ii) Determination G22A, clause 3(1)(b) stops applying.

Spreading method adjustment

(2) Despite sections EW 26 and EW 27 (which relate to changes of spreading method), the person must not calculate a spreading method adjustment under section EW 27 for the change of spreading method, for the financial arrangement, from Determination G22 to Determination G22A.

Part years under Determinations instead of spreading method adjustment

- (3) In the income year in which subsection (2) applies, for the financial arrangement, Determination G22 applies for the part-year before the change to Determination G22A, and Determination G22A applies for the part-year after the change from Determination G22.

How and when this section applies

- (1) This section does not alter or affect a person's tax position in relation to Determination G22 or the person's litigation of their tax position in relation to Determination G22. It does not alter or affect the Commissioner's assessment of, or litigation of, that tax position. It applies after Determination G22 has applied for a person's financial arrangement, and only if, for the financial arrangement,—
- (a) section EZ 52C applied; and
  - (b) Determination G22A applies when the person is required to calculate a base price adjustment for the financial arrangement.

Consideration adjustment

- (2) For the financial arrangement, the consideration referred to in section EW 31(7) (Base price adjustment formula) is adjusted in accordance with subsections (3) to (6).

Issuer

- (3) If the person is the issuer of the financial arrangement, an amount calculated under subsections (5) and (6) is added to all consideration that has been paid, and all consideration that is or will be payable, by the issuer for or under the financial arrangement.

Holder

- (4) If the person is a holder of the financial arrangement, an amount, referable to the person's holding, calculated under subsections (5) and (6) is added to all consideration that has been paid, and all consideration that is or will be payable, to the holder for or under the financial arrangement.

Calculation

- (5) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (4) the amount is calculated using the following formula:

$$X - Z.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (6) In the formula,—
- (a) X is, for the financial arrangement, an amount equal to the item s in Determination G22, clause 6(1), if that item were calculated in accordance with that Determination at the time immediately before the change of spreading method described in section EZ 52C(2):
- (b) Z is, for the financial arrangement, an amount equal to the item s in Determination G22, clause 6(1), if that item were calculated in accordance with that Determination at the time when it first applied.

Section EZ 52D: inserted, on 26 September 2010, by section 51 of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Trans-Tasman Savings Portability, KiwiSaver, and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 109).

Life insurance transitional adjustment: expected death strain

Heading: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Expected death strain formulas

Heading: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EZ 53 How expected death strain is calculated

Calculation of expected death strain: steps

- (1) For an income year, the life insurer calculates their expected death strain by following these steps:
  - (a) first, use the relevant expected death strain formula to calculate an amount for each life insured under each life insurance policy existing at the start of the income year (see: subsections (2) and (3) for guidance on the relevant expected death strain formula):
  - (b) second, for each such life insurance policy, add together the amounts for the lives insured under it:
  - (c) third, add together the totals reached under paragraph (b).

Expected death strain formula (life)

- (2) Section EZ 54(1) sets out the expected death strain formula (life). This is the formula a life insurer uses for an income year, to calculate an amount for a life insured under a life insurance policy, except to the extent to which an annuity is being paid under the policy at some time in the income year.

Expected death strain formula (active annuities)

- (3) Section EZ 54(2) sets out the expected death strain formula (active annuities). This is the formula a life insurer uses for an income year, to calculate an amount for a life insured under a life insurance policy, to the extent to which an annuity is being paid under the policy at some time in the income year.

Defined in this Act: business, income year, life insurance, life insurance policy, life insured, life insurer, pay

Section EZ 53: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EZ 54 Expected death strain formulas

Expected death strain formula (life)

- (1) The expected death strain formula (life) is—$$\text{claim probability} \times (\text{opening sum assured} - \text{opening actuarial reserves}).$$

Expected death strain formula (active annuities)

- (2) The expected death strain formula (active annuities) is—claim probability  $\times$  opening actuarial reserves.

Definition of items in formulas

- (3) The items in the formulas are defined in subsections (4) to (6).

Claim probability

- (4) Claim probability is the probability of a claim arising under the policy for the life insured's death in the income year. It is determined at the start of the income year using the same mortality assumptions as are used to calculate the life insurer's actuarial reserves at the start of the income year. It is expressed as a decimal. Variations to claim probability are in sections EZ 55(2) and EZ 57(2).

Opening sum assured

- (5) Opening sum assured is the claim that would be payable under the policy for the life insured's death in the income year or, if no such claim would be payable, the claim that would be payable under the policy for the life insured's survival to the relevant date or age specified in the policy. It is determined at the start of the income year. It may be zero. Variations to opening sum assured are in sections EZ 56(2), EZ 57(3), and EZ 58(2).

Opening actuarial reserves

- (6) Opening actuarial reserves is the amount in the life insurer's actuarial reserves for the life insured under the policy. It is determined at the start of the income year.

Defined in this Act: actuarial reserves, amount, claim, income year, life insured, life insurer, pay

Section EZ 54: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EZ 55 Expected death strain formulas: option when more than 1 life insured

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when a life insurance policy covers more than 1 life insured.

Claim probability

- (2) In using the relevant expected death strain formula, the life insurer may use as claim probability a common factor for all the lives insured under the policy.

Features of common factor

- (3) The common factor must be a reasonable approximation of the average probability of a claim arising under the policy for each life insured's death in the income year. It must be weighted as necessary to take account of—
- (a) differing claims for individual lives insured under the policy; and
  - (b) differing amounts in the life insurer's actuarial reserves for individual lives insured under the policy.

Defined in this Act: actuarial reserves, amount, claim, income year, life insurance policy, life insured, life insurer

Section EZ 55: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EZ 56 Expected death strain formula (life): when annuity payable on death

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when, and to the extent to which, a life insurance policy provides for the payment of an annuity the start of which is contingent on the life insured's death.

Opening sum assured

- (2) In using the expected death strain formula (life), the life insurer uses as opening sum assured the present value (net) of the annuity. The present value (net) is determined—
- (a) at the start of the income year; and
  - (b) on the assumption that the life insured died at the start of the income year; and
  - (c) using the same assumptions and bases of calculation as are used to calculate the life insurer's actuarial reserves for the income year.

Defined in this Act: actuarial reserves, income year, life insurance policy, life insured, life insurer, payment, present value (net)

Section EZ 56: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EZ 57 Expected death strain formulas: when annuity payable on survival to date or age specified in policyWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies when, and to the extent to which, a life insurance policy provides for the payment of an annuity the start of which is contingent on the life insured's survival to the relevant date or age specified in the policy.

Claim probability

- (2) In using the relevant expected death strain formula, the life insurer must use claim probability as defined in section EZ 54(4), without regard to the fact that the payment of the annuity is not contingent on the life insured's death.

Opening sum assured

- (3) In using the expected death strain formula (life), the life insurer must use as opening sum assured the present value (net) of the annuity. The present value (net) is determined—
  - (a) at the relevant date or age specified in the policy; and
  - (b) on the assumption that the life insured survived to the date or age; and
  - (c) using the same assumptions and bases of calculation as are used to calculate the life insurer's actuarial reserves for the income year.

Defined in this Act: actuarial reserves, income year, life insurance policy, life insured, life insurer, pay, payment, present value (net)

Section EZ 57: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EZ 58 Expected death strain formula (life): when partial reinsurance existsWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies when a life insurer has partial life reinsurance.

Opening sum assured

- (2) In using the expected death strain formula (life), the life insurer must reduce opening sum assured by the claim receivable by the life insurer under the life reinsurance policy for the contingency against which the life insured is covered under the life insurance policy.

Defined in this Act: claim, life insurance policy, life insured, life insurer, life reinsurance policy, partial reinsurance

Section EZ 58: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

Actuarial reserves

Heading: inserted, on 1 July 2010, by section 199(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

EZ 59 Meaning of actuarial reserves

Link between actuarial reserves and life insurer

- (3) Actuarial reserves, for a life insurer at any time, means the life insurer's actuarial reserves at that time.

  - (b) the amount in the life insurer's actuarial reserves for 1 or more life insurance policies for which the life insurer is the insurer.

Interest, mortality, and other assumptions and bases of calculation

- (3) The actuary must do the calculation using interest, mortality, and other assumptions and bases of calculation that—
- (a) are based on the same principles as those used in the actuarial advice on which the following are calculated:
    - (i) the level of surplus funds available to the life insurer for allotment or payment to shareholders or policyholders; or
    - (ii) the level of surplus funds available to the life insurer, if a superannuation scheme, for allotment to objects of the scheme other than the object of providing for members' benefits; and

Acquisition treated as sale

- (1) When a lessee under a finance lease acquires the personal property lease asset by the date on which the term of the lease ends, the acquisition is treated as the same sale that is treated as occurring under section FA 6.

