Heading: inserted, on 30 March 2017, by section 287 of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2016–17, Closely Held Companies, and Remedial Matters) Act 2017 (2017 No 14).

RZ 13 Treatment of prepayments*When this section applies*

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of the NRWT rules when—
- (a) a person resident in New Zealand enters into a financial arrangement before the date on which the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2016–17, Closely Held Companies, and Remedial Matters) Act 2017 receives the Royal assent (the date of enactment); and
 - (b) either—
 - (i) no obligation to withhold NRWT has arisen in relation to the arrangement before the date of enactment; or
 - (ii) approved issuer levy has been paid in relation to the arrangement before the date of enactment; and
 - (c) the arrangement would be a related-party debt if sections RF 12H to RF 12J (which relate to related-party debt) had applied to the arrangement before the date of enactment; and
 - (d) the person is party to the arrangement on or after the date of enactment.

When excess treated as paid

- (2) If, at the date on which section 273(1) of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2016–17, Closely Held Companies, and Remedial Matters) Act 2017 applies in relation to the arrangement, the total interest paid under the arrangement is more than the total expenditure accrued by the person on the arrangement, the excess interest is treated as paid on that date.

Foreign exchange treatment

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2) and an arrangement that is denominated in a foreign currency, the calculation of total interest and total expenditure must be made in the currency of the arrangement and the excess converted to New Zealand dollars under subpart YF (Currency conversion).

Example

On 1 April 2010, X Ltd borrowed $1m from Foreign Parent Ltd, repayable on 31 March 2025. Foreign Parent also has a New Zealand branch. On 31 March each year from 2011 to 2016, X makes an interest payment of $60,000 to Foreign Parent. As Foreign Parent has a New Zealand branch, these interest payments are not non-resident passive income, so no NRWT is required to be withheld. Once the amendments to section RF 2(1)(d) are enacted, any interest payments by X to Foreign Parent will be non-resident passive income. On 30 September 2016, X makes a one-off interest payment of $400,000 and agrees with Foreign Parent that no further interest will be paid. X calculates that $35,000 of this payment covers the period from 1 April 2016 to the date on which the amendments to section RF 2(1)(d) are enacted. The remaining $365,000 is treated as a prepayment that is paid on the date of enactment, so X is required to withhold NRWT of $36,500.

Defined in this Act: amount, approved issuer levy, financial arrangement, income year, interest, NRWT, NRWT rules, pay, related-party debt, resident in New Zealand

Section RZ 13: inserted, on 30 March 2017, by section 287 (and see section 5) of the Taxation (Annual Rates for 2016–17, Closely Held Companies, and Remedial Matters) Act 2017 (2017 No 14).

 - (c) holding all ownership interests in the initial parent.

Effect of subsection (3)

YD 5 Apportionment of income derived partly in New Zealand

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies when—
- (a) a person carries on business partly in New Zealand and partly outside New Zealand; or
 - (b) a contract is made in New Zealand and is performed, in whole or in part, by a person outside New Zealand; or
 - (c) a contract is made outside New Zealand and is performed, in whole or in part, by a person in New Zealand; or

- (d) interest or a redemption payment is derived from money lent outside New Zealand to a New Zealand resident (the borrower) for the purposes of a business they carry on outside New Zealand through a fixed establishment outside New Zealand and through which the borrower lends money to another New Zealand resident.

Relationship with source rules

- (1B) This section does not apply to limit the effect of—
- (a) any of the source rules in section YD 4 other than those in section YD 4(2), (3), and (11)(b)(i); or
- (b) the source rules in section YD 4(2), (3), and (11)(b)(i) to the extent to which the income referred to is also income referred to in any source rule other than those in section YD 4(2), (3), and (11)(b)(i).

Apportionment

- (2) Subject to subsection (4), the amount of income derived from the business or under the contract, and the amount of expenditure incurred in deriving the income, must be apportioned between New Zealand and sources outside New Zealand to the extent necessary to achieve the result in subsection (3).

Necessary effect of apportionment

- (3) The result of the apportionment, to the extent consistent with subsection (2), must be that the person's net income or net loss, in relation to the business or contract, is the same as a separate and independent person would have if they were carrying out only the person's activities in New Zealand and dealing at arm's length.