When lessee or associated person acquires lease asset and later disposes of it

- (2) If a lessee under a finance lease, or a person associated with them, acquires the lease asset and later disposes of it for an amount that is more than the consideration they paid for it, the excess is income of the lessee under section CC 11 (Lessee acquiring lease asset on expiry of term of lease).

Allocation and association

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2),—

Acquisition by lessor at end of lease

If there is no guaranteed residual value, the consideration is treated as zero. In this section, the consideration is called the notional sale price.

Further sale, assignment, or lease

- (3) Subsections (4) and (5) apply when the lessor sells, assigns, or leases the lease asset to another person under another finance lease on or after the date on which the term of the original lease ends.

When consideration more than notional sale price

When consideration less than notional sale price

- (5) If the consideration is less than the notional sale price, and the lessee is required to pay the amount of the deficit to the lessor, the notional sale price is reduced by that amount.

Acquisition by lessor when lease ends early

- (6) If the lease is terminated before the end of its term and the lessee does not acquire the lease asset, the lessor is treated as acquiring it for an amount calculated using the formula—outstanding balance – release payment.

- (a) for each of the New Zealand group and the worldwide group, the amount (the adjusted net profit) given by subsection (1BC) is greater than zero; and
- (b) for the New Zealand group, the deductions for interest allowed to the group under sections DB 6 to DB 9 (which relate to deductions for interest) exceed the income of the group that is interest; and

Formula for group's interest-income ratio

(1E) The interest-income ratio for a group is calculated using the formula—

Definition of items in formula

(1F) In the formula in subsection (1E),—

- (a) net interest is the deductions for interest allowed to the group under sections DB 6 to DB 9 from a financial arrangement providing funds to the group, treating the members as residents for the purpose of calculating this item for a worldwide group, reduced by the income of the group from a financial arrangement on arm's-length terms providing funds to a person who meets the requirements of section FE 13(3);

Debt percentages

- (4) The debt percentage of a New Zealand group is calculated under sections FE 14 to FE 16. The debt percentage of a worldwide group is calculated under sections FE 17 and FE 18.

Equity threshold, net equity, group funding debt

- (5) The calculations that a reporting bank must make for the purposes of section FE 7 are set out as follows:

FE 6 Apportionment of interest by excess debt entity

Who this section applies to

- (1) This section applies to an excess debt entity or a natural person if section FE 5 requires the entity or person to apportion their interest expenditure for an income year under this section. A natural person is treated as an excess debt entity for the purposes of this section other than in the item threshold amount.

Formula

- (2) The excess debt entity is treated under section CH 9 (Interest apportionment: excess debt entity) as deriving in the income year an amount of income calculated for the income year using the formula—

$$\frac{\text{(total deduction + FRD - adjust)}}{\text{total debt}} \times \frac{\text{total debt - concession}}{\text{total debt}} \times \frac{\text{group debt percentage - threshold amount}}{\text{group debt percentage}}$$

Items in formula

- (3) In the formula,—
- (a) total deduction is the whole amount of the excess debt entity's deduction for interest allowed under any of sections DB 6 to DB 8 (which relate to deductions for interest expenditure) less—
- (i) the total amount allowed in relation to interest payable to a company that is a member of the entity's New Zealand group under sections FE 3 and FE 28, but this does not include an amount referred to in subparagraph (ii); and
- (ii) the total amount allowed in relation to interest payable under a financial arrangement excluded from the total group debt of its New Zealand group under section FE 15:
- (ab) FRD is the total amount of dividends paid by the excess debt entity in relation to fixed-rate foreign equity or fixed-rate shares—
- (i) issued by the entity; and
- (ii) held by a person resident in New Zealand who is not a company that is a member of the entity's New Zealand group:
- (ac) adjust is—

- (i) zero, if the excess debt entity is not an excess debt outbound company or a natural person or trustee described in section FE 2(1)(g); or
  - (ii) the amount (the group finance cost) that is the total amount for the New Zealand group found by calculating for each member of the New Zealand group the total amount (the member finance cost) of the items total deduction and FRD for the member, if the group finance cost is $1,000,000 or less and subparagraph (i) does not apply; or
  - (iii) the amount found by multiplying the amount by which $2,000,000 exceeds the group finance cost by the ratio obtained by dividing the member finance cost for the excess debt entity by the group finance cost, if the group finance cost is more than $1,000,000 and less than $2,000,000 and subparagraph (i) does not apply; or
  - (iv) zero, if the group finance cost is $2,000,000 or more and subparagraph (i) does not apply:
- (b) total debt is the total amount of the debt of the excess debt entity's New Zealand group for the income year as calculated under section FE 15, before allowing for a reduction under section FE 13:
- (c) concession is any reduction allowed under section FE 13 in the total group debt of the excess debt entity's New Zealand group for the income year, averaged when section FE 8(1)(a) or (b) applies:
- (d) group debt percentage is the debt percentage of the excess debt entity's New Zealand group for the income year:
- (e) threshold amount is, as applicable,—
- (i) if the excess debt entity is not a trustee and not an excess debt outbound company, or is a trustee who is not described in section FE 2(1)(g), the greater of 60% and 110% of the debt percentage of their worldwide group:
  - (ii) if the person is a natural person who is not described in section FE 2(1)(g), 60%:

- (iii) if the excess debt entity is an excess debt outbound company, or is a trustee who is described in section FE 2(1)(g), the greater of 75% and 110% of the debt percentage of their worldwide group:
- (iv) if the person is a natural person who is described in section FE 2(1)(g), 75%.

Alternative calculation

- (4) If a company that is in the same wholly-owned group of companies as the excess debt entity has a deduction for interest under any of sections DB 6 to DB 8, the company may choose to be treated as deriving the income that the excess debt entity would otherwise, under subsection (2), be treated as deriving for the income year. The amount of income is not calculated using the formula in subsection (2) but is limited as set out in subsection (5).

Limitation on election amount

- (5) The amount of income for which the company may make the election under subsection (4) must not be more than the total amount of deductions that the company has for interest for the income year, having taken into account any other income that the company chooses to treat itself as deriving under subsection (4).

Defined in this Act: amount, company, deduction, excess debt entity, excess debt outbound company, financial arrangement, fixed-rate foreign equity, fixed-rate share, income, income year, interest, natural person, New Zealand, pay, total group debt, trustee, wholly owned group of companies

Timing and consideration

- (4) Unless subsections (5) or (6) apply, the amalgamated company is treated as having acquired the property on the date on which the amalgamating company acquired it for an amount that is the sum of—

  - (c) any expenditure incurred in securing or improving the amalgamating company's legal rights to the property.

Lease treated as sale

- (1) The leasing of a personal property lease asset under a specified lease is treated as a sale of the asset, made at the start of the term of the lease, by the lessor to the lessee. The lessee is treated as having incurred, through the sale, capital expenditure of an amount equal to the cost price of the asset.

Loan applied to finance acquisition of asset

- (2) A lessor under a specified lease is treated as having advanced to the lessee a loan of an amount equal to the cost price of the personal property lease asset. The lessee is treated as having applied the loan in the financing of the acquisition of the asset.

No deduction

- (3) A lessor under a specified lease is denied a deduction under section DZ 14(2) (Deductions under specified leases) for an amount of depreciation loss for the personal property lease asset.

Asset sold to lessor

- (4) At the end of the term of a specified lease, if the personal property lease asset is not acquired by the lessee under the terms of the lease or in the exercise of an option under the lease, the asset is treated as sold at the end of the term of the lease to the lessor for—
- (a) an amount equal to the guaranteed residual value, if any, set out for the asset in the lease; or
  - (b) if no guaranteed residual value is set out in the lease, no consideration.

Treatment when lease terminated

- (5) If a specified lease is terminated before the term of the lease ends, whether by cancellation, surrender, or otherwise,—
- (a) the personal property lease asset relating to the lease is treated as sold on the date of the termination to the lessor by the lessee at a price equal to the amount by which the amount of the outstanding balance, at the time of termination, of a loan advance by the lessor to the lessee is more than the amount or the sum of the amounts payable by the lessee to the lessor in consideration for the release by the lessor of the lessee from the obligations of the lessee under the lease:
  - (b) despite paragraph (a), if, in relation to the amount of the outstanding balance and the amount or the sum of the amounts payable by the lessee to the lessor, no excess arises, the asset is treated as having been sold for no consideration:
  - (c) if the value of the consideration payable by the lessee to the lessor in relation to the termination is more than the amount of the outstanding balance, at the time of termination, of a loan advanced by the lessor to the lessee, an amount equal to the amount of the excess is treated as income derived by the lessor in the income year in which the lease is terminated.

Subsequent sale, assignment, or lease

- (6) If, on or after the end of the term of a specified lease, the personal property lease asset relating to the lease is sold, assigned, or leased under a specified lease by the lessor to another person, and the value of the consideration on the sale, assignment, or lease—
- (a) is more than the amount determined for the first specified lease under subsection (4), the amount determined is increased by a further amount that is equal to the part, if any, of the excess paid by the lessor to the lessee:
  - (b) is less than the amount determined for the first specified lease under subsection (4)(a), and the lessee is required to make a further payment to the lessor equal to the difference between the guaranteed residual value for the lease value, and the value of the consideration, the amount determined is reduced by the amount of the further payment.

Consideration more than amount determined under subsection (4)

- (7) Despite subsection (6), if the value of the consideration on the sale, assignment, or lease is more than the amount determined under subsection (4), the part, if any, of the excess that is not paid to the lessee is treated as income under section CZ 20 (Disposal of personal property lease asset under specified lease).

Associated persons

- (8) If the lessee under a specified lease, or another person who is associated with the lessee, at any time acquires the personal property lease asset, and disposes of the asset, and the value of the consideration for the disposal is more than the value of the consideration for which the lessee or other person acquired it, an amount equal to the excess is income under section CZ 20.

Meaning of outstanding balance

- (9) In this section, and in section FZ 3, outstanding balance means the amount calculated using the formula—

Definition of items in formula

    - (i) on the outstanding balance for the initial period, and each instalment period, at such a rate and in such a manner that the aggregate of all of the amounts so calculated is equal to the amount first mentioned in paragraph (b); or
    - (ii) for the initial period and each instalment period, under such other method commonly applied in commercial usage as, having regard to the term of the lease and to the frequency of the personal property lease payments, results in the allocation to that initial period and to each instalment period of an amount that is fair and reasonable and results in the sum of all amounts so allocated being equal to the amount first mentioned in paragraph (b):
  - (b) in relation to the term of the lease, an amount that is equal to the sum of the personal property lease payments under the specified lease and the amount of the guaranteed residual value, if any, under the specified lease, reduced by the cost price of the personal property lease asset.

Calculation for income year

Effective interest

- (2) Effective interest for a person and a company, at a particular time or for an income year, means—
- (a) the person's voting interest in the company at the time or for the income year, unless paragraph (b) applies:

  - (b) sections YC 4 and YC 6 (which relate to corporate shareholders and certain excluded securities) did not apply.

If interests vary during income year

- (2) If a person's voting interest or market value interest varies during an income year, the measure of their effective interest is the weighted average of their voting interest or market value interest, as applicable, for the income year.

If election made during income year

- (3) If a shareholder makes an election under section HA 5 after the start of the income year, their voting interest and market value interest is measured from the earliest day in the income year when they became a shareholder in the company, even if the day is earlier than the date of the election.

Shareholders' interests after revocation

- (4) A person who revokes an election under section HA 32 or HA 33 is treated as having no voting interest and no market value interest for the period of the income year after the revocation takes effect unless they make a later election for the same income year. In this subsection, the person is a trustee when an election is made under section HA 28 by a person other than the trustee.

When majority shareholders' liabilities excluded

- (5) If a majority shareholder has made an election and agreed under sections HA 8 and HA 29 to take personal liability to the extent of a minority shareholder's effective interest in the company, any effective interest for which the minority shareholder has agreed to be personally liable under section HA 8 is excluded in measuring the majority shareholder's effective interest.

Minority shareholder's liability after revocation

- (6) If a majority shareholder's election is revoked under section HA 32(1) or HA 33(1)(d), the effective interest of the minority shareholder for which the majority shareholder is liable is treated as zero for the part of the income year that follows the day on which the revocation takes effect.

Defined in this Act: company, effective interest, income year, market value interest, shareholder, trustee, voting interest

Compare: 2004 No 35 s HG 2

HB 1 Look-through companies are transparent

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of this Act, other than the PAYE rules, the FBT rules, the NRWT rules, the RWT rules, the ESCT rules, and the RSCT rules, for a person in their capacity of owner of an effective look-through interest for a look-through company (the LTC), for an income year, if—
  - (a) for the LTC, an LTC election described in section HB 13(1) and (2) has been received by the Commissioner under section HB 13(3) and (4) for the income year; and
  - (b) the LTC meets the requirements in the definition of look-through company at all times in the income year; and
  - (c) the election has not been revoked for the income year by an owner of a look-through interest for the LTC by notice received by the Commissioner before the start of the income year.

When this section applies: Commissioner's discretion as to revocation

- (2) A revocation notice that is received by the Commissioner after the start of the income year is treated as received before the start of the income year if the Commissioner decides that exceptional circumstances are the sole cause of the lateness.

When this section applies: revocation ignored

- (3) An owner's revocation notice for the income year is ignored for the purposes of this section and section HB 13(4)(a) if the owner stops having a look-through interest in the LTC and the new owner reverses the revocation notice before the start of the income year by notice to the Commissioner.

Look-through for effective look-through interest

- (4) For a person, unless the context requires otherwise,—

- (a) the person is treated as carrying on an activity carried on by the LTC, and having a status, intention, and purpose of the LTC, and the LTC is treated as not carrying on the activity or having the status, intention, or purpose:
- (b) the person is treated as holding property that the LTC holds, in proportion to the person's effective look-through interest, and the LTC is treated as not holding the property:
- (c) the person is treated as being party to an arrangement to which the LTC is a party, in proportion to the person's effective look-through interest, and the LTC is treated as not being a party to the arrangement:
- (d) the person is treated as doing a thing and being entitled to a thing that the LTC does or is entitled to, in proportion to the person's effective look-through interest, and the LTC is treated as not doing the thing or being entitled to the thing.

Effective look-through interest

- (5) For the purposes of this section, effective look-through interest means for a person and an LTC, treating the LTC as a company for the purposes of this subsection,—
- (a) a person's average daily look-through interest for the company for the income year, if there is no market value circumstance for the LTC and paragraph (b) does not apply:
  - (b) a person's look-through interest for the relevant time of look-through under subsection (4), if there is no market value circumstance for the LTC, and—
    - (i) the assessable income of the LTC, ignoring this subpart, is or will be $3,000,000 or more in a 12-month period including the relevant time of look-through, and the Commissioner has notified the LTC that look-through interests for the relevant time of look-through under subsection (4) must be used under this section:
    - (ii) all persons with look-through interests have agreed to use their look-through interests for the relevant time of look-through:

- (c) if there is a market value circumstance for the LTC and paragraph (d) does not apply, the average of the following 2 amounts:
  - (i) a person's average daily look-through interest for the income year:
  - (ii) a person's average daily market value interest for the income year:
- (d) if there is a market value circumstance for the LTC, and the assessable income and notification requirements described in paragraph (b)(i) are met, the average of the following 2 amounts:
  - (i) a person's look-through interest for the time of look-through under subsection (4):
  - (ii) a person's market value interest for the time of look-through under subsection (4).

Elections and methods

- (6) Inland Revenue Act elections and methods relating to an LTC are chosen by the company ignoring subsection (4), and then subsection (4) applies so that the elections and methods are those of an owner of an effective look-through interest for the look-through company.

Defined in this Act: arrangement, assessable income, Commissioner, company, effective look-through interest, ESCT rules, FBT rules, income year, look-through company, look-through interest, market value circumstance, market value interest, NRWT rules, PAYE rules, RSCT rules, RWT rules

HB 2 Previous income and expenditure or loss

Despite a person who has an effective look-through interest for a look-through company (the LTC) not having an interest at the relevant time, the person may be treated as deriving income or incurring an expenditure or loss which the LTC derived or incurred ignoring section HB 1, or would have derived or incurred ignoring section HB 1 if it had not ceased to exist. This section does not allow 2 deductions for 1 expenditure or loss, and may apply to income derived before the LTC becomes a look-through company.

Defined in this Act: effective look-through interest, income, income year, look-through company

HB 3 Loss balances extinguished

Despite sections HB 1 and HB 2, a loss balance under Part I (Treatment of tax losses) is cancelled if the loss balance arose in relation to an income year when a company was not a look-through company, or when a company that amalgamates with a look-through company was not a look-through company.

Defined in this Act: amalgamation, company, income year, look-through company, loss balance

Section HB 3: inserted, on 1 April 2011 (applying for income years beginning on or after 1 April 2011, and for the purposes of the Commissioner receiving LTC elections, on and after 21 December 2010), by section 78(1) of the Taxation (GST and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 130).

Election for specified livestock disposed of to new owner

- (2) Section HB 10 applies for an entering owner if the entering owner furnishes a return of income that applies the section.

Permanent cessation

- (3) A person is treated as disposing of all of their owner's interests for a look-through company to a single third party for a payment equal to the interests' market value, if the look-through company ceases to exist as an entity through liquidation, court order, or otherwise.