First formula: Apportionment of income from interest or redemption payment

- (4) Subject to subsections (6) and (7), interest or a redemption payment derived as described in subsection (1)(d) is apportioned to a source in New Zealand using the formula—

$$\text{loan ratio} \times \text{amount.}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula in subsection (4),—
- (a) loan ratio is calculated by applying the formula in subsection (8) to the business described in subsection (1)(d):
- (b) amount is the amount of interest or redemption payment described in subsection (1)(d).

Apportionment if loan ratio 0.05 or less

- (6) If the loan ratio calculated by applying the formula in subsection (8) to a business is 0.05 or less, then none of the interest or redemption payment is treated as having a source in New Zealand.

Apportionment if loan ratio 0.95 or more

- (7) If the loan ratio calculated by applying the formula in subsection (8) to a business is 0.95 or more, then all of the interest or redemption payment is treated as having a source in New Zealand.

Second formula: loan ratio

- (8) The item loan ratio in subsection (4) is calculated using the formula—financial arrangements producing New Zealand income ÷ total assets.

Definition of items in formula

- (9) In the formula in subsection (8),—
- (a) financial arrangements producing New Zealand income, for a business, means the value of the business's assets that are financial arrangements that produce income having a source in New Zealand as at—
- (i) the borrower's balance date that immediately precedes the income year; if the borrower has a balance date before the start of the income year; or
 - (ii) the end of the day before the date on which the interest or redemption payment is paid, if subparagraph (i) does not apply:
- (b) total assets, for a business, means the value of all of the business's assets as at—
- (i) the borrower's balance date that immediately precedes the income year, if the borrower has a balance date before the start of the income year; or
 - (ii) the end of the day before the date on which the interest or redemption payment is paid, if subparagraph (i) does not apply.

Example

At its balance date of 31 March 2018, NZ Sub UK Branch has total borrowings from the wholesale markets of NZ$2b. NZ$1.5b has been lent to NZ Bank Ltd at 4% p.a., NZ$500m lent to a UK resident at 12% p.a. and there are no other assets. On 31 October 2018, the UK resident repays its loan and NZ Sub UK Branch uses the amount to repay the wholesale market lenders. On 31 January 2019, NZ Sub UK Branch pays interest of NZ$60m. NZ Sub UK Branch calculates the loan ratio in section YD 5(8) as $\text{NZ$1.5b} \div \text{NZ$2b} = 0.75$. NZ Sub UK Branch calculates the apportionment of income from interest in section YD 5(4) as: $0.75 \times \text{NZ$60m} = \text{NZ$45m}$. Therefore, NZ$45m of the interest payment on 31 January 2019 has a New Zealand source, so NZ Sub UK Branch pays AIL of $900,000 which is included in its AIL return for January 2019.

Defined in this Act: amount, business, gross, financial arrangement, fixed establishment, income, income year, interest, loan, money lent, net loss, New Zealand, New Zealand resident, pay, redemption payment, source in New Zealand

ZA 3 Transitional provisions

When reference to this Act includes earlier Act

- (1) A reference in an enactment or document to this Act, or to a provision of it, is to be interpreted as a reference to the Income Tax Act 2004, or the Income Tax Act 1994, or the Income Tax Act 1976, or to the corresponding provision of the earlier Act, to the extent necessary to reflect sensibly the intent of the enactment or document.

When reference to earlier Act includes this Act

- (2) A reference in an enactment or document to the Income Tax Act 2004, or the Income Tax Act 1994, or the Income Tax Act 1976, or to a provision of that earlier Act, is to be interpreted as a reference to this Act, or to the corresponding provision in this Act, to the extent necessary to reflect sensibly the intent of the enactment or document.

Intention of new law

- (3) The provisions of this Act, including any amendments made by this Act to the Tax Administration Act 1994, are the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2004 in rewritten form, and are intended to have the same effect as the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Act 2004. Subsection (5) overrides this subsection.

Using old law as interpretation guide

- (4) Unless a limit in subsection (5) applies, in circumstances where the meaning of a taxation law that comes into force at the commencement of this Act (the new law) is unclear or gives rise to absurdity—
- (a) the wording of a taxation law that is repealed by section ZA 1 and that corresponds to the new law (the old law) must be used to determine the correct meaning of the new law; and
- (b) it can be assumed that a corresponding old law provision exists for each new law provision.