Capital reduction

- (4) A person is treated as disposing of all of their owner's interests for a look-through company to a single third party for a payment equal to the interests' market value to the extent to which an owner's capital is reduced by a cancellation or a buy-back by the look-through company that is not pro rata for all owners.

Receipt upon permanent cessation

- (5) Anything received by an owner in relation to permanent cessation or capital reduction, as described in subsection (3) or (4), is ignored.

Cessation due to revocation or otherwise

- (6) A person is treated as disposing of all of their owner's interests for a look-through company to a single third party for a payment equal to the interests' market value, if the look-through company ceases to be a look-through company because of a revocation or otherwise, but excluding cessation as described in subsection (3). The company is treated as acquiring all of the person's interests immediately after the cessation, from the third party, for a payment equal to the interests' market value, and for the purposes of section CB 15 (Transactions between associated persons), the person disposing of, and the company acquiring, the interests are treated as associated persons.

Section HB 4: inserted, on 1 April 2011 (applying for income years beginning on or after 1 April 2011, and for the purposes of the Commissioner receiving LTC elections, on and after 21 December 2010), by section 78(1) of the Taxation (GST and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 130).

HB 5 Disposal of owner's interests

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when a person (the exiting owner) disposes of some or all of their owner's interests (the current interests) for a look-through company, if the amount calculated using the formula is less than zero—

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{disposal payment} + \text{previous payments} \\ & - (\text{gross tax value} - \text{liabilities}) - $50,000. \end{aligned}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (2) In the formula,—
- (a) disposal payment is the total amount of consideration paid or payable to the exiting owner for the current interests:
  - (b) previous payments is the total amount of consideration paid or payable to the exiting owner for other disposals of some or all of their owner's interests (the other interests) that have occurred in the year before the disposal of the current interests:
  - (c) gross tax value is the total of—
    - (i) the value under this Act of the current interests and other interests at the time the relevant interest is disposed of, to the extent to which the interests are revenue account property or depreciable property or financial arrangements:
    - (ii) the market value of the current interests and other interests at the time the relevant interest is disposed of, to the extent to which the interests are not revenue account property or depreciable property or financial arrangements:
  - (d) liabilities is the amount of liabilities under generally accepted accounting practice at the time the relevant interest is disposed of, calculated by reference to the exiting owner's ownership share for the relevant interest.

Exiting owner: excluded payment

- (3) The disposal payment described in subsection (2)(a) is excluded income of the exiting owner.

Exiting owner: no deduction

- (4) The exiting owner is denied a deduction in relation to the current interests for the income year in which the disposal of the interests occurs and later income years to the extent to which the entering owner is allowed a deduction because of subsection (6).

Entering owner: no deduction

- (5) An entering owner is denied a deduction for the disposal payment described in subsection (2)(a).

Entering owner: stepping in

- (6) For the purposes of calculating the income and deductions of an entering owner for the part of the income year after the disposal of the interests occurs and later income years (the post-disposal periods), the entering owner is treated for the post-disposal periods as if they had originally acquired and held the current interests, not the exiting owner. However, this subsection does not apply to a deduction carried forward under section HB 12.

Relationship with section HB 4

- (7) Section HB 4 overrides this section.

Defined in this Act: deduction, depreciable property, dispose, entering owner, excluded income, financial arrangement, income tax liability, look-through company, owner's interests, pay, return of income, revenue account property, year

Exiting owner: excluded payment

- (2) The amount of consideration paid or payable to the exiting owner for the trading stock is excluded income of the exiting owner.

No deduction

Owner's basis

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), the amount that is the owner's basis is calculated using the following formula:

company for the purposes of section CD 44(7)(a), unless the gain is accounted for under paragraph (a):

- (c) assessable income that the person has in previous income years from goods and services they contributed to the LTC, if the income is not accounted for under subsection (5) or paragraph (a) or (b) of this subsection.

dividend – FIF amount.

Definition of items in formula

- (7C) In the formula,—

- (a) dividend is the amount that would, under section HB 1, be the person's proportion of the dividend paid by a FIF to the LTC, if section CD 36(1) were ignored:

- (9) Disallowed amount is the amount of investments, as defined in subsection (5), made by the person within 60 days of the end of the income year, if those investments are or will be distributed or reduced within 60 days of the end of the income year, but an amount of investment made by the person within 60 days of the end of the income year is not a disallowed amount if the total amount distributed or reduced within 60 days of the end of the income year is $10,000 or less.

Exclusion

- (10) This section does not deny a person (the exiting person) a deduction that is equal to or less than the amount of net income that the exiting person has for the amount paid or payable to the exiting person for the disposal of their owner's interests, ignoring other transactions.

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when, for an income year, a person is denied a deduction under section HB 11.

Carry-forward: conditional on continued existence of look-through company and holding of effective look-through interest

- (2) The person is allowed a deduction, for an amount for which the person is denied a deduction under section HB 11, for the income year (the later year) after the income year for which it is denied under section HB 11, unless—

- (a) the look-through company ceases to be a look-through company in the later year:
- (b) the person ceases to have an effective look-through interest in the later year.

Carry-forward: resumption

- (3) If a person would have been allowed a deduction for an amount but for the application of subsection (2)(a) or (b) for the later year, they are allowed a deduction for the amount for the first income year after the later year in which either they resume an effective look-through interest for the look-through company, or the relevant company resumes being a look-through company. However, the amount of that deduction is reduced by the total amount allowed as a deduction under subsections (4) and (5).

Exception for deductions against continuing company dividends

- (4) Despite subsection (2), the person is allowed a deduction for the later year for an amount (the protected amount) for which they would have been allowed a deduction but for the application of subsection (2)(a) or (b) for the later year to the extent to which the protected amount is equal to or lesser than the dividends received by the person from the company for the later year.

Further deductions against continuing company dividends

- (5) For an income year after the later year, an amount equal to the protected amount reduced by the total of deductions allowed in income years before the income year under subsection (4) and this subsection, is allowed as a deduction for the person to the extent to which the amount is equal to or less than the dividends received by the person from the company for the income year.

Relationship with subject matter

Section HB 12: inserted, on 1 April 2011 (applying for income years beginning on or after 1 April 2011, and for the purposes of the Commissioner receiving LTC elections, on and after 21 December 2010), by section 78(1) of the Taxation (GST and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 130).

  - (a) is signed and dated by a director of the company that becomes a look-through company (the LTC) or other agent with appropriate authority; and
  - (b) is in the form prescribed by the Commissioner; and
  - (c) specifies an income year beginning on or after 1 April 2011 for which it may first operate; and
  - (d) has attached to it notices—
    - (i) signed and dated by all persons who, on the date of signing the election, own look-through interests in the LTC; and
    - (ii) evidence unanimous agreement of the owners in choosing to apply section HB 1.

Legal incapacities

- (2) If a person owns a look-through interest in the LTC, and either they are under 18 years old with a guardian or a contract they enter into could be unenforceable, cancelled, void, or voidable due to any legal incapacity other than age, the notice requirement in subsection (1)(d) is modified so as to require a guardian, person with power of attorney, or other legal representative to sign and date the written notice, instead of the person.

Time of receipt of LTC elections

- (3) For the purposes of section HB 1, the election—
  - (a) must be received by the Commissioner before the start of the income year specified in the election; or

- (b) in the case of a company that has not previously been required to file a return of income for a year before the income year specified in the election, must be received by the Commissioner before the last day for filing the return of income required by section 42B of the Tax Administration Act 1994 for the year specified in the election; or
- (c) in the case of a company that was a qualifying company that first becomes a look-through company for the first or second income year that starts on or after 1 April 2011, must be received by the Commissioner within 6 months of the start of the relevant transitional income year described in section HZ 4C(1) (Qualifying companies: transition into look-through companies).

Income year for which LTC elections are treated as received

- (4) For the purposes of section HB 1, the election is treated as received for the first relevant income year described in subsection (3) and for each income year after that one, except it is treated as not received by the Commissioner for an income year (the income year) and subsequent income years if—
  - (a) the election has been revoked for the income year under section HB 1;
  - (b) the LTC does not meet the requirements in the definition of look-through company at all times in the income year;
  - (c) the income year is 1 of the 2 income years straight after an income year for which either the LTC ceases to be a look-through company or the relevant election for the LTC is revoked.

Commissioner's discretion as to LTC elections

- (5) An election that is late or does not have each person signing and dating as required by subsection (1)(a) and (d) is treated as an election that has been received by the Commissioner for the income year under subsection (3) but subject to subsection (4), if all relevant persons sign and date it during the income year it may first operate, and the Commissioner decides that ex-exceptional circumstances are the sole cause of the lateness or failure to sign and date.

Defined in this Act: Commissioner, company, director, income year, look-through company, look-through interest, notice, qualifying company, return of income

Section HB 13: inserted, on 1 April 2011 (applying for income years beginning on or after 1 April 2011, and for the purposes of the Commissioner receiving LTC elections, on and after 21 December 2010), by section 78(1) of the Taxation (GST and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 130).

Section HB 13(5): amended (with effect on 1 April 2011), on 2 November 2012, by section 81 of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Returns Filing, and Remedial Matters) Act 2012 (2012 No 88).

    - (i) income tax:

- (ii) a civil penalty, as defined in section 3(1) of the Tax Administration Act 1994;
- (iii) an amount payable under Part 7 of that Act; and
- (c) it is reasonable to conclude that—
  - (i) a purpose of the arrangement is to have the effect described in paragraph (b); and
  - (ii) if a director of the company at the time of the arrangement made reasonable inquiries, they could have anticipated at the time that the income tax liability would, or would likely, be required to be met.

When this section does not apply

- (2) This section does not apply to an arrangement if—
  - (a) the Commissioner is a party to the arrangement;
  - (b) the tax obligation is no more than an amount of income tax that arises as a direct result of the performance of the arrangement, and that obligation has been met;

Director's liability

  - (a) they do not derive a benefit from the arrangement, and at the first reasonable opportunity after becoming aware of the arrangement, or the aspects of the arrangement that cause this section to apply to it, they record formally their dissent in relation to the arrangement with the company and with the Commissioner; or

Shareholder's liability

- (4) A person who is a controlling shareholder or an interested shareholder at the time of the arrangement is treated as an agent of the company in relation to the tax obligation other than penalties and interest but, despite section HD 3(2), the liability is limited to the greater of—
- (a) the market value of the person's direct and indirect shareholding in the company at the time of the arrangement; and
  - (b) the value of the benefit that the person derives from the arrangement.

Shareholder's liability for penalties and interest

- (5) A person who is a controlling shareholder or an interested shareholder at the time of the arrangement is treated as an agent of the company in relation to penalties and interest in proportion to their liability for the tax obligation under subsection (4).

Company liquidations

- (6) In order to give effect to this section, if a company has been liquidated, the Commissioner may at any time after the liquidation make an assessment of a company for an income tax liability of the company as if it had not been liquidated. The time bar applies, but this subsection overrides other provisions in this Act and the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Agents for purposes of notification or objection procedures

- (7) In making an assessment under subsection (6), the Commissioner must nominate 1 or more persons as having the tax obligation set out in the assessment. The nominated person or persons are treated as agents of the company in relation to any notification or objection procedure concerning the assessment.

When liability does not arise

- (8) No liability arises under this section for a tax year in relation to which—
- (a) a company has provided returns within the time allowed by section 37 of the Tax Administration Act 1994 for providing returns for the tax year in which the company is liquidated; and

Some definitions

- (9) In this section,—

- (a) a person whose voting interest or market value interest in the company at the time of the arrangement, together with any interests of an associated person, is 50% or more; and
- (b) if the person or associated person is a company, the voting interest or market value interest of the person or associated person is calculated as if they were not a company and as if sections YC 4 (Look-through rule for corporate shareholders) and YC 6 (Disregarding certain securities) did not apply

director means,—

- (a) a person who occupies the position of director, whether or not the position has that title;

interested shareholder means a person who, at the time the arrangement is entered into, has a voting interest or market value interest in the company, calculated in either case if the person is a company as if the person were not a company, and because of the size of the benefit that the person derives from the arrangement, it is reasonable to conclude that the person is a party to the arrangement penalties and interest means a civil penalty or amount payable under Part 7 of the Tax Administration Act 1994 that is part of the tax obligation.

Defined in this Act: agent, amount, arrangement, assessment, associated person, Commissioner, company, controlling shareholder, director, income tax, income tax liability, interested shareholder, liquidation, market value, market value interest, New Zealand, notice, notify, penalties and interest, return of income, tax, tax year, time bar, voting interest

Section HM 41(4): added, on 29 August 2011 (applying for the 2012–13 and later income years for a foreign investment variable-rate PIE and a notified foreign investor in the PIE), by section 72(1) of the Taxation (Tax Administration and Remedial Matters) Act 2011 (2011 No 63).

HM 42 Exit calculation option

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when a multi-rate PIE chooses for a tax year to calculate its income tax liability for exiting investors and remaining investors. The PIE must notify the Commissioner under section 31B of the Tax Administration Act 1994 of this election.

Calculation for exiting investors

- (2) For an investor whose interest has reached the exit level during the tax year, the PIE must calculate its income tax liability under section HM 47 for the investor and the relevant exit period. The exit level and exit periods are determined under sections HM 62 and HM 63.

Calculations for investors for non-exit periods

- (3) For investors and periods in the income year other than exit periods, the PIE must calculate its income tax liability under section HM 47 for the relevant period.

Payment to Commissioner

- (4) The PIE must pay to the Commissioner—
- (a) the amount of income tax liability for an exiting investor for the exit period—
    - (i) within 1 month after the end of the month of withdrawal; or
    - (ii) if the month of withdrawal is November, by the following 15 January; and
  - (b) the rest of the PIE's income tax liability for the tax year within 1 month after the end of the tax year for remaining investors in the PIE at the end of the tax year, after allowing for any payment under paragraph (a) or any voluntary payment under section HM 45.

Provisional tax rules

- (5) The PIE is not required to pay provisional tax under subpart RC (Provisional tax) for the tax year.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, exit level, exit period, income tax liability, income year, investor, multi-rate PIE, pay, PIE, provisional tax, tax year

Section HM 42: inserted, on 1 April 2010 (applying for the 2010–11 and later income years), by section 292(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

HM 42B Part-year tax calculations for PIEs under the exit calculation option for the 2010–11 tax year

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies to a PIE for the 2010–11 tax year if section HM 42 applies to the PIE for that year and the PIE chooses to apply this section by filing a return under section 57B(5) or (7) of the Tax Administration Act 1994 in accordance with this section.

Part-year tax calculations: description

- (2) For calculating their income tax liability for the 2010–11 tax year, the PIE treats references to an income year or a tax year as if they are references to 2 separate tax years and corresponding income years within that tax year, divided by 1 October 2010 (for example: an amount of income attributed to a date before 1 October 2010 is included in the first part-year and taxed using the notified investor rate advised before 1 October 2010. A notified investor rate advised on or after 1 October 2010 is applied only to the amount of income attributed to the second part-year).

Part-year tax calculations: effect

- (3) The part-year calculations may give rise to income and deductions for the income year and they do create part-year tax return obligations, except that the requirement for returns under section 57B(7)(a) of the Tax Administration Act 1994 and for notice in relation to investors or proxies under section 31C(4) of that Act can be met by sending returns or notices on a full-year or part-year basis. The 2 part-year calculations create 2 income tax liabilities for 2 part-years.

Foreign tax credits: special rule

- (4) Despite subsections (2) and (3), tax credits under subpart LJ (Tax credits for foreign income tax) may be used in accordance with section HM 51 in either part-year, if they are attributable to the first part-year.

Defined in this Act: deduction, income, income tax liability, income year, notified investor rate, PIE, tax credit, tax year

Section HM 42B: inserted, on 1 October 2010, by section 69 of the Taxation (Annual Rates, Trans-Tasman Savings Portability, KiwiSaver, and Remedial Matters) Act 2010 (2010 No 109).

HM 43 Quarterly calculation option

Quarterly calculation

- (1) A multi-rate PIE that does not choose to calculate and pay its income tax liability under the exit calculation or provisional tax calculation options, must calculate its tax liability for each quarter of the tax year using the formula set out in section HM 47. The notice requirements are set out in section 31B of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

- Quarterly payment*
- (2) The PIE must pay to the Commissioner the amount of its income tax liability for the quarter within 1 month of the end of the quarter.
- Exiting investors: zero-rated*
- (3) If the investor interest of an investor in the PIE has reached the exit level, they are treated under section HM 61 as zero-rated for the exit period which includes a grace period of 5 working days after the end of the quarter. This subsection does not apply if the PIE voluntarily chooses to pay an amount under section HM 45.
- Exiting investors: remaining value to Commissioner*
- (4) If the investor interest of an investor at the end of an exit period is more than zero, the PIE must pay an amount equal to the value of the interest to the Commissioner at the same time as the payment referred to in subsection (2).
- Provisional tax rules*
- (5) The PIE is not required to pay provisional tax under subpart RC (Provisional tax) for the tax year.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, exit level, exit period, income tax liability, investor interest, multi-rate PIE, notice, pay, PIE, provisional tax, quarter, tax year, working day

Notification regarding the type of PIE and attribution period is made under section 31B of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

HM 44B NRWT calculation option

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when—

- (a) a foreign investment PIE—
  - (i) derives a dividend that is not fully imputed from a company resident in New Zealand; and
  - (ii) pays an amount that represents some or all of the amount of the dividend to a notified foreign investor in the PIE by the date on which the PIE is required to pay its income tax liability under section HM 42 or HM 43, as applicable; and
- (b) the PIE chooses to calculate and pay the tax liability in relation to the amount under subpart RF (Withholding tax on non-resident passive income).