Limits to subsections (3) and (4)

- (5) Subsections (3) and (4) do not apply in the case of—
- (a) a new law listed in schedule 51 (Identified changes in legislation); or
- (b) a new law that is amended after the commencement of this Act, with effect from the date on which the amendment comes into force.

Defined in this Act: taxation law

Compare: 2004 No 35 s YA 3

ZA 4 Saving of binding rulings

When, and extent to which, this section applies

- (1) This section applies when, and to the extent to which,—
- (a) either—
- (i) an applicant has applied for a private ruling, a product ruling, or a status ruling, before the beginning of the 2008–09 income year on an arrangement that is entered into, or that the applicant seriously contemplates will be entered into before the commencement of this Act; or

- (ii) a public ruling is issued before the beginning of the 2008–09 income year; and
- (b) the binding ruling is about—
 - (i) a taxation law that is repealed by section ZA 1 (the old law); or
 - (ii) a taxation law in the Income Tax Act 1994 that preceded and corresponded to the old law; and
- (c) a new taxation law that corresponds to the old law (the new law) comes into force at the commencement of this Act; and
- (d) in the absence of this section, the commencement of this Act would mean that the binding ruling would cease to apply because of section 91G of the Tax Administration Act 1994.

Ruling about new law

- (2) The binding ruling is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the ruling at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

No confirmation rulings

- (3) To the extent to which a binding ruling continued by subsection (2) exists and applies to an arrangement, or to a person and an arrangement, the Commissioner must not make a binding ruling on how—
 - (a) the new law applies to the arrangement or to the person and the arrangement; or
 - (b) this subsection applies to the arrangement or to the person and the arrangement.

Defined in this Act: apply, arrangement, binding ruling, commencement of this Act, Commissioner, taxation law

Compare: 2004 No 35 s YA 4

Section ZA 4 list of defined terms apply: inserted, on 2 June 2016, by section 74 of the Taxation (Transformation: First Phase Simplification and Other Measures) Act 2016 (2016 No 27).

 - (i) section 90 or 90AC of the Tax Administration Act 1994; or
 - (ii) section 64E of the Income Tax Act 1976; and
 - (b) the determination has not been cancelled before the beginning of the 2008–09 income year; and
 - (c) the determination is about—

- (i) a taxation law that is repealed by section ZA 1 (the old law); or
- (ii) a taxation law in the Income Tax Act 1994 or the Income Tax Act 1976 that preceded and corresponded to the old law; and
- (d) a new taxation law that corresponds to the old law (the new law) comes into force at the commencement of this Act; and
- (e) in the absence of this section, the commencement of this Act would mean that that determination would cease to apply because the taxation law to which it applied had ceased to exist.

Determination about new law

- (2) The determination is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the determination at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

No confirmation determinations

- (3) To the extent to which a determination continued by subsection (2) applies, the Commissioner must not make a determination on how the new law applies.

Defined in this Act: commencement of this Act, Commissioner, taxation law

- 2 If a motor vehicle to which this schedule applies is 1 of a number of motor vehicles, each of which is available for private use as described in clause 1, the value of the benefit is determined as follows:
 - (a) if the employee mainly uses the same vehicle, clause 1 applies to that vehicle:

 - (i) included in the cost price of the motor vehicle or in the calculation of the motor vehicle's tax value:
 - (ii) not reduced by an amount of input tax on the supply of the vehicle to the owner or lessor:
 - (b) if, in the period of 2 years before the vehicle's acquisition by the person providing it to the employee, the vehicle is owned by the person or by someone associated with them, the cost price is treated as being the highest one of the cost prices paid for the vehicle by the person or an associate since its manufacture:
 - (c) subject to paragraph (b), the cost price of the vehicle is treated as being equal to the vehicle's market value if,—
 - (i) the cost to the person who acquires the vehicle is zero; or
 - (ii) the cost price is unable to be established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner by the person who acquires the vehicle; or
 - (iii) at the time the vehicle is acquired, the cost price to the person who acquires the vehicle is less than the market value because of an arrangement between that person and an associated person, and that arrangement has the purpose of defeating the intent and application of the FBT rules.