When this section also applies: supplementary dividends

- (1B) This section also applies when—
  - (a) a foreign investment PIE—
    - (i) derives a dividend with imputation credits attached from a company resident in New Zealand together with a related supplementary dividend; and

Relationship with section HM 35(8)

- (5) When a foreign investment PIE derives a dividend and related supplementary dividend as described in subsection (1B), the allocation rule set out in section HM 35(8) does not apply. The dividend and related supplementary dividend are treated as having been allocated on the date on which ownership of the shares determines a legal entitlement to the dividend.

HM 46 Calculation process

To calculate its tax liability, a multi-rate PIE must—

- (a) determine the net amount for each investor class of the PIE:
- (b) determine the taxable amount for each investor class of the PIE:
- (c) calculate its tax liability for each investor in an investor class for each day of an attribution period.

Defined in this Act: amount, attribution period, investor, investor class, multi-rate PIE, PIE

Compare: 2007 No 97 ss HL 19, HL 20

Section HM 46: inserted, on 1 April 2010 (applying for the 2010–11 and later income years), by section 292(1) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 (2009 No 34).

HM 47 Calculation of tax liability or tax credit of multi-rate PIEs

What this section does

- (1) This section quantifies the amount of the tax liability or tax credit of a multi-rate PIE for a calculation period.

Calculating amount

- (2) The amount of the PIE's tax liability or tax credit is the sum of the amounts calculated using the formula in subsection (3) for—
  - (a) each investor class in which the investor has an investor interest:
  - (b) each investor in an investor class:
  - (c) each attribution period in the calculation period:
  - (d) each day in an attribution period.

Notified foreign investors

- (2B) For the purposes of subsection (2), for a notified foreign investor in a foreign investment PIE, the amount of the PIE's tax liability for each investor is the sum of the amounts calculated using the formula in subsection (3) for the amount attributed to the investor for each particular income source and investment type.

Formula

- (3) The formula is—
$$\text{rate} \times \text{amount}.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (4) In the formula,—
- (a) rate is—
- (i) the tax rate under section HM 58 or HM 60, as applicable, that relates to the investor for each day for the period; or
  - (ib) the tax rates applying under schedule 6, table 1B (Prescribed rates: PIE investments and retirement scheme contributions) for an amount attributed to a notified foreign investor in relation to each income source and investment type; or
  - (ii) 28%, if the PIE is treated as the sole investor under section HM 37:
- (b) amount is the amount calculated under sections HM 36(1) and (2) and HM 37, as applicable, for the investor.

Result of formula: tax liability or tax credit

- (5) If the result of the formula in subsection (3) is positive, the amount is the PIE's tax liability for the calculation period. If the result is negative, the amount is a tax credit of the PIE under section LS 1 (Tax credits for multi-rate PIEs), see section HM 55. However, a tax credit does not arise under section LS 1 for a multi-rate PIE that chooses to use the provisional tax calculation option.

Negative result and foreign investment PIEs

- (6) If the result of the formula in subsection (3) is negative and the multi-rate PIE has chosen under section HM 71B to become a foreign investment PIE, no tax credit arises in relation to an amount attributed to an investor in the PIE who is, at the time of attribution, a notified foreign investor.

HM 49 Tax credits: when sections HM 50 to HM 55 apply

When sections apply

- (1) Sections HM 50 to HM 55 apply in relation to the tax credits of a multi-rate PIE or proxy for an investor in a multi-rate PIE that has not chosen to calculate its income tax liability under section HM 44 using the provisional tax calculation option.

Limitation

- (2) The entity must not, other than under sections HM 51 to HM 55,—

  - (b) attach the tax credit to a distribution or transfer the tax credit to another person.

Relationship with Part L

Attributing amount to investor

- (2) The amount of the credit attributable to an investor in an investor class of the PIE for an attribution period is calculated using the formula in subsection (3). The amount attributed to the investor is the total of the amounts calculated for each investment of the PIE and each day in the attribution period.

No disposal: same partnership

- (2) No partners' interests are disposed of merely because of the termination and succession described in subsection (1)(b). The partners of the special partnership are treated as the same partners of the new limited partnership.

Initial basis

- (3) For the purposes of applying sections HG 11 and HG 12 (which relate to limited partnerships deduction rules) to the partners of the new limited partnership, all of the partners must choose one of the 2 following methods for calculating their partner's basis under section HG 11(3):
- (a) they may choose to use the market value or the accounting book value of the amounts described in section HG 11(3), as at the day the calculation is first performed, namely the last day of the first income year in which they are subject to sections HG 11 and HG 12; or
  - (b) they may choose to apply section HG 11(3) as if the special partnership had always been a limited partnership and all relevant rules relating to limited partnerships had always existed (applying those rules with any necessary modifications).

relevant partners must choose one of the 2 following methods for calculating their partner's basis under section HG 11:

- (a) they may choose to use the market value or the accounting book value of the amounts described in section HG 11, as at the day the calculation is first performed, namely the last day of the first income year in which they are subject to sections HG 11 and HG 12; or

On and after the first day of the transitional year, the existence of the qualifying company or companies is ignored for the purposes of the Inland Revenue Acts except to the extent necessary to give effect to this section.

Taxation continuity

- (3) The moving to the partnership of the assets, liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, under a QCP transitional process is treated for the purposes of the Inland Revenue Acts as a unique form of transference for such assets, liabilities, rights, and obligations, with the following effects:
- (a) the moving to the partnership of the assets, liabilities, and associated legal rights and obligations, is treated as not being a transfer of such assets, liabilities, rights, and obligations:

  - (e) all memorandum account balances and other tax accounting amounts for the qualifying company before the first day of the transitional income year are ignored and have no effect on and after that day (for example, the qualifying company has no effective ASC on and after the first day of the transitional income year).

Initial basis

- (5) For the purposes of applying sections HG 11 and HG 12 (which relate to limited partnership deduction rules) to the partners of a limited partnership described in subsection (2) for the transitional income year and later years, all of the partners must choose 1 of the 2 following methods for calculating their partner's basis under section HG 11(3):
- (a) for calculating amounts under section HG 11(5)(a) for shares that were held at the end of the income year (the last year) before the transitional income year, they may choose to use the market value or the accounting book value of those shares as at the end of the last year. Calculations under section HG 11(7)(b) and (8)(b) are changed to account for the valuation under this paragraph; or
  - (b) they may choose to apply section HG 11(3) as if the qualifying company had always been a limited partnership and all relevant rules relating to limited partnerships had always existed, applying those rules with any necessary modifications.

Initial basis not less than zero

- (6) If the application of sections HG 11 and HG 12, as modified by this section, calculates a partner's basis as less than zero, then the partner's basis is treated as being zero.

Meaning of QCP transitional process

- (7) QCP transitional process means a process, for which all outcomes are achieved in an income year (the transitional income year), by which a company or companies that are all qualifying companies at the end of the income year before the transitional income year transform into a partnership. The process must have the following outcomes:

- (b) the partners, or in the case of a limited partnership, the partners other than a company that is a general partner, are the same persons who, at the end of the income year before the transitional income year, were the shareholders of the qualifying company or companies, ignoring any person who dies in the transitional year; and
- (c) all assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, of the qualifying companies are moved to the partnership, excluding those that are inappropriate for a partnership; and
- (d) each partner must have the same net position in the partnership as to relevant assets and liabilities, and associated rights and obligations, as would arise on the winding up of the qualifying company or companies at the end of the income year before the transitional income year, treating any person who dies in the transitional year as still being a partner.

Intention of new law

- (1) The PIE rules are the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2007 relating to portfolio investment entities in rewritten form, and are intended to have the same effect as the relevant corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Act 2007. Subsection (3) overrides this subsection.

Using old law as interpretation guide

- (2) Unless subsection (3) applies, in circumstances where the meaning of a PIE rule (the new law) is unclear or gives rise to absurdity—
  - (a) the wording of the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2007 relating to portfolio investment entities that correspond to and are replaced by the PIE rules (the old law) must be used to determine the correct meaning of the new law; and
  - (b) it can be assumed that a corresponding old law provision exists for each new law provision.

Limits to subsections (1) and (2)

- (3) Subsections (1) and (2) do not apply in the case of—

- (a) a PIE rule that repeals an old law and replaces it with a new law;
- (b) a PIE rule that is amended after the commencement of section 292(2) of the Taxation (International Taxation, Life Insurance, and Remedial Matters) Act 2009, with effect from the date on which the amendment comes into force.

- (2) The binding ruling is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the ruling at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

No confirmation rulings

- (3) To the extent to which a binding ruling continued by subsection (2) exists and applies to an arrangement, or to a person and an arrangement, the Commissioner must not make a binding ruling on how—
- (a) the new law applies to the arrangement or to the person and the arrangement; or

- (d) in the absence of this section, the commencement of the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 would mean that the binding ruling would cease to apply because of section 91G of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Ruling about new law

- (2) The binding ruling continues to exist despite the intended change referred to in subsection (1)(c)(ii) from the commencement of this Act to the date on which the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 receives the Royal assent.

No confirmation rulings

- (3) To the extent to which a binding ruling continued by subsection (2) exists and applies to an arrangement, or to a person and an arrangement, the Commissioner must not make a binding ruling in the period that starts on the date of the commencement of this Act and ends on the date on which the Taxation (Consequential Rate Alignment and Remedial Matters) Act 2009 receives the Royal assent on how—

Reduced amounts

- (2) The relevant companies must reduce the amounts they subtracted either in the way company A allocates under subsection (3) or, if no allocation is made, proportionately under subsection (4).

- (3) Company A may choose how the amount by which the total must be reduced is allocated between or among the companies. But if company A allocates an amount to a company that is no longer part of the group at the time of the allocation, and the amount is more than a proportionate amount, the allocation is disregarded. Subsection (6) sets out the notice requirements for this subsection.

Proportionate amounts

- (4) If company A does not allocate the amounts by which the total must be reduced, the amounts subtracted by the group companies are reduced in the same proportion as that by which the total amount was reduced in determining the actual total tax loss.

Subvention payments

- (5) If the reduction results in a payment under section IC 5(2)(b) being treated as a dividend, the dividend is reduced to the extent to which the payment is repaid by company A within the notification period referred to in subsection (6).

Notifying Commissioner

- (6) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (5), company A must notify the Commissioner of the allocation within 6 months after the date on which the Commissioner notifies company A that the reduction is required. However, the Commissioner may agree to extend this notification period.

Limitation on loss grouping

- (2) The amount of company A's tax loss cannot be made available to another company in the group to use except to the extent to which the amount of the tax loss is more than the total amount of the deductions referred to in subsection (1)(a). #### Ring-fenced tax losses

- (2) Nothing in this subpart applies to a consolidated group whose companies are mining companies or mineral miners.

ID 2 Pre-consolidation losses: general treatment

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies in a tax year when a company that meets the requirements of section IA 5 (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward) and is part of a consolidated group has a pre-consolidation loss balance carried forward to the tax year.

First use

- (2) The first use of the loss balance must be to make the amount of the loss balance available to the consolidated group to subtract from its net income, so far as it extends, for the tax year.

Second use

- (3) If, after subsection (2) is applied, some of the loss balance remains, the company may choose to do 1 or more of the following:
- (a) subtract the remaining amount from its net income for the tax year;
  - (b) make the remaining amount available to another consolidated group to subtract from its net income for the tax year;
  - (c) make the remaining amount available under section IC 5 (Company B using company A's tax loss).

Third use

- (4) If, after subsections (2) and (3) are applied, a loss balance remains, the remaining amount is carried forward to the next tax year.

Relationship with sections IA 3, IA 4, IC 5, and provisions in this subpart

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IG 6(4), (6), (7)

ID 3 Pre-consolidation losses: use by group companies

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies in a tax year when—
- (a) a company (company A) that is part of a consolidated group has a loss balance to which section ID 2 applies; and
  - (b) company A, in the continuity period relating to a tax loss component included in the loss balance, does not have the required common ownership under section IC 3 (Common ownership: group of companies) with 1 or more companies in the consolidated group.

Limit on amount available

- (2) The amount made available under section ID 2(2) to the consolidated group is limited as follows:
- (a) if all the companies, including company A, in the consolidated group meet the requirements of section IC 6(1) (Common ownership for period): the amount available is limited to the amount of the loss balance to the extent of the net income of the consolidated group for the tax year:
  - (b) if some of the companies in the consolidated group meet the requirements of section IC 6(1): the amount available is limited to the total of—
    - (i) the amount that company A could subtract from its net income for the tax year if it were not in the tax year part of a consolidated group; and
    - (ii) the amount that could be made available under section IC 5 (Company B using company A's tax loss) to the other group companies in the tax year, ignoring the consolidation of the companies and presuming all steps required under section IC 5 were taken in order for the section to apply.

Relationship with section FM 3

- (3) In subsection (2), the calculation of the consolidated group's net income must be made in accordance with section FM 3 (Liability of consolidated groups and group companies).

Relationship with section ID 2

ID 4 Pre-consolidation losses on entry: part-year ruleWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies if a company that is part of a consolidated group has a loss balance to which section ID 2 applies in a tax year when the company joins the consolidated group.

Limit on amount available

- (2) The amount of the loss balance to be made available to the consolidated group under section ID 2(2) is the lesser of the amount the company establishes in financial statements under subsection (3), or the amount calculated using the formula in subsection (4), but in either case, it must not be more than the limit set out in section ID 3(2).

Financial statements

- (3) The company may establish the amount to be made available by providing the Commissioner, at the time of providing the consolidated group's return of income, with adequate financial statements that—
- (a) relate to the part of the tax year when the company was part of the consolidated group; and
  - (b) disclose the amount that would be the net income attributable to the part of the tax year when the company was part of the consolidated group, determined on a fair and reasonable basis of attribution.

Formula

- (4) The amount that may be made available under section ID 2(2) and referred to in subsection (2) is calculated using the formula—
- $$\text{unused amount} - (\text{part-year net income} + \text{part-year net loss}).$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula,—
- (a) unused amount is the loss balance carried forward from an earlier tax year or years that would be subtracted from the consolidated group's net income for the tax year in the absence of section ID 3 or this section:
  - (b) part-year net income is the company's net income for the part of the tax year before the company joins the consolidated group:

- (c) part-year net loss is the amount of a pre-consolidation tax loss that must be subtracted under section ID 2 from the net income of another consolidated group of which the company was part in the tax year before joining the consolidated group referred to in subsection (1).

ID 5 Pre-consolidation losses on exit: part-year rule

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies if a company that is part of a consolidated group has a loss balance to which section ID 2 applies in a tax year when the company leaves the consolidated group.

Limit on amount available

- (2) In addition to the amount available under section IP 3(3) (Continuity breach: tax loss components of companies carried forward) but subject to the limit in section ID 3(2), the amount of the company's loss balance that is carried forward to the tax year must be no more than the consolidated group's net income for the relevant part of the tax year. For part-year calculations, see subpart IP (Meeting requirements for part-years).

Financial statements

- (3) The consolidated group must provide the Commissioner with adequate financial statements that disclose the amount that would be the consolidated group's net income for the relevant part of the tax year, determined on a fair and reasonable basis of attribution. The statements must be filed with the consolidated group's return of income for the tax year.

Continuity requirements

- (4) For the purposes of this section, the company must meet the threshold level set out in section IC 2(1) (Threshold levels for grouping tax losses in tax year) for the relevant part of the tax year.

- (2) The general rules for the treatment of tax losses in subparts IA, IC, and ID (which relate to the general use and grouping of tax losses) apply, as modified or overridden by the provisions of this subpart, to—
- (a) a part-year tax loss as if it were a tax loss for a tax year:

Common span when balance dates differ

- (2) If the income years of company A and company B do not end on the same date, the common span is that part of company B's income year or income years in which the requirements for commonality are met. Section IC 10(2)(b) (When companies have different balance dates) may apply to extend the period.

Calculating group companies' tax losses

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of section IA 4 (Using loss balances carried forward to tax year) if a breach occurs in the requirements for continuity of ownership of section IA 5 (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward) that enable a tax loss component included in a company's loss balance to be carried forward to or from a tax year.

Tax loss components for earlier income years

- (2) Despite the breach, a tax loss component arising in an earlier income year is carried forward to a tax year (year A) to the extent to which—
- (a) the requirements for continuity of ownership would be met if the continuity period included only part of the income year of the company that corresponds to year A; and
  - (b) the company has net income for part of the corresponding income year; and
  - (c) the company provides the Commissioner with adequate financial statements under section IP 6 calculating the amount of the company's net income for the relevant part of the corresponding income year.

Tax loss components of year of breach

- (4) Despite the breach, a tax loss component is carried forward to the tax year (year B) from year A to the extent to which—
- (a) the requirements for continuity of ownership would be met if the continuity period included only part of the income year that corresponds to year A; and

- (a) the part-year net loss calculated under subsection (4)(b);

Relationship with section IC 8

- (4) Despite subsection (2)(ab), section IC 8 overrides this section in limiting the amount that may be used when the net income derived in the common span is more than the net income of company B for the income year.