$$5 + (5 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant quarter}):$$
 - (c) the references to 9% in clause 1 are treated as if they were references to a percentage calculated using the formula—

- $9 + (9 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant quarter})$:
- (d) the references to 20% in clause 1 are treated as if they were references to a percentage calculated using the formula—
- $20 + (20 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant tax year or corresponding income year})$:
- (e) the references to 36% in clause 1 are treated as if they were references to a percentage calculated using the formula—
- $36 + (36 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant tax year or corresponding income year})$.
- 11 When a vehicle is leased or rented to the person after it has been leased or rented to another person (the other person), the cost price of a vehicle is its market value at the time it is first leased or rented to the person if—

Schedule 51

Identified changes in legislation

s ZA 3(5)

Provisions in Income Tax Act 2007 or Tax Administration Act 1994 (TAA)	Change
Business-related provisions, listed in the appendix to this schedule	The tax year basis for these provisions is omitted, or changed to an income year basis.
CD 39(9)(b), (c)	A dividend payable to a shareholder by a company when the amount is applied under section CD 39(9)(a) by the shareholder against a loan from the company to the shareholder includes a dividend that is paid without any withholding of an amount of resident withholding tax or non-resident withholding tax.
FA 3(2)	An ambiguity is removed, which ensures that an amount of the dividend is treated as being derived on the sale of the shares to the extent to which it matches any trading loss of the share dealer.
FA 5(6)	The time of association is clarified as being the time at which the associated person acquires the asset.
FA 9(2) and (3)	The time of association is clarified as being the time at which the associated person acquires the asset.
FC 2 to FC 6	The transfer on death to the executor/administrator and the subsequent transfer from the executor/administrator to the estate is treated as one transfer.
GB 1	Section GB 1(3) is clarified to confirm that the amount of the dividend derived is part of the consideration for the shares.
GB 27(2)(c)	The $60,000 threshold is clarified in order to take into account all income that would be attributed under section GB 29.
GB 35(2)(d)	The ambiguity is removed in order to clarify that multiple purposes are referred to.
GB 42(2)(d)	The ambiguity is removed in order to clarify that multiple purposes are referred to.
HC 27(2)	The definition of settlor is clarified so that any transfer to a trust that increases the net assets of the trust is a settlement on the trust and any deductible payments settled on a trust are included in trustee income.

Provisions in Income Tax Act 2007 or Tax Administration Act 1994 (TAA)	Change
HC 34(2)	The date for the payment of tax on a taxable distribution from a non-complying trust is the terminal tax date of the person liable to pay that tax.
IA 4(1)	Carried forward tax losses are used first by a person, before the losses may be grouped or otherwise used.
LA 1 to LA 10	Tax credits (other than personal and family tax credits) are used for the year that corresponds to the income year in which the credits arise.
LC 9(2)	This rule relates to the housekeeper and low income tax credits (formerly termed rebates). The policy of the rule is to apportion income of an absentee between periods of the person's absence and presence in New Zealand. The apportionment set out in the bill is on a daily basis. In the interests of simplification, the bill omits from the 2004 Act corresponding rule, the formula that apportioned the income on a "weeks" basis for persons with "regular pay periods". A change in effect is anticipated, but the omission should result at most in a small difference in outcome in favour of taxpayers. The New Zealand Law Society indicated in their submission on the bill that it would be preferable to list this as an intended change.
MC 6	The reference to veteran's pension is omitted because the in-work tax credit is an incentive to return to work.
RD 36(2)	A dividend payable to a shareholder by a company when the amount is applied under section RD 36(1) by the shareholder against a loan from the company to the shareholder includes a dividend that is paid without any withholding of an amount of resident withholding tax or non-resident withholding tax.
YA 1, definition of land	The provision is simplified and structured so that the first 3 paragraphs of the rewritten definition are to apply generally for the Act. This is consistent with the objectives of plain accessible legislation and is thought highly unlikely to result in any material change in law. However, as this change in drafting could conceivably result in a change in outcome in some circumstances, the change should be identified for readers.
YA 1, definition of mortgage	The definition of mortgage was introduced at a time when mortgages were subject to tax as a subset of land tax. The drafting in the bill provides for an updated and simplified