IQ 2 Ring-fencing cap on attributed CFC net losses

When this section applies

- (1A) This section applies if a person, for a tax year and a country or territory (the jurisdiction),—

    - (ii) made available under section IQ 4 to the person by another company in the same group.

Amount subtracted: losses not from elective attributing CFCs or elective attributing FIFs

- (1) The total amount of attributed CFC net loss and FIF net loss, relating to a CFC or FIF (the loss entity) resident in the jurisdiction when the loss arises and not an elective attributing CFC or elective attributing FIF, that is subtracted from the person's net income for the tax year is the lesser of—
- (a) the total amount of attributed CFC income, and FIF income calculated under the attributable FIF income method or branch equivalent method, that the person derives in the tax year in relation to a CFC or FIF that is resident in the jurisdiction for the accounting period corresponding to the tax year:
  - (b) the total amount of attributed CFC net loss and FIF net loss—
    - (i) relating to the loss entity and the jurisdiction; and
    - (ii) carried forward to the tax year or made available in the tax year to the person by another company in the same group; and

- (iii) available to the person under subsection (1B), (1C), or section IQ 3.

Losses from year after transition

- (1B) If an amount of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss arises for a person in an income year for which section IQ 2B applies to the person, or is made available to the person by a company for which the loss arises in an income year for which section IQ 2B applies to the company, all of the attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss is available for subtracting from the person's net income for the tax year.

Attributed CFC net losses from income year before transition

IQ 2B applies to the person and is carried forward to a tax year in which section IQ 2B applies to the person,—

- (a) the amount of the attributed CFC net loss available in the tax year for subtracting from the person's net income is equal to the equivalent CFC loss under section IQ 2B;
- (b) the amount of the attributed CFC net loss is reduced by the converted BE loss under section IQ 2B.

Income only once

- (2) In subsection (1), the person may take into account an amount of attributed CFC income or FIF income only to the extent to which they have not accounted for it in—
  - (a) calculating a deduction under sections DN 4 or DN 8 (which relate to ring-fencing caps); or
  - (b) establishing their entitlement to make available, under section IC 5 (Company B using company A's tax loss) or IQ 4, an amount of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss carried forward; or
  - (c) applying subsection (1) in relation to another attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss.

Treatment of excess

- (3) If the person cannot use all of the maximum amount referred to in subsection (1) because there is insufficient net income, the surplus is no longer available to them as a CFC net loss, but becomes a tax loss component under section IA 2(4) (Tax losses).

  - (b) the amount (the equivalent CFC loss) of attributed CFC net loss or FIF net loss for the jurisdiction that, for the purposes of the rest of this subpart, is treated as arising on the last day of the conversion year.

Option: loss not carried forward

    - (i) the person's available BE loss for the conversion year:
    - (ii) the greater of the person's jurisdictional BE income for the conversion year and the amount calculated by multiplying the group's jurisdictional income ratio for the conversion year by the person's jurisdictional attributed income for the conversion year:
  - (b) the person's equivalent CFC loss is the amount calculated by dividing the person's converted BE loss for the conversion year by the group's jurisdictional income ratio for the conversion year.

Resident group member: more jurisdictional attributed income

- (7) For a person who is a resident group member and has jurisdictional attributed income for the conversion year that is greater than or equal to zero and greater than or equal to the person's jurisdictional BE income for the conversion year,—

IQ 2C Effect of FIF net loss if attributed FIF income method not available

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies for a person and a country (the jurisdiction) when—
  - (a) the person has an amount (the available BE loss) of FIF net loss calculated using the branch equivalent method—
    - (i) relating to a tax year (the loss year) before the first tax year for which this section applies to the person; and

- (ii) relating to a FIF that is resident in the jurisdiction in the loss year; and
- (iii) carried forward to a tax year (the current year) in which this section applies to the person; and
- (b) the person is not able to use the attributable FIF income method in the current year for the person's interest in the FIF; and
- (c) the person would be able to use the attributable FIF income method in the current year for the person's interest in the FIF if the interest met the requirements of section EX 46(3)(a)(ii) (Limits on choice of calculation methods); and
- (d) the person does not have an income interest of 10% or more in a CFC in the jurisdiction in the current year; and
- (e) the person does not have an attributing interest in a FIF in the jurisdiction in the current year for which the person can use the attributable FIF income method.

Use of FIF net loss

- (2) The person's available BE loss is available to be subtracted from the person's FIF income, to the extent of the FIF income, in the current year from the FIF, if the FIF is resident in the jurisdiction in the current year.

Treatment of surplus

- (3) If the person cannot use all of the available BE loss in the current year, the surplus is available to be carried forward for use under subsection (2) in another tax year.

Defined in this Act: amount, attributable FIF income method, attributing interest, branch equivalent method, CFC, FIF, FIF income, FIF net loss, income interest, tax year

Section IQ 2C: inserted (with effect on 1 July 2011 and applying for income years beginning on or after that date), on 17 July 2013, by section 67(1) of the Taxation (Livestock Valuation, Assets Expenditure, and Remedial Matters) Act 2013 (2013 No 52).

IQ 3 Ring-fencing cap on FIF net losses

Limit on amount: branch equivalent method

- (1) If a person's FIF net loss is carried forward to a tax year (the current tax year) or FIF net loss is made available to the person in the current tax year,—

- (a) FIF net loss relating to a tax year for which section IQ 2B applies to the person is available to be subtracted under section IQ 2 from the person's net income for the current tax year; and
- (b) FIF net loss relating to a tax year for which section IQ 2B does not apply to the person—
  - (i) is available to be subtracted from the person's net income for the current tax year to the extent of the equivalent CFC loss under section IQ 2B; and
  - (ii) is reduced in the current tax year by the converted BE loss under section IQ 2B.

Relationship with section CQ 5

- (2) Despite subsection (1) and section IQ 2, if the person's FIF net loss is carried forward to a tax year and section CQ 5(1)(d) or (e) (When FIF income arises) applies, they may subtract the amount from their net income for the tax year, but only to the extent to which the amount is no more than their assessable income from interests that would be interests in a FIF for the tax year in the absence of that section.

Treatment of excess

- (3) If the person cannot use all of the amount that is available tax loss under section IQ 2(1) because there is insufficient net income, the surplus is no longer available to them as a FIF net loss, but becomes a tax loss component under section IA 2(4) (Tax losses).

If the person makes the net loss available to another person, the maximum amount that can be subtracted by the other person is $10,000.

When person conducts 2 or more specified activities

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), if the specified activity net loss arises from the conduct of 2 or more specified activities—

    - (i) the sum of the person's specified activity net income from each of the specified activities; and
    - (ii) $10,000; and
  - (b) the person may choose by notice which amounts of net income from the specified activities to subtract from their net income.

When 2 or more persons conduct specified activity

- (3) If 2 or more persons conduct a specified activity, this section applies as if every reference to—
- (a) a person were a reference to each person; and
  - (b) an amount of specified activity net loss attributable to the conduct of the specified activity were a reference to the amount of each person's share of the amount of any joint specified activity net loss for the tax year.

Income from personal exertion and hardship

- (4) The Commissioner may determine that the limit under subsection (1) does not apply, and may increase the amount of specified activity net loss that may be subtracted from a person's net income under that subsection if—

- (a) the person is engaged mainly in conducting a specified activity as their livelihood, and they derive income from personal exertion that—
  - (i) is derived as a result of the conduct of the specified activity but is not income from the specified activity; and
  - (ii) is made for the purpose of enabling the person to meet expenditure essential for the maintenance of either them and their dependants or for the continuation of the specified activity; and

Established activities excluded

- (6) This section does not apply to a specified activity net loss that relates to an established activity.

Related activities

- (7) A specified activity is related to another specified activity, and is treated as part of the other specified activity, if—
  - (a) it is usually conducted in association with and is complementary to the other specified activity that an existing farmer is already conducting; or

    - (ii) the existing farmer elects by notice in their return of income for the tax year in which they start the activity to have the activity treated as related; or
    - (iii) the Commissioner determines the activity is related.

Modification for specified activity

- (8) If this section would have a more favourable effect if the following words in paragraph (c)(ii) of the definition of specified activity in section YA 1 (Definitions) were omitted, this section applies as if those words were omitted:

“not including crops for which the preparation of the land, the planting and cultivation of the tree or plant, and the harvesting of the crop are accomplished within 12 months”.

When subsections (10) and (11) apply

- (9) Subsections (10) and (11) apply for the purposes of the definition of established activity in subsection (12) when—
- (a) land is transferred under a settlement of relationship property; and
